To the Members of the Class of 1902:

Ten years have now passed since graduation, and the majority of the members of the Class have settled down to the various occupations which they will pursue. The Secretary, therefore, has asked for more information for this report than for the pamphlets published in 1905 and in 1908. The purpose has been to compile this as simply and comprehensively as possible, eliminating unnecessary expense and duplication. This information has been used practically without change, and where no story appears, none has been received. The details of this work have been done by the Harvard Alumni Association with great care and diligence.

Every effort possible has been made this year to get a reply from every man connected with the Class for whom there was an address, but as usual this has been unsuccessful. Fifty-six men have not replied, although personal letters have been sent in addition to the original blank. Sixteen men are lost. Lists of these men are published in the back of the book and the Secretary announces that he will send them no further announcements until he receives some communication directly from them.

The Secretary wishes to thank a large number of men, both in 1902 and in other classes, who have taken the trouble to write him, giving new addresses and information which were very valuable in tracing many men. He hopes that if any one personally knows a man whose name is printed in the lists in the back of the book he will write to him and urge him to communicate with the Secretary so that in this way we may be kept together.

The Secretary regrets to announce that since the publication of the last report nineteen members of the Class have died, making a total of thirty-nine.

In closing the Secretary desires to reiterate the necessity of keeping him informed of changes of occupation and address, so that his records may be complete and up to date and in that way be of material service at all times to every member of the Class.

Very truly yours,

BARRETT WENDELL, JR.,

May 20, 1912. 44 State Street, Boston, Mass.

At the close of my second year in the Harvard Law School eye trouble, which had been increasing for several years, became so serious that my oculists prescribed an out-of-door life and cessation from reading. I accordingly spent the following year in the south, principally in the Great Smoky Mountains of western North Carolina. I was also for some time in Florida. Later I travelled through the entire south. Early in 1906 I went to southern California, where for several months I lived with Downes '02 on his ranch in the San Gabriel Valley. During the winter of 1907-1908 I was in Hell's Gulch in the Sacramento Mountains. I spent a good deal of time on the Mojave Desert and among the Mojave Indians along the Colorado River. After that I travelled in Arizona, on the Colorado desert and in northern Mexico, where I collected Indian pottery. In the spring of 1908 I was again in southern California. During much of the time I was in the saddle. As my eye trouble had now ceased, I returned east to engage in business. I stopped in northern California, but reached Cambridge just in time for Commencement in 1908. In the following autumn I entered the newspaper field in New York. My first position was with the New York World. In 1909 I became connected with the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. In the summer of 1911 I was elected general manager and secretary of the Daily Newspaper Association, which has its headquarters in New York. I have contributed articles to newspapers and to magazines and have also written for private publications. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "The Free Publicity Evil," Advertising and Selling Magazine; "The Value of Newspaper Advertising," Fourth Estate; "What is the Best Advertising Medium," Publishers' Guide. Member: Harvard Club of North Carolina.

KILBURN ELIE ADAMS

Born	Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 18, 1882.
Parents	Kilburn, Cecelia Amelia (La Pierre) Adams.
School	Cambridge Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902 (1905); S.B., 1903.
Married	Elizabeth Florence Gilbert, Providence, R. I., Oct. 19, 1908.
Children	Kilburn Elie, Jr., Oct. 23, 1909; Gilbert Crocker, Mar. 6, 1911.
Address	(home) 1019 Washington St., Newtonville, Mass. (business) Room 370, South Station, Boston, Mass.

The summer of 1902 I spent at the Harvard Engineering Camp, Squam Lake, N. H. In the fall I returned to the Lawrence Scientific School and completed the work required for the degree of S.B. in Mechanical Engineering. In June, 1903, I received this degree and then took charge of the surveying party engaged in the surveying for and the laying out of the Stadium on Soldiers' Field. On June 29, 1903, I entered the engineering department of the Walworth Manufacturing Company, Boston, Mass., as draughtsman and assistant to the consulting engineer. I devoted a large part of my time to making the working drawings for the piping of the 59th Street Power House of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, New York City. In April, 1904, I resigned and went into the Erecting Department of the George F. Blake Manufacturing Company, Cambridge, Mass., taking up the practical side of building and erecting pumps, engines, compressors, etc. In September, 1904, I was recalled by the Walworth Manufacturing Company to continue my former work, which lasted until the following February, when I became associated as assistant on special work with Mr. E. D. Leavitt of Cambridge, Mass., consulting engineer of the Calumet and Hecla Mining Company and various municipalities. In March, 1905, I received the degree of A.B. (as of 1902) from Harvard College, and on May 1st I was appointed assistant in Mechanical Engineering by the President and Fellows of Harvard College. At the same time I continued my work with Mr. Leavitt, which was completed in June, 1905. On June 29, 1905, I went to the Sayles' Bleacheries, Saylesville, R. I., as industrial engineer, and shortly afterwards resigned my position at Harvard. I continued with this concern until February, 1907. Then I went to Philadelphia as resident engineer for Mr. H. L. Gautt, consulting engineer, and took charge of the reorganization of the Stokes and Smith Company, builders of automatic machinery for making paper boxes, etc. Upon the completion of this work the following October, I returned to Boston and entered the employ of the William Underwood Company, packers of canned goods, as mechanical engineer and assistant manager. In December, 1908, I was elected a junior member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. In September, 1909, I resigned my position with the William Underwood Company, and accepted a position as mechanical engineer with the Boston and Albany Railroad, in charge of mechanical and electrical design and construction, including the building of a new $4,000,000 deep water terminal at East Boston, Mass. I am still with the Boston and Albany Railroad, my headquarters being at the South Station, Boston. Member: The American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Association of Harvard Engineers, Harvard Club of Boston.

I am secretary of the Massachusetts Granite Company. Member: Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States.

EMIL BERNHARDT AHLBORN

Born	Phillips' Beach, Marblehead, Mass., Oct. 6, 1879.
Parents	Henry Christian, Emily (Buffum) Ahlborn.
School	Noble and Greenough's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902 (1903).
Unmarried
Business	Portrait painter.
Address	(home) 258 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.
	(business) 305 Fenway Studio Building, Boston, Mass.

On graduating from college I began immediately to study drawing and painting at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, where I received all my instruction under Messrs. Hale, Benson and Tarbell. In 1904 and 1906 I went to Europe, travelling and copying in the Louvre in Paris and in the Pinacothek in Munich. In 1908 and 1909 I was again in Europe for a year and a half, living most of the time in Paris. I have had pictures in the Paris Salon in 1909, in the Pittsburgh Carnegie Institute in 1911, in the Philadelphia Pennsylvania Academy in 1912, and in smaller exhibitions. From April 22 to May 4, 1912, I gave the first exhibition of my own work at the Copley Gallery, Newbury Street, Boston, Mass. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Musical Association, Copley Society of Boston.

CHARLES EDWARD ALDRICH, JR.

Born	Roxbury, Mass, Sept. 6, 1880.
Parents	Charles Edward, Jeanie (Morton) Aldrich.
School	Roxbury Latin School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Shoe manufacturer.
Address	Care of Thomas & Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

I was graduated in June, 1902. I then travelled abroad, and later entered the business of corporate management, under Stone and Webster. Then I took up the buying end of the bond business, with E. H. Rollins and Sons, Boston. Since 1910 I have been in the shoe manufacturing business. I served on Republican Ward Committee of Ward 21 for three years, until my removal to New York. Member: Harvard Club of Boston.

PHILIP MORTON ALLYN

Born	Watertown, Mass., Aug. 24, 1879.

Children	Earl Thomas, June 23, 1909.
Business	Assistant sales manager.
Address	(home) 1414 St. Charles St., Birmingham, Ala. (business) Woodward Building, Birmingham, Ala.

In the fall of 1902 I went to work for the Grasselli Chemical Company of Cleveland, O. I have been with the same company since then, with the exception of the summer of 1907, which was spent in prospecting in the vicinity of Cobalt, Ont. In the fall of 1907 I came to Birmingham to act in the capacity of assistant sales manager of the Birmingham territory, which includes North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and the northern part of Mississippi. The principal output of the local plant is fertilizer, but we also handle the chemicals manufactured in the northern plants, seventy-five or eighty different articles in all, most of which are used to a greater or less degree in this territory. In addition to our own output, we have a large line of imported chemicals. I am still in Birmingham, where I hope to be for some time to come. Member: Harvard Club of Cleveland, F. O. M.

CHARLES MERRITT AMBROSE

Born	Somerville, Mass, Oct. 21, 1880.

Business	Insurance agent and general contractor.
Address	(home) Kalia Road, Honolulu, T. H.
	(business) Stangenwald Building, Honolulu, T. H.

Upon leaving college in the summer of 1900 I returned to Honolulu, where I took a position in the accounting department of the B. F. Dillingham Company, Limited. I have been connected with that company ever since. In 1907 I was made manager of their insurance department, a position which I now hold. In 1902 I became interested with Walter F. Dillingham in organizing the Hawaiian Dredging Company, Limited, in which up to the present time I have held the offices of secretary and assistant manager. In 1904 I was made a director of the B. F. Dillingham Company, Limited, and in 1908 trustee for the bondholders of the Oahu Railway and Land Company. Member: University Club, Harvard Club of Hawaii, Healani Boat Club, Oahu Country Club, Pacific Tennis Club, Oahu Polo Club.

School	High School, Montclair, N. J.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; Ph.D., 1908.
Married	Amy Wentworth Sawyer, Montclair, N. J., June 6, 1905.
Children	Ann Wentworth, May 16, 1906; Mary Willcox, Dec. 4, 1909.
Business	Assistant professor of English, Columbia University.
Address	(home) 514 West 122d St., New York, N. Y. (business) Department of English, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

After graduation I spent a year in going round the world, in company with R. J. Bulkley, 1902. A brief experience in business convinced me of the desirability of returning to Cambridge, and there, at the time of the Sexennial, in a phrase which has since become classic, I "finished my education." I have been ever since in the Department of English at Columbia. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: The "Faerie Queene" and "Amis and Amilon," Modern Language Notes, June, 1908; Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" in the Light of Some Other Versions, Publications of the Modern Language Association, June, 1910; Bibliographical Sketch of Anglo-Saxon Literature, New York, 1910;

The Degree of Master of Arts, Educational Review, February, 1911; Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" (Tudor Shakespeare), New York, 1911; also sundry contributions to the Nation and the Century Dictionary.

MILTON JACOB BACH

Born	New York, N. Y., Jan. 10, 1882.
Parents	Isaac A., Fannie (Woolf) Bach.
School	College of the City of New York.
Degrees	S.B., 1902; LL.B., (Columbia), 1905.
Married	Kathleen Emma Liebmann, New York, N. Y., Mar. 2, 1911.
Children	Emily Frances, Jan. 22, 1912.
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 1239 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
	(business) 141 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

After graduation I entered the Columbia Law School, receiving the degree of LL.B. in 1905. In January, 1905, I took the New York State bar examinations, and was admitted as a practicing attorney in February of that year. I travelled extensively in Europe during the summer of 1905, and then entered the office of James, Schell and Elkins as a law clerk. After a year I transferred to the office of Wollman and Wollman. In May, 1909, I entered into partnership with Charles A. Riegelman, under the firm name of Riegelman and Bach, with an office at 141 Broadway. In 1909 I was nominated as an Independent Democrat for the Assembly in the 29th Assembly district, but was defeated. Since that time I have kept up an active interest in politics, but have not run for office. Member: Harvard Club, Harmonie Club, Reform Club, New York County Lawyers' Association, National Democratic Club, City Athletic Club.

LEROY MANSON BACKUS

Born	Union Springs, N. Y., Oct. 4, 1879.
Parents	Manson Franklin, Emma Cornelia (Yawger) Backus.
School	Seattle High School.

Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Edith Helen Betzkes, Seattle, Wash., July 26, 1906.
Children	Emma Helen, Mar. 19, 1908; Manson Franklin, 2d, Dec. 12, 1910.
Business	Land development.
Address	(home) 1316 Boren Ave., Seattle, Wash.
	(business) 722 Leary Building, Seattle, Wash.

After a summer outing I entered the Washington National Bank of Seattle. From an humble beginning as messenger boy I advanced quite rapidly from one clerical position to another, until, in 1905, I was elected assistant cashier. As my health became poor, in June, 1906, I was obliged to quit the banking business to seek some less confining work. At first I took up transportation. For a short and profitable season, as president of the Alaska Coast Company, I operated this company's fleet from Seattle to southwestern Alaska. In February, 1908, the Northwestern Contract Company, in which I had a small interest, was awarded the contract for furnishing the United States engineers with stone for the construction of a jetty at the north side of the entrance to Gray's Harbor, Wash. As the work progressed it soon became evident that those who had prepared the bid for this contract had seriously misjudged conditions. In order, therefore, to protect my interest and keep the loss at a minimum, I assumed the management of this business for about two years. In the meantime I was also engaged in acquiring title to lands formerly included in the Wapato Indian reservation on Lake Chelan, Wash. At about the same time that the Northwestern Contract Company's work was completed, I succeeded in obtaining the consent of the Indians to the sale of these lands. I accordingly bought them from the Interior Department for the Lake Chelan Land Company. I am at present engaged, as president of the company, in developing this project, which involves the improvement of approximately 15,000 acres. Our work includes not only irrigation, but planting, care, sub-division and sale of the property, besides the delivery and sale of water to the other lands reached by the company's canal. Member: Harvard Club of Seattle, Rainier Club of Seattle, Seattle Golf and Country Club, Technology Club of Puget Sound.

ALFRED TALBOT BAKER

Born	Newport, R. I., Feb. 9, 1880.

Unmarried
Business	Agent for Lexington automobile.
Address	(home) 1292 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.
	(business) 1020 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

CHARLES HERBERT BAKER

Born	Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14, 1877.
Parents	Charles Flavius, Inez Clarissa (Vanwormer) Baker.
School	Roxbury High School, Boston.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Married	Helen Margaret Goepper, Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 2, 1905.
Business	Engineer.
Address	(home) 12 Spring St., North Adams, Mass.
	(business) Tunnel Power Station, Adams, Mass.
	(permanent) 1645 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

From 1902 to 1905 I was a construction engineer with Westinghouse, Church, Kerr and Company of New York; from 1905 to 1906 power station inspecting engineer with the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company; from 1906 to 1911 assistant chief engineer at the Cos Cob power station of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad; and from 1911 to 1912 chief engineer at the Tunnel power station of the Boston and Maine Railroad. I am at present chief engineer at the Tunnel power station of the Berkshire Street Railroad.

HERBERT SUMNER BAKER

Born	Manchester, N. H., Dec. 25, 1876.
Parents	Edward, Martha Jane (Blenns) Baker.
School	High School, Chelsea, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Alice LaSalle Sanford, New York, N. Y., May 31, 1905.
Children	Jean Sanford, Mar. 31, 1906.
Business	Manufacturing and advertising department, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.
Address	(home) 560 West 180th St., New York, N. Y. (business) 34 Union Square, East, New York, N. Y.

I left college in June, 1901, on a year's leave of absence. I tutored and otherwise played hide-and-seek with United States currency till September, 1902. At that time I "accepted" a "position" with The Reader Magazine, running most of the way from Martha's Vineyard to do so. I remained on that job till the business was transferred to the Bobbs-Merrill Company. I have been in the manufacturing and advertising department of the Bobbs-Merrill Company ever since. It has kept me too busy to do anything "worth while" in the mind of the valedictorian type.

FREDERICK WILLIAM BALL

Born	Newark, N. J., Dec. 25, 1878.

Children	Malcolm, July 12, 1911.
Business	Treasurer, Boston News Bureau Company.
Address	(home) 12 Ware St., Cambridge, Mass. (business) 25 Exchange Place, Boston, Mass.

I have had a varied business experience. It has included several years in the banking house of Kidder, Peabody and Company, Boston, which I entered after graduation; two years in the wholesale coal business with C. H. Sprague and Son, Boston, and the financial newspaper business, my present occupation. I am now treasurer of the Boston News Bureau Company, publishers of the Boston New Bureau. While in college I entered the Massachusetts militia as a private in Battery A, Field Artillery. I served in this organization for seven years, holding the rank of second lieutenant when I resigned. During the first few years after graduation I kept up athletics to a considerable degree, especially rowing. In this I had the pleasure of licking Yale three times in succession, as a member of the Harvard Graduates' crew.

After leaving college, in June, 1901, I went to New York with the publishing house of Doubleday, Page and Company, assisting in the advertising and editorial departments. After somewhat over a year I returned to Boston as manager of the J. W. Barber Advertising Agency, where I have remained for the past ten years, doing general advertising agency work —planning campaigns, writing and placing copy, etc. I was active in track athletics from 1902 to 1906, competing in open meetings for Boston, Cambridge and Newton Y. M. C. A.'s in jumps, hurdles and quarter-mile. I am interested in outdoor life, camping, tramping, etc. I have done some climbing in the White Mountains at all seasons, both with the Appalachian Mountain Club and individually. I entered in B Company, First Corps Cadets, in 1908, and re-enlisted in 1911. I was a charter member of Pilgrim Publicity Association and of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and am active in the work of the former. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Smith"—The Charm of Old Boston. Member: Pilgrim Publicity Association, Appalachian Mountain Club, First Corps Cadets.

Business	Engineer.
Address	(business) Colby St. and Pacific Ave., Everett, Wash.
	(permanent) 147 Milk St., Boston, Mass.

After a year's leave of absence spent in tutoring, I took a degree of S.B. in electrical engineering at the Lawrence Scientific School. I then spent a year as apprentice for Ford, Bacon and Davis in the Little Rock Railway and Electric Company and the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power Company. I decided, however, that I preferred to live in the north. I have since been with Stone and Webster at Abington, Brockton and Pawtucket. I am now in their employ at Everett, Wash., where I am manager of the Everett Railway, Light and Water Company and the Pacific Northwest Traction Company. Although I have held no positions of honor, I expect to be married in May; this might be classified as one of trust. At all events its burdens will prevent my attending the decennial. Member: Oakley Country Club, To Kalon Club, Cascade Club, Everett Golf and Country Club.

On leaving college I spent several years travelling abroad, in Mexico, and in Colorado. I then returned to my home in Memphis and became assistant cashier of the Security Bank of Memphis, which position I held for two years. In 1904 I moved to New York, to become connected with the firm of Dick Brothers and Company. After remaining with them for one year I became associated with the firm of E. F. Hutton and Company, of which firm I am now a member. Member: Rumson Country Club, Harvard Club of New York.

Frank Dickinson Bartlett

Born	Chicago, Ill., Apr. 19, 1880.
Parents	Adolphus Clay, Mary (Pitkin) Bartlett.
School	Chicago Manual Training School; Stone School, Boston.
Degrees	(s. 1898-1899, c. 1899-1900.)
Unmarried
Died	Munich, Bavaria, July 15, 1900.

Frank Dickinson Bartlett completed his sophomore year at Harvard in the summer of 1900, and went abroad to spend the vacation with his brother in Munich. He died in that city July 15, 1900, after an operation for appendicitis. His short life was filled with sunshine. His boyhood companions and his fellow students in college with whom he came in contact were all his warm friends. His genial nature, overflowing spirits and unselfish deeds made him popular among his fellows. He was beloved by men and women who were his seniors in years and was idolized by the members of his own family. He was not only loving and lovable, but was endowed with strength of mind and character, which gave promise of his being of service in the world. His fine physique and his love for athletics seemed to assure a long life. Few young men have, in prospect, more successful careers or lives of greater usefulness. His loss was deeply mourned and his memory will long be cherished by every man and woman, old or young, who knew him.

Wade Carleton Belcher

Born	Randolph, Mass., Oct. 18, 1880.
Parents	Joseph, Annie Maria (Wilde) Belcher.
School	Randolph High School; Thayer Academy, South Braintree, Mass.
Degrees	(s. 1898-1900.)
Unmarried
Died	Randolph, Mass., July 13, 1900.

Wade Carleton Belcher, as a young boy, was apparently strong and rugged. He passed rapidly through the several grades of the public schools and was graduated from the Randolph High School at the age of fifteen with an average scholarship of 96 per cent for the four years. He was the valedictorian of his class and was awarded the Turner gold medal. The following two years he attended Thayer Academy, Braintree, Mass., to complete his preparation for Harvard College, which he entered, as a member of the class of 1902, unconditioned and receiving honors in Latin and Greek. As a young boy he manifested a marked ability for baseball and football in which he was actively engaged throughout his school life. He was captain of the Thayer Academy football team in his senior year. He enjoyed immensely his year and a half at Harvard, his only serious disappointment being when he was dropped from the baseball squad. He developed symptoms of tuberculosis suddenly and without warning during the Christmas holidays in 1899. Everything possible was done for his relief, but without avail. He was in Charlottesville in the spring when the Harvard team played West Virginia and went out to see the game. "How I wish I were playing on the Harvard team" was his remark as the game started. He died at his home in Randolph, Friday morning, July 13, 1900. His funeral was largely attended by classmates from Thayer and from Harvard. He was a member of the Iota Charge, Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

My father was a Methodist clergyman in Pennsylvania. He spared no effort in trying to interest me in making myself amount to something and in doing all the good I could. Once I saw a drunken miner knock down his wife, an incident which burned itself deeply into my boyish mind. A dozen years later I had come to the conclusion that I could do nothing more useful than devote my life to the study of the liquor question; with that in view I entered Harvard. The summer before graduating I worked as a stenographer in the office of the Anti-Saloon League in New York. The national superintendent, Howard H. Russell, tentatively arranged to give me charge of the office work of the state after graduation. One month before Commencement, however, Dr. Russell came to see me at Cambridge and said that when he proposed my name to the controlling board an objection was made on account of my religious views, which, thanks to Semitic 12 under Dr. Lyon, had become decidedly "unorthodox." Commencement afternoon I began to look for a position as a stenographer. In a few days I had secured one with Lawley's, yacht builders, South Boston. Had I been a day slower in leaving Cambridge, a special delivery letter from "Joe" Foster would have resulted in my taking a position in the Portsmouth navy yard. George Low and I had planned to go to Europe on a cattle boat, but as the Pennsylvania coal strike of 1902 affected my father's income, I remained at Lawley's awaiting the end of the strike. This did not come until so late in the fall that my plans to go abroad were spoiled. At the end of 1903 I left Lawley's. I spent six weeks the next spring in Bridgeton, N. J., observing the employment of children in the glass works; meanwhile I was working at a lathe in a gas fixture factory. I next went to Brooklyn where I worked as an agent for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. For ten weeks I was ill with typhoid fever in St. John's Hospital. Afterwards I worked as a stenographer for James Oppenheim, the writer; as cashier for the publishers of the New York Telephone Directory; as teacher in the Twenty-third Street Y. M. C. A. Night School; and as teacher for two years in the department of commerce and economics of the University of Vermont. I substituted for a man who had gone to Harvard to study. After that I taught commercial branches in the high school at West Chester, Pa., one year; in the Springfield Business School, one-half year; in the Technical High School, Springfield, Mass., one-half year; and in the high school at Camden, N. J., one year. This is my second year in North Adams, Mass., in charge of the commercial department. I intend to break into district superintendency work as soon as possible and then get into the town and city superintendency line. When I have the funds I mean to stop teaching and take courses in business and law and then study abroad. There will be no wedding bells for me until I get those plans achieved.

My first year was devoted to dramatic critical work. In my second I turned my attention to banking. After four years' association with a large banking institution in New York, with study of the various branches and departments of the business I became a bank examiner, a field in which I remained for five years, devoting considerable time to the study of accounting and the underwriting of securities of corporations. I then became a salesman of securities for an investment banking house. Six months later I formed a new association with another banking house, devoting my time to the acquisition and the conduct of detail of underwritings. I have devoted considerable time to active politics with the Republican organization of New York, city and state, without, however, holding public office. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Articles on bank examinations and various phases of that subject, and on the effect of reciprocal trade relations with other countries advocating the reciprocal policy of Blaine and McKinley. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Huguenot Society of America, American Society for Promotion of Efficiency, Republican Club of New York.

Robert Sterling Blair

Born	Troy, N. Y., Feb. 27, 1877.
Parents	Albert Lydon, Mary Mellicent (Brown) Blair.
School	Frye's Preparatory School, Boston.

Degrees (c. 1899-1902.)
Unmarried
Business Editor.
Died Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 1. 1911.

Robert Sterling Blair was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Blair of Brooklyn, and was born in 1877 at Troy, N. Y. He died January 1, 1911. Most of his preparatory education was received from his mother, and he also attended Frye's Preparatory School in Boston. He was four years at Harvard, finishing in 1902, and then worked on the Boston Transcript for a year or more. In 1904 he accepted the position of junior editor of the Christian Herald, published in New York, and since that time had resided in Brooklyn. He was highly esteemed by his superiors and associates on the Christian Herald, with which paper he had been successfully connected since 1904. He had made rapid progress in his work, and though young, had already established a reputation as a writer, with every prospect of promotion and literary popularity ahead of him. He had written several magazine articles, and at the time of his death had a novel about three-quarters finished. He was interested in many of the charitable enterprises connected with his paper and was secretary of the children's fresh air home, known as Mont Lawn, at Nyack-on-the-Hudson, and was also a member of the Sons of the American Revolution. He was interested in the history of medieval times and a great student, having read pretty much all that was written on that subject, which information he had at his tongue's end ready for instant use in writing or conversation. He had made a very considerable collection of medieval weapons, to which he was constantly adding. Mr. Blair was a young man of many amiable and attractive traits and characteristics, and his untimely death cut off a career of exceptional promise. He was ill only a short time, first suffering from a cold, complications later developing. His death is a great blow to his parents, his mother being prostrated and unable to accompany the father with the remains to the family home and burial plot in Madison. On his mother's side he was a descendant of Governor William Bradford; on his father's side, of Elder William Brewster, both of Plymouth Colony fame. On his father's side he was also a descendant of John Erskine, Earl of Marr, of Scotland, who lived in the early part of the eighteenth century. Robert Sterling Blair was a member of the Empire State Society.

JOHN AMORY LOWELL BLAKE

Born	Boston, Mass., Oct. 2, 1879.
Parents	George Baty, Sara Putnam (Lowell) Blake.
School	Noble and Greenough's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Helen Choate Prince, Noirmoutier, France, Aug. 8, 1908 (died Apr. 11, 1909); Anne Berkeley Lindsay, York Me., Aug. 7, 1911.
Children	Francis Stanton, 2d, May 11, 1912.
Business	Banker and broker.
Address	(home) 37 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.
	(business) 14 State St., Boston, Mass.

After graduation I entered the Harvard Medical School, but an accident to an eye making constant study impossible, I was forced to give up the study of medicine. In May, 1903, I entered the banking office of Blake Brothers and Company. There I have been ever since, being admitted to the firm in January, 1909. When A. Lawrence Lowell was made president of Harvard University I was asked to assist in reorganizing to some extent the business and accounting system there. This work occupied a good deal of time for a year and a half, but is now less exacting. The chief interests which have occupied me have been the militia, in which I have been almost twelve years. I am now Comptroller of Harvard University, an honorary position in my case, and captain of Troop B, First Squadron Cavalry, M.V.M., a rather exacting office. Member: Somerset Club, Myopia Hunt Club, Tennis and Racquet Club, New England Kennel Club, Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Club of Boston.

EDWARD BRADFORD BLAKELY

Born	New York, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1878.
Parents	Thomas Edward, Jennie (Briggs) Blakely.
School	Berkeley School, New York, N. Y.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1900.)
Married	Amandita Dolores Rivera, St. Louis, Mo.
Business	Mechanical engineer.
Address	(home) 3458 Polk St., Chicago, Ill.
	(business) 925 Homan Ave., Chicago, Ill.
	(permanent) South Casco, Me.

In 1901 I entered the employ of the Woods Motor Vehicle Company of New York, where I was placed in the storage battery department. In 1902 I opened in New York a garage of my own with a branch at Newport, R. I., a business which I lost in 1903 through a dishonest partner. I then spent a year as chauffeur for E. E. Smathers, touring abroad and in this country. On my return I opened a garage at Beverly, Mass., giving this up to become a designer of automobiles for the Haynes Automobile Company, at Kokomo, Ind. In 1907 I became superintendent of the Ardsley Motor Car Company, Yonkers, N. Y., and in 1908 superintendent of the testing departments of the Daimler Manufacturing Company, Steinway, L. I. I also designed and drove a racing car for them at Ormond Beach, Fla., where I won six cups and a speed medal. During 1909 I was inspecting engineer at the Electric Vehicle Company, Hartford, Conn. I next taught physical training for a year at the De Witt Clinton High School, New York, and gave an evening course in gas engine practice at the Y. M. C. A. In 1911 I was field expert and foreman of the repair department for the International Harvester Company of Milwaukee. I am now a consulting engineer on gas engines for Sears, Roebuck and Company, Chicago, Ill.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) Catonsville, Md. (business) U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Building, Baltimore, Md.

I have practiced my profession since leaving the Law School, being associated with J. Kemp Bartlett and L. B. Keene Claggett until January 1, 1910, when the firm of Bartlett, Claggett and Bland was formed. On October 1, 1911, the firm was changed, Mr. Edgar Allan Poe, the attorney general of the state of Maryland, becoming a member. The firm is now known as Bartlett, Poe, Claggett and Bland.

We act as general counsel for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, besides conducting a general practice. I have been treasurer of the Harvard Club of Maryland for the past three years. Member: Baltimore Club, Merchants' Club, Harvard Club of Maryland, Harvard Club of New York, the Pot and Kettle Club.

WILLIAM PARSONS BOARDMAN

Born	Boston, Mass., June 9, 1881.
Parents	William Elbridge, Mary (Bangs) Boardman.
School	Boston Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; M.D., 1905.
Unmarried
Business	Physician.
Address	388 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

After leaving college I attended the Harvard Medical School, receiving the degree of M.D. in 1905. The two following years I spent as interne at the Boston City Hospital. Then for about nine months I studied medicine in Europe, almost wholly in Berlin. I started the practice of medicine in Boston in May, 1908, and have remained there since, still hoping for a bigger, better, busier Boston, in 1915. I have no particular offices of honor and trust to report, but I am connected with the staff of the Boston City Hospital and Carney Hospital, and am an officer in the medical corps of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia.

WALTER MEREDITH BOOTHBY

Born	Boston, Mass., July 28, 1880.
Parents	Alonzo, Maria Adelaide (Stodder) Boothby.
School	Hopkinson's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; M.D., 1906; A.M., 1907.
Married	Grace Forrester Stanley, Boston, Mass., June 11, 1903.
Children	Gertrude, Oct. 28, 1906; Nancy, July 2, 1911.
Business	Physician.
Address	508 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

On receiving my "leave of absence" for the year 1901-1902, I entered the Medical School of Boston University. This I did as my father had been connected with it for many years. His death, however, in February, 1902, left me without much sentiment; technicalities were made much of, and I was refused permission to take the final examinations. This, however, affected my ultimate plans none at all. I entered the Harvard Medical School and in one year made up the three preceding as well as the work of the fourth year, and received my degree of M.D. from Harvard without loss of time. The last summer's vacation in the Medical School I spent in Europe with my wife, largely a pleasure trip. Care was taken that only a just amount of time should be allotted to clinics; the other ideal hours were well spent in learning the intricacies of Maxim's. The year 1906-1907 was occupied with wire-pulling to obtain the degree of A.M. from the Division of Medical Sciences of the Harvard Medical School. The summer of 1907 and early winter of 1907-1908 were spent in a truly studious trip in Europe (this time without my wife, so of course the pleasures of Maxim's were now debarred). On returning I entered the Boston City Hospital as surgical house officer, from which I was graduated in July, 1909. Since then I have been in "private practice," or, in other words, lived as a man of leisure, though I attempt to earn the liberal remuneration yearly given me by the Corporation of Harvard University, by watching first year men attempting to dissect. Although not a heavy smoker, I can by being economical thus pay for the matches used. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Vitrousoxide-Oxygen Anaesthesia, with a description of a new apparatus, read at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Medical Society (Surgical Section), June, 1911, Comm. XXII, 126-138; Ehrenfridt and Boothby's Technic of End to End Arterial Anastomosis, 1911 Annals of Surgery, LIV, 485-496; also several other articles along same lines in various medical journals. Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, Boston Surgical Club, Harvard Club of Boston.

WILLIAM GRAHAM BOWDOIN, JR.

Born	Baltimore, Md., Oct. 4, 1880.
Parents	William Graham, Katharine Gordon (Price) Bowdoin.
School	Deichmann's School, Baltimore, Md.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; LL.B. (Maryland), 1905.
Unmarried
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 1106 West Charles St., Baltimore, Md.
	(business) 701 Maryland Trust Building, Baltimore, Md.

For several months I travelled in Europe. On my return I went into the Baltimore banking house of Alexander Brown and Sons, in which my father was then senior partner. Though I had considered going to the Harvard Law School, I finally concluded for many good reasons that it would be wiser for me to go into the banking business. After my first year, however, I decided that I wanted to know some law, which I thought would be of use to me in the work I had undertaken. In 1903, therefore, I entered the University of Maryland Law School, attending lectures in the afternoon after banking hours, and reading at night. In the fall of 1904 my father died very suddenly. In the spring of 1905 I was given my law degree at the University of Maryland. In January, 1907, I left Alexander Brown and Sons to undertake the practice of law. I am associated with Marburey and Gosnell. I am treasurer and member of the Board of Trustees of the Harriet Lane Home for Invalid Children. I am also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Church Home and Infirmary, and the Boys' School of St. Paul's Parish; I am secretary of the latter. I am on the Board of Directors of the Colonial Trust Company of Baltimore, the Maryland Academy of Music Company and the Maryland Motor Car Insurance Company. For several years I was treasurer of the Harvard Club of Maryland, as well as member of its executive committee. This year I am first vice-president. Member: Maryland Club, Baltimore Club, Merchants' Club, Baltimore Athletic Club, Baltimore Country Club, Elkridge Fox Hunting Club, Green Spring Valley

Hunt Club, Patapsco Hunt Club, Pot and Kettle Club, Bachelors' Cotillion Club, Junior Cotillion Club, University Club of New York, Harvard Club of New York.

Since graduation from the Harvard Law School and admission to the Bar in Suffolk County, Mass., I have been employed in managing and operating coal and timber property in Clay and Nichols Counties, W. Va., and in building the Buffalo Creek and Gauley Railroad.

HERMAN BRANDMILLER, JR.

Born	Youngstown, O., Apr. 6, 1878.
Parents	Herman, Matilda (Renker) Brandmiller.
School	Rayen School, Youngstown, O.

Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1903; LL.B., 1905.
Married	Maude Ethel Miller, Youngstown, O., Apr. 17, 1906.
Children	Herman Miller, July 24, 1907; Barclay, Apr. 22, 1910.
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 34 St. Louis Ave., Youngstown, O. (business) 115 West Federal St., Youngstown, O.

After three years at the Harvard Law School, I returned to reside at my birthplace, Youngstown, O., which I consider one of the best of the smaller cities. Shortly after passing my bar examinations I married. We now have two great little boys. The older one has for some time known that H stands for Herman and Harvard. In the fall of 1909, running on the Democratic ticket, I was elected judge of the criminal court of Youngstown; the city is normally Republican. In the fall of 1911 I entered the Democratic primaries for the nomination of mayor. I was defeated, however. Unless a different form of city government is instituted in Youngstown by election day, 1913, I shall be a candidate for re-election to my present office. I shall run on a non-partisan ticket, since all judicial offices in Ohio are now filled by non-partisan ballot. I have never gone in for clubs, lodges or societies, since they take one away, in the evenings especially, from one's family and home. Member: Mahoning Valley Historical Society, Reuben McMillan Free Public Library Association, Deutsch-Americanischer Stadt-Verband.

CLIFTON HARTWELL BREWER

Born	Fitzwilliam, N. H., June 21, 1876.
Parents	James Nelson, Mary Anna (Hartwell) Brewer.
School	High School, Lynn, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1903; B.D. (Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge), 1904.
Married	Margaret Loper Dorman, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1909.
Business	Minister.
Address	(home) Roslyn, N. Y.
	(permanent) Fitzwilliam, N. H.

After graduation I continued my theological studies in Berlin, Germany, at the Harvard Divinity School, and at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, where I was graduated June 1, 1904. On June 7, I became curate in St. John's Church, Providence, R. I. While in Providence I took a year's post-graduate work at Brown University. In January, 1906, I became associate rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, N. Y., where I continued till I became rector of Trinity Church, Roslyn, N. Y., on June 1, 1909. I still hold this position. Besides positions on committees and in organizations for human betterment, I was president, while in Brooklyn, of the Junior Clergy Association, and for the last four years I have been treasurer of the Clerical League of Long Island. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Club of New Hampshire, Queen's and Nassau Clericus, Clerical League of Long Island.

LAWRENCE GRAHAM BROOKS

Born	Roxbury, Mass., Feb. 21, 1881.
Parents	John Graham, Helen (Lawrence) Brooks.
School	Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1903; LL.B., 1905.
Unmarried
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 8 Francis Ave., Cambridge, Mass.
	(business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

After three years at the Harvard Law School I entered the office of Putnam and Putnam in Boston. The next three years were spent in the law department of the Boston Elevated Railway Company. In October, 1909, I started out by myself in the general practice of law. My social career has been that of the unassuming, impecunious bachelor, pleasant but not too strenuous. My health has been conserved by membership in the Oakley Country Club and the Union Boat Club. Much of the remainder of my time has been spent politically. Following three years' service on the Cambridge School Board I endeavored without success to persuade the voters that I was equally qualified for the Board of Aldermen. For two years I worked in conjunction with others drafting a new charter for Cambridge. Now I am a member of the Massachusetts Roosevelt Committee. Other positions of minor importance are: treasurer of the Cambridge No-License Committee, treasurer of the Social Service Committee, secretary and treasurer of the Highway Safety League, clerk of the Cambridge Social Union. Member: Oakley Country Club, Union Boat Club, Boston City Club.

WALTER DENISON BROOKS

Born	Milton, Mass., Nov. 4, 1877.
Parents	Walter Denison, Florence Evelyn (Ricketson) Brooks.
School	Milton Academy; Hopkinson's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902 (1903).
Married	Florence Smith Cobb, Milton, Mass., June 3, 1911.
Business	Trustee.
Address	(home) 232 Highland St., Milton, Mass. (business) 50 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

In April, 1903, I went into the Old Colony Trust Company and stayed there a year. I then went into the office of Henry D. Bennett, real estate broker. After two years I associated myself with Richardson and Burrage, real estate brokers and trustees, till 1909. In April, 1909, Richardson and Burrage dissolved partnership, and Richardson and I continued till June, 1911. I then retired from the real estate brokerage business and am devoting my time to trusteeships. I am also director in the Elizabeth Peabody House of Boston, and the National Associations of George Junior Republics. I am also doing some work at the South End House. During the last ten years I have travelled in the west, northwest and Alaska, as well as in Panama, parts of the south and Europe. In March, 1911, I was elected to the Board of Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Milton. Member: Norfolk Hunt Club, Hoosick-Whisick Club, Milton Club, Boston Chamber of Commerce.

HOLCOMBE JAMES BROWN

Born	New York, N. Y., Dec. 20, 1879.
Parents	Charles Burroughs, Ella (Wyman) Brown.
School	St. Paul's School, Garden City, N. Y.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1900.)
Married	Marian Russell Prescott, Swampscott, Mass., June 14, 1905.
Children	Marie, Aug. 11, 1906 (died Aug. 21, 1906).
Business	Gypsum manufacturer.
Address	31 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

In 1902 I entered the employ of the United States Gypsum Company, manufacturers of gypsum products; I was a clerk in the operating department. In 1904 I was transferred to the purchasing department. A year later I became superintendent of the company's Grandville, Mich., plant. In 1906 I had charge of the Gypsum, O., plant; in 1907, 1908 and 1909 of the Oakfield, N. Y., plant. In 1910 I returned to the Chicago office as assistant manager of the operating department. In the fall I again went to Oakfield, this time to construct a new mill and take charge of properties. In February, 1912, I resigned from the United States Gypsum Company to assume the management of the Crown Gypsum Company, Limited, in which I am interested as stockholder, officer and director.

PAUL MARCH BROWN

Born	South Boston, Mass., Mar. 1, 1880.
Parents	Henry Mirick, Sophia Ann (Whitbread) Brown.
School	High School, Natick, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Frances May Blumer Dunton, Natick, Mass., Mar. 22, 1910.
Business	Musician and teacher.
Address	(home) 213 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.
	(business) Boston Opera House, Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.

The years immediately after receiving my degree I spent in getting more thoroughly grounded and established in the profession of music. After study and experience I was able to give up all other business for positions as violoncellist in the Boston Festival Orchestra, Emil Mollenhauer, conductor, and in the Bostonia Sextette Club. With the latter organization I was 'cello soloist, a position from which I resigned last year in order to accept the position as 'cellist for the Boston Municipal Orchestra. This year I became a member of the Boston Opera Company Orchestra, an invitation I accepted with great pleasure. The Opera Company Orchestra and occasional recitals with my wife now occupy my entire time. For four summer seasons I was resident manager of the orchestra at Maplewood Hotel in the White Mountains. In the future, however, I intend to devote my entire vacations to further work and study. Member: The Harvard Musical Association, Masonic degrees from Meridian Lodge, A. F. and A.M., Natick, Mass., Parker Royal Arch Chapter, Natick, Mass., Orient Council, Somerville, Mass., Natick Commandery No. 33, Knights Templar, Natick, Mass., Aleppo Temple, A. A. O. N. M. In September, 1905, I began practicing law in New Bedford, where I am now a member of the firm of Cook, Brownell and Taber. Since May, 1906, I have lived in Fairhaven, Mass., where for three years I have been a selectman and overseer of the poor. In New Bedford I have served since October, 1907, as secretary of the Union for Good Works, a charitable organization. In Fairhaven I am a trustee of the Millicent Library and a director of the Fairhaven Water Company. Member: Wamsutta Club of New Bedford, New Bedford Country Club, Leighton Club of Fairhaven.

HAROLD MILTON BRUCE

Born	Satara, British India, July 18, 1877.
Parents	Henry James, Hepsibeth Persis (Goodenow) Bruce.
School	Worcester Academy, Worcester, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1906.
Married	Elizabeth St. John Taylor, Chestnut Hill, Mass., Aug. 22, 1905.
Children	Malcolm, Sept. 4, 1906.
Address	429 Court St., North Plymouth, Mass.

After graduating from college I entered the Harvard Medical School. After my marriage in 1905 I moved from Cambridge to Brookline, where upon my graduation in 1906, I started practice, meanwhile keeping on with hospital work in Boston. During the years 1906 to 1910, besides taking care of my own practice and that of other doctors, I was busy at the out-patient departments of the Massachusetts General Hospital, the Boston City Hospital, the Boston Dispensary and the Children's Hospital. I also took several graduate courses in the Harvard Medical School. In 1907 I was appointed visiting physician in dermatology to the Mt. Sinai Hospital, Boston. In 1907 and 1908 I was engaged in research work for Dr. Richard C. Cabot. During 1908 and 1909 I took care of the practices of several doctors in and around Boston. The following year I had a chance to take the practice of a Plymouth doctor who had died. I accordingly moved down here, where I have since been engaged exclusively in the practice of medicine and surgery. As Boston, however, is very near by train or auto, I go in quite often to see old patients in Brookline and to take in the Symphony and the opera. I still play the piano and violin, which I enjoy as much as ever, for music is an ideal avocation. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "The Estimation of the Functional Power of the Cardio-Vascular Apparatus," R. C. Cabot and H. M. Bruce, American Journal Medical Sciences, October, 1907; "Value of the Injection of Bacterial Vaccines," "Serum Treatment of Meningitis," etc., Boston Transcript, 1907-1908. Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, Plymouth Medical Society, Boston Medical Society, Brookline Medical Society.

ROSCOE CONKLING BRUCE

Born	Washington, D. C., Apr. 21, 1879.
Parents	Blanch Kelso, Josephine Bealle (Wilson) Bruce.
School	Phillips Exeter Academy.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Clara Washington Burrill, Washington, D. C., June 3, 1903.
Children	Clara Josephine, Mar. 21, 1904; Roscoe Conkling, Jr., May 10, 1906; Burrill Kelso, 2d, Sept. 19, 1909.
Business	Assistant superintendent of schools.
Address	(home) 1327 Columbia Road, Washington, D. C.
	(business) Franklin School, 13th and K Sts., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Upon graduation I entered upon a career in educational administration and supervision as director of the academic department of the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute. In September, 1906, I became supervising principal of the Sixteenth Division of the public schools of Washington, D. C. Since September, 1907, as assistant superintendent of public schools. I have been in charge of 600 teachers and 16,000 pupils. I have given much time to securing adequate provision for the industrial training of colored youth under the auspices of the public schools. The first vocational school in the history of the colored schools of the District of Columbia was opened in the fall of 1911; the second one will probably be ready for occupancy in the fall of 1912. Business	Lawyer.

Address	(home) 7 Crescent St., Lynn, Mass.
	(business) 38 Exchange St., Lynn, Mass.

Since graduating from the Law School in 1904, I have practiced law at Lynn, Mass. From 1902 to 1909 I was a teacher in the Lynn Evening School. In 1907-1908 and 1908-1909 I also served as principal of the elementary school. In February, 1906, I enlisted in Company I, M.V.M., in which I became corporal and later sergeant. I was honorably discharged in February, 1911. Member: Masons, Odd Fellows, Harvard Club of Lynn.

THEOPHILUS NASH BUCKINGHAM

Born	Memphis, Tenn., May 31, 1880.
Parents	Miles Sherman, Annie Gifford (Nash) Buckingham.
School	Memphis University School.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1901.)
Married	Irma Lee Jones, Memphis, Tenn., June 1, 1910.
Business	Insurance broker.
Address	(home) 1134 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn.
	(business) 1 South Main St., Memphis, Tenn.

I left Harvard in the spring of 1901 through illness. In the fall I entered the University of Tennessee Law School, Knoxville, Tenn., where I remained until 1903. I then returned to my home in Memphis, to enter the insurance business, which has been my principal occupation. I also wrote sporting news and miscellaneous stuff for the papers, with an occasional contribution to a magazine. I did considerable travelling, went big game shooting every fall and remained a bachelor, leading the life of the average normal Harvard man who thinks he ought to be besieged with $15,000 offers and never gets any. Barring a fraternity convention in 1904 I have very rarely seen any of my classmates. Once in a while I read of the achievements and successes of some of the fellows I remembered. In 1907 I revisited Harvard on my way from a shooting trip in New Brunswick. Member: Chickasaw Guards Club, Memphis Country Club, Beaver Dam Club, Memphis Gun Club, The Nine of Clubs, University Club.

	(business) 1022 Garfield Building, Cleveland, O.; House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Immediately after graduation I made a trip around the world with Harry M. Ayres '02. We visited the Hawaiian Islands, Japan, China, the Philippine Islands, Burma, India, Ceylon, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Russia, Roumania, Servia, Austro-Hungary, Germany, France and England. In the autumn of 1903 I returned to Cambridge, where I studied for two years in the Harvard Law School. In the summer of 1905 I entered the law office of Henderson, Quail and Siddall, Cleveland. In June, 1906, I was admitted to the Ohio Bar. In May, 1907, I went abroad for the American Multigraph Company and the International Multigraph Company to look after patent matters in England, France, Germany and Belgium, and to report on prospects for business in those countries. In the fall I returned to the same law office. I spent the spring and part of the summer of 1908 in Portland, Ore., assisting in the reorganization of an irrigation company. I went to Japan and the Philippines on my wedding trip. On September 1, 1909, I formed a law partnership with Richard Inglis '03, under the firm name of Bulkley and Inglis. At the Democratic primary on May 17, 1910, I was nominated for Congress in the twenty-first Ohio district. On November 8, 1910, I was elected to the Sixty-Second Congress: I was sworn in April 4, 1911. I am a member of the committees on banking and currency, patents and expenditures in the War Department. I am now a candidate for renomination and for election as delegate to the Democratic national convention. Member: Union Club of Cleveland, Tavern Club of Cleveland, Country Club of Cleveland, Hermit Club of Cleveland, University Club of Cleveland, Montana Club of Helena.

Business	Insurance agent and yacht broker.
Address	(home) 1661 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass.
	(business) 15 Exchange St., Boston, Mass.

During my last half year, as I had finished all but three courses, I was in the yacht brokerage and insurance business. Every summer I have devoted myself to yachting. I have owned about thirty boats, notably the Sintram, 1906 champion of the Corinthian and Boston Yacht Clubs; the Dorothy Q., a noted twenty-five-foot racing sloop, in which I sailed to the Jamestown Exposition; the Virginia, an unbeaten champion of 1910; and the Marie L., winner of scores of prizes, including the famous Bermuda-City of Boston trophy. I have cruised all along the Atlantic coast. My love of yachting is inherited. My uncle, Edward Burgess, designed the three victorious America defenders, the Volunteer, the Puritan and the Mayflower. In the summer I live in Marblehead. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "A Thousand Miles in the Dorothy Q.," "Bermuda," "From Bristol to Marblehead," "The Inter-Club Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts," "Yachts and Yachting." Member: Boston Yacht Club, Corinthian Yacht Club, Quincy Yacht Club, Mosquito Yacht Club, Inter-Club Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts, Marblehead Historical Society.

Address	(home) Barberry House, Windsor, Vt.
	(business) Care of Small, Maynard and Company, Boston, Mass.
	(permanent) Care of The Players, 16 Gramercy Park, New York, N. Y.

In October, 1902, I joined the staff of McClure's Magazine. The next year, besides travelling as Mr. S. S. McClure's secretary, I became assistant editor of the magazine and literary adviser to McClure, Phillips and Company, book publishers. In 1906 I was offered the managing editorship of McClure's, but as I realized that my occupation was inclining rather to business than to literature, I decided to resign in favor of life in Cornish, N. H., where I could have an opportunity for my own writing. I had been publishing verse in various magazines. I now had time for a sustained poem, which I wrote mainly in Cambridge, a transcript of the experiences of a graduate revisiting Harvard after four years' absence. "An Ode to Harvard and Other Poems" appeared in 1907, whereupon I became, as I have remained ever since, literary adviser to its publishers, Small, Maynard and Company. Through 1908-1909 Miss Hilda Spong played my one-act melodrama "Kit," after which I worked for three years on "His Father's House," which is presumably to be produced this spring. In 1911 I was asked by the Harvard chapter of Phi Beta Kappa to write and deliver its annual poem; the result, "An Immigrant," is to be the main poem in my next volume. During the past two years I have been greatly interested in equal suffrage and the single tax. I have spoken at various places on the former subject, have organized several suffrage clubs, notably the Cornish and Dartmouth Leagues, and have become chairman of the New Hampshire Men's League for Equal Suffrage. I am honorary vice-president of the Harvard Men's League, New Hampshire representative on the executive committee of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association, and one of the New Hampshire members of the council of the National Economic League. I have served also on the executive committee of the Poetry Society of America. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "An Ode to Harvard and Other Poems," "An Immigrant," and other poems; two plays, "Kit," "His Father's House." Member: Players' Club of New York, Harvard Club of New York, Poetry Society of America, Authors' Club of London.

Address (home) 3620 Washington Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
(business) 3600 North Second St., St. Louis, Mo.
(permanent) University Club, St. Louis, Mo.

For two years I remained in the Graduate School, studying chemistry and doing research work under Professor Jackson. After taking my Ph.D. degree in 1904, I got a position as chemist at the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works, St. Louis. In a few weeks, however, as I contracted typhoid fever, I returned to Boston. After my recovery I took a sea voyage on a large sailing ship, then resumed my position in St. Louis, where I have been ever since. I have worked on all kinds of chemical problems connected with the manufacture of medicinal chemicals such as the Mallinckrodt works make. I am now in charge of a department for manufacturing and experimenting. During my vacations I have travelled a good deal, my trips taking me into every state, as well as into Canada and Mexico. I attended our Triennial and our Sexennial. In 1908 I went through the southwest, into Mexico, and then to California, returning by a more northern route. On the train I happened to meet Mac Thurlow, 1904, so we stopped off at Salt Lake City to bathe in the buoyant waters of Great Salt Lake. After a few days in Colorado I returned to St. Louis. In 1909 I visited the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle, spending some time in the Canadian Rockies during my return trip. The last two summers I have spent my vacations in Houston and Galveston, visiting my brother, L. F. Carlton, 1904. Last summer I received a visit from A. E. Wallace, Jr. I see a lot of Harvard men in St. Louis, where we have great times at the Harvard Club meetings. I lived for a year with Clem Meier, 1905, who knows about every one who ever went to Harvard. At present I am living with Dutro Plumb, 1908, and Alvin Fargo (Yale) 1906. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Papers with Professor C. L. Jackson on "Tetra chlor-dinitro-benzol," Berichte der Deutsche Chemische Gesellschaft; "Tetra-chlor-dinitro-benzol," American Chemical Journal; "Tetra-brom-ortho-benzoquinone," American Chemical Journal; Papers with Dr. L. W. Andrews on "The Density Curves of Mixtures of Bromine and Chlorine," Journal of American Chemical Society. Member: University Club of St. Louis, Harvard Club of St. Louis, Harvard Alumni Chemists' Association.

In the fall of 1902 I became a clerk with W. W. Markham and Company, general insurance agents. I was with them until March 1, 1910, when I was solicitor and manager of their surplus line department. In March, 1910, I became secretary and treasurer of the Unit Construction Company, a corporation acting as engineers and contractors for reinforced concrete structures. Member: Harvard Club of New York, University Club of St. Louis, Noonday Club of St. Louis, City Club of St. Louis, St. Louis Country Club.

HOWARD HASTINGS CARROLL

Born	West Newton, Mass., June 19, 1877.
Parents	Arthur, Emma Louis (Pratt) Carroll.
School	High School, Newton, Mass.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Married	Mabel Electa Huse, Duxbury, Mass., Aug. 6, 1907.
Business	Teacher.
Address	(home) 66 Wyman St., West Medford, Mass.
	(business) Tufts College, Tufts College, Mass.

From 1902 to 1903 I taught mechanical drawing in Harvard, where I believe I worked hard enough to earn my salary. In 1903-1904 I taught in the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, O. Here I almost froze in a steam heated (?) dormitory, belonging to our neighbor, Adelbert College. The following year I spent as a tutor in Thomasville, Ga., thawing out. I then taught mechanical drawing in the Central High School, Springfield, Mass. In 1906-1907 I attended the Sloyd Training School, Boston. I had previously grown a beard, which so impressed the class that they elected me president. I suppose that was a "position of honor." For the two years which followed I was supervisor of manual training at Concord, N. H. Here I must have been fairly lucky, for the boys did not put me in the wood box and sit on the cover, as they did with my predecessor. In 1909-1910 I again taught Engineering 3*a* at Harvard. Since then I have been instructor in technical drawing at Tufts College, where I am having the time of my life. Member: Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, Association of Harvard Engineers.

In the autumn of 1905, after graduating from college and from the Law School, I was admitted to the Maryland bar. I commenced the practice of law in Baltimore in the office of Brown, Marshall, Brune and Thomas, where I remained until the spring of 1907. I then came to New York, where I entered the office of Cary and Robinson; in the spring of 1910 I became a member of that firm. Upon the dissolution of Cary and Robinson at the end of that year, I became a member of the present firm of Cary and Carroll. I have since been actively engaged in the practice of law in New York. Member: Knickerbocker Club, Racquet and Tennis Club of New York, Harvard Club of New York, Maryland Club.

Business	Physician.
Address	(home) 10 Willow Place, Arlington, Mass.
	(business) 18 Pleasant St., Arlington, Mass.

During most of my four years in the Medical School I lived in Cambridge. Upon looking about for a place in which to begin the practice of medicine, I chose Arlington, Mass., where I have been ever since. My "offices of honor or trust" have not made a very imposing array. I was for two years town physician for Arlington. I am at present bacteriologist and junior visiting physician to the Arlington Hospital. I also have the position of medical examiner for the Prudential Insurance Company, the John Hancock Insurance Company and the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, N. J. Here endeth the catalogue. The rest is simply the usual story of a country practitioner of medicine. Member: Mystic Valley Harvard Club, Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Association, New England Pediatric Society.

Children	René, Sept. 21, 1909.
Business	Artist.
Address	(home) Croydon Road, Newport, N. H.
	(business) 192 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

After leaving college I took a trip around the world, stopping to hunt in Alaska. I visited Japan, China, the Philippines, the Malay States, Ceylon, India, Burma, and Egypt. I had intended to become a portrait painter, but on seeing India I became so enthusiastic about that country that I decided to make it the subject of future paintings. On returning I studied four years at the Art Students' League in New York, taking another trip to India in the fall and winter of 1908-1909. In the spring of 1909 I travelled through Manchuria, visiting the scenes of the Russo-Japanese war; I returned by way of Siberia and Russia. In the fall of 1912, after three years more of study, I shall return to India for six months, after which I expect to begin exhibiting. Later on I hope to include Mexico and old Japan as subjects for paintings. I am a great admirer of the Russian painter Verestchagin. My favorite recreation is big game hunting. I have shot grizzly bears in Alaska, moose and deer in New Brunswick, caribou and black bear in Newfoundland, besides elk, deer, and wild boar on a private game preserve. I have hunted tigers in China, but without success. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Hunting the Alaskan Grizzly," Forest and Stream, May, 1908. Member: Harvard Club of New York, New York Athletic Club, Union Club, University Club of New York, Rumson Country Club, Société Astronomique de France.

I practiced law in association with H. E. Bolles of Boston until his death in 1910. Since then I have been with Randolph Frothingham under the firm name of Channing and Frothingham. In 1912 I was elected to the board of the Trustees of Public Reservations. Member: Bar Association of the City of Boston, Massachusetts Bar Association, American Bar Association.

LAURENCE DUDLEY CHAPIN

Born	Springfield, Mass., Nov. 19, 1880.
Parents	Frederick Wilcox, Caroline Minna (Cole) Chapin.
School	High School, Springfield, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; M.D., 1906.
Unmarried
Business	Physician.
Address	20 Maple St., Springfield, Mass.

In June, 1906, I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School. That summer I became senior house officer at the Boston Floating Hospital. From February, 1907, to April, 1908, I was medical interne at the Massachusetts General Hospital. In the following June, after having travelled in Europe, I began to practice medicine in Springfield, Mass. In February, 1909, I was appointed assistant physician to the Springfield Hospital. In January, 1910, I was elected assistant medical director of the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company of Springfield. A year later I was chosen visiting physician to the Springfield Homes for Friendless Women and Children. JULIAN DWIGHT CHASE

Born	Dedham, Mass., Dec. 1, 1881.
Parents	John Winslow, Harriet Elizabeth (Weeman) Chase.
School	Hale's Private School, Boston.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Married	Alice Louise Wight, Boston, Mass., June 3, 1903.

Children	Julian Dwight, Jr., May 2, 1905; Dorothea, June 7, 1907.
Business	Sales engineer.
Address	(business) 759 Monadnock Building, San Francisco, Cal.
	(permanent) 20 Church St., Dedham, Mass.

I went directly into the employ of the B. F. Sturtevant Company, Hyde Park, Mass., where I worked in the shop, construction, inspection, designing and sales departments, with the idea of becoming fully equipped with a knowledge of the manufacturing business. For the last three years I have been connected with their Boston office as sales engineer. I am just leaving to accept a similar position in their San Francisco office. My home address will probably be either Oakland or Berkeley, Cal. Socially I have been particularly interested in Masonic bodies; I have held offices up to guard in the Commandery, principal sojourner in the chapter and principal conductor of the work in the council. For three years I was with the heavy artillery. Member: Mystic Shrine, R. and S. M., A. F. and A. M., Dedham Boat Club.

WILLIAM FRANCIS CHASE

Born	Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 26, 1879.

Business	Bond salesman.
Address	(home) 3¼ Temple St., West Newton, Mass.
	(business) 35 Congress St., Boston, Mass.

Before starting in on my life work I took a short trip abroad to make sure there was no better place to settle in than Boston. Having satisfied myself on this point I accepted the exalted position of messenger in the National Bank of Redemption, a position which I held long enough to draw two months pay. An opportunity to go with R. L. Day and Company presented itself about this time. As the line of work and the possibilities for the future appealed to me, I made the change. For the last seven years I have been particularly interested in the bond end of the business. My territory as a salesman has taken me into Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York, as well as through Massachusetts, so that I have been able to keep in fairly close touch with a good many of the 1902 men. As far as I can learn, not only has no one brought disgrace upon us, but a great many are bringing high honor. Outside of my business and home activities, I still maintain a keen interest in athletic sports of all kinds.

Address	490 Trumbull Ave., Detroit, Mich.

I was a student in the Lawrence Scientific School in 1896 1897 and in Harvard College from 1898-1899. After leaving I went to Europe for a tour through England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, Germany and Holland. On returning and entering the Law School, I again started my "Harvard Laundry" among the students; the profits were nearly $50 per week. At Christmas I sold out to enter the senior class at Albion, Mich., where I was graduated in the spring of 1900. The winter of 1901-1902 was spent in the Smoky Mountains of North Carolina in order to regain my health, which had been broken apparently by overwork while in the east. Ultimately I came to Detroit, Mich., where I entered the real estate business, in which I am still engaged.

In 1900, owing to financial reverses at home, I was unable to return to college. In the fall I accordingly entered the shops of the Chicago Telephone Company. In this work I rose steadily through the different departments, shop, construction, underground and aerial and commercial. In 1904, while assistant to the superintendent of private exchanges, I left to enter the railway supply business with the Buda Foundry and Manufacturing Company. I was with this concern until 1905, when I accepted a position as manager of the Chicago Telephone Company, Evanston, Ill. I was manager from 1905 to 1911, when I was made district manager. On February 1, 1912, I was transferred to the office of the general commercial superintendent at the headquarters and general offices of the company at Chicago. I have served as director of the Evanston Commercial Association. Member: Harvard Club of Chicago, Evanston Country Club, Glenview Golf Club.

Joseph Henry Converse, 2d

Born	Boston, Mass., Sept. 15, 1878.
Parents	Charles Henry, Martha Elizabeth (Dean) Converse.
School	Boston English High School; Hale School, Boston.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Physician.
Died	Boston, Mass., Jan. 21, 1905.

Joseph Henry Converse, 2d, was born in Boston, Mass., September 15, 1878; died in Boston City Hospital while substituting in the Nerve and Brain Department, January 21, 1905. His father was Charles Henry Converse; his mother Martha Elizabeth (Dean) Converse. He prepared in the city schools through Boston English High, and finished with a year in Hale Preparatory School, Boston, Mass. (which is now non-existent). Converse entered the Lawrence Scientific School in 1898, taking the course laid out for students intending to finish in the Harvard Medical School. Three years of this regular work placed him in the Medical School. Through a combination of children's diseases in the third year of his life, Converse was a very delicate little boy. Spending much time out of doors gave him a fondness for sports and was a great aid in giving him back health. Although never robust, he had developed great powers of endurance. From friendly running and jumping contests with his chums in the lower school grades, he soon passed to the real contests in the interscholastic games, where many cups and trophies prove his success, besides one heavy gold medal. He continued his successes in the Harvard track athletics as a high and low hurdler and was on the relay team one year for the indoor meet. Because of his athletic successes and general kind heartedness he became quite widely known and was a real favorite. He scored points for Harvard in most of the games of '98, '99, '01, '02 of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association and the Harvard-Yale contests. At the International meet between Harvard and Yale Universities for the United States, and Oxford and Cambridge Universities, England, held in New York City, at Berkeley Oval, September 25, 1901, Converse won the high hurdles by a close contest, beating Gainer, the Oxford man, by only a few inches. But he scored points for his Alma Mater, won much honor for her and kept the college championship in the United States. His last contest was the 120-yards high hurdle race of the Harvard-Yale University Track Athletic Association held in New York, May, 1902. His Harvard trophies number five heavy gold medals, four silver and three bronze, besides a number of cups and plaques. All through athletics he did not neglect his studies and was an enthusiastic worker in his chosen pursuits. He was elected to the Pi Eta Society in May, 1899; to the Boylston Medical Society on October 23, 1903. During the last two years of Converse's medical course he had frequent opportunities for supplying at the hospitals for a week, ten days or a fortnight. He thus became generally known and always a favorite at the Massachusetts General, Boston City Hospital, Children's, Women's Free and Maternity Hospitals. He had supplied in many capacities; accident ward, out-patient, scarlet fever, diphtheria being some. On Friday, January 11, 1905, while substituting for an official (who was ill) in the brain and nerve department of the Boston City Hospital, it fell to his lot to assist in the care of a Portuguese patient who entered the hospital suffering with cerebro-spinal menengitis.. Converse was present at a lumbar puncture and carried the serum away in a test tube to make what is called a blood count. Although extreme care was taken against infection he came down with the fearful disease on Friday, January 20, and died in less than twenty-four hours, on January 21, 1905. The Boston Medical and Surgical Journal of January 26, 1905, noted: "promising life destroyed." Not until his death did his family realize what a favorite he had been, how many lives he had influenced for good and how widely he was mourned. The Harvard Athletic Association notes that Joseph H. Converse competed, while at Harvard, in the 120-yards hurdle race and 220-yards hurdle race. In three years' competition in the dual games with Yale he won 17 points, in the Intercollegiate he won 16 points. His record shows also that he won first in the 120-yards hurdle race in the International games between Oxford and Cambridge on the one side, and Harvard and Yale on the other.

Degrees	A.B., 1902; S.T.B., 1905.
Unmarried
Business	Minister.
Address	Humacao, P. R.

After graduation I studied until June, 1905, in the Harvard Divinity School. In August, 1906, I was ordained to the Congregational ministry. From that time till September, 1908, I was pastor of the Congregational Church of Mason,

N. H. My resignation from that pastorate was due to a nervous breakdown, which compelled me to rest until the summer of 1910. I then took charge of the Union Church of Ridgefield Park, N. J., during the illness of its pastor. In September, 1910, I entered the Union Theological Seminary as a graduate student, at the same time carrying on my work in the New Jersey church. In March, 1911, I learned that one Congregational missionary in Porto Rico had just died and that the only remaining one had resigned. On account of the great need here I offered my services to the American Missionary Association. On May 20, 1911, as soon as I could complete my year's work at the Seminary, pack my goods and say good-by to the folks at home, I sailed from New York for the beautiful island of Porto Rico. Here I am preaching in Spanish and supervising the work of several native preachers. Under my care are five organized churches and about ten out-stations. To any one who wishes to inquire more about my work here, I will write personally, giving more complete details. Member: Free and Accepted Masons, Order of the Eastern Star, Patrons of Husbandry, Chamberlain Association of America, Sons of Veterans.

Died	New Bedford, Mass., Mar. 9, 1902.

Charles Winslow Coxen left Harvard on account of hemorrhages November 13, 1900, and went to Boulder, Colo., December 26, 1900. Arriving there January 1, 1901, he went into the Boulder Sanitarium for treatment for tubercular trouble, where he remained until April of the same year. Then he tried tent life until the State University opened the same year. There he tried to continue his studies, but was obliged to leave. Slowly failing in health, he returned home the first of March, 1902. He passed on to rest the ninth of the same month. While in Boulder he joined the Congregational Church and entered into its work with the pastor. He helped in the work among miners in the mining camps in that locality and in the missionary department of the church life. He was a member of the Harvard Y. M. C. A., Young People's Alliance of Shepherd Memorial Church, Student Volunteers of Medical Missions.

Business	Minister.
Address	(home) Morning Face, Richmond, Mass.
	(business) 79 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

After my marriage I went abroad for the rest of the summer. In the fall I entered the Divinity School, where I studied two years for the degree of S.T.B. The summer of 1904 I spent in Göttingen studying theology and languages. That fall I entered the University of Berlin for two semesters' work in the theological and philological departments. At the Royal Library I transcribed a Syriac manuscript containing an early Christian legend, on which I later founded my Doctor's thesis. The degree of Ph.D. I received, after another year of study at Harvard, in June, 1906. That autumn I spent a few weeks at the University of Grenoble in southern France. In November I sailed for Beirut, Syria, where at the Syrian Protestant College I studied Arabic; I made a number of interesting trips to Damascus, Sidon, and the Lebanon. Part of the winter I worked with Professor Lyon at the American School of Archaeology in Jerusalem, travelling with him and other members of the school into the less frequented regions of Palestine. On the way back to America we spent a few days in Cairo and several weeks in Switzerland. On November 15, 1907, I was ordained minister of the Congregational Church in Richmond, Mass., where I am still engaged in a work which grows more interesting all the time. A welcome at Morning Face awaits all 1902 men. Member: Harvard Club of New York.

Address	(home) Crown King, Ariz.
	(permanent) Room 324, 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

In June, 1902, I went to work in Utah for the United States Mining and Smelting Company. I was first at their smelter, then their mines. In 1904 I left to go to Arizona, where I joined two iron explorers and operators in a partnership to look for and operate mines. While I have had charge of the operation of our properties, a great deal of my work has been scouting, as well as examining and investigating them. Last year I worked in blocking off and investigating coal lands in Illinois. At present I am engaged in the exploration and development of mining property in Arizona, Minnesota, the Nesabi iron range and in the south. Since leaving college I have lived mainly in the west, having travelled considerably through the mining districts of the United States, Mexico, and Canada. Besides enjoying the work I have been paid satisfactorily financially and otherwise. During my stay in Arizona I have been interested in the political welfare of the territory and new state. Member: Harvard Club of Arizona, Yavapai Club of Prescott, Ariz., Harvard Engineering Society.

During the year following my graduation in 1901, I studied at the Harvard Law School. I then entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which I was graduated in 1905. I spent the following summer in Europe, after which I entered the employ of Manning, Maxwell and Moore, with whom I remained for five years, becoming mechanical engineer of their four engineering supply factories.

In March, 1910, I left them to enter the development department of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours Powder Company, Wilmington, Del. In the following November I was put in charge of the mechanical division of its experiment station. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Paper on "Safety Valve Capacity," before the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Member: American Society of Mechanical Engineers, University Club of Bridgeport, Technology Club of New York.

ALLEN HARRY DAUGHERTY

Born	Lebanon, Pa., Sept. 4, 1875.
Parents	Harry Iba, Esther Elizabeth (Schott) Daugherty.
School	High School, Lebanon, Pa.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1899.)
Married	July, 1902 (separated from wife, June, 1908).
Business	Music teacher.
Address	(home) "Twin Oaks," Holderness, N. H.
	(business) 218 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

Outside of my annual work in my studio, pianoforte teaching, composition and occasional playing in concerts, I have few interests. The one that concerns me most begins after my school season closes in June, when I turn to my home on the shores of Squam Lake, N. H., where I am planting a fruit orchard in which I take much pride. Since my year as a special student I have profited very much by taking in 1908-1909 two courses in philosophy under Professors Palmer and Royce; they were given evenings under the auspices of the Lowell Institute. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Compositions for the pianoforte. Member: Appalachian Mountain Club.

In the fall of 1902 I entered the Northwestern Law School in Chicago, where I studied for two years. During vacation I made up my mind to go into business with my father. Ever since then I have been with him in the Standard Brewery. In 1906 I was made secretary of the corporation, a position which I hold today. Outside of business I have devoted some time to the Harvard Club of Chicago, for which I have served for two years on the scholarship committee. For two years I have been on the ways and means committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. I have travelled extensively in this country and in Europe. I took an active interest in the Alliance Française, serving twice on the propaganda committee. Member: Harvard Club of Chicago, University Club of Chicago, Chicago Athletic Association, Edgewater Golf Club, Chicago Yacht Club, Chicago Association of Commerce, Illinois Manufacturers' Association, Alliance Française.

ARTHUR STONE DEWING

Born	Boston, Mass., Apr. 16, 1880.
Parents	Charles Hamlet, Eliza Williams Stone (Paine) Dewing.
School	Cambridge High School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1903; Ph.D., 1905.

Children	Mary Stone, Mar. 18, 1911.
Business	Teacher.
Address	(home) 469 Broadway, Cambridge, Mass.
	(business) Department of Economics, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

On graduation I entered the Harvard Graduate School, specializing in philosophy. The following year, as I was awarded the Walker Fellowship in philosophy, I spent at Munich studying German philosophy. In 1905 I took my Ph.D. degree at Harvard. I then became teacher of science in the Stone School, Boston, at the same time continuing as assistant in philosophy at Harvard. In 1907 I dropped preparatory school teaching to become instructor in psychology and ethics at Simmons College, Boston. This position I still hold. In 1909 I again went abroad, spending a large part of the time in Greece. During the last year my attention has turned more and more toward problems of modern economics, particularly those connected with the financial aspects of modern corporations. Last year I was appointed instructor in economics here at Harvard, where I am giving a course in corporation finance. I am engaged on a work dealing, in considerable detail, with the reorganization of industrial corporations. As a whole my life has been quiet and uneventful. My only sadness has been due to the death of my mother, to whose simple self-sacrifice I owe my education and the opportunity of a scholar's life. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Introduction to History of Modern science teaching, in School Science and Mathematics and in Education; on Mendel's law of heredity, in American Naturalist, etc.; on logic, in the Journal of Philosophy, Psychology and Scientific Method; "The Significance of Schelling's Theory of Knowledge" and Kern's "Das Erkenntnis problem und seine Kritische Lösung," in the Philosophical Review"; "The Income Bonds of the Central of Georgia Railroad" and "The Reorganization of the United States Leather Company," in the Quarterly Journal of Economics. Member: American Economic Association.

WALTER FRANCIS DILLINGHAM

Born	Honolulu, T. H., Apr. 5, 1875.
Parents	Benjamin Franklin, Emma Louise (Smith) Dillingham.
School	High School, Newton, Mass.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1900.)
Married	Louise Olga Gaylord, Florence, Italy, May 2, 1910.
Children	Lowell, June 17, 1911.
Business
Address	(home) 1200 Punahon St., Honolulu, T. H. (business) Stangenwald Building. Honolulu, T. H.

During the summer vacation of 1900 I returned to Honolulu and owing to business complications entered the P. F. Dillingham Company, Limited, where for four years I held the position of manager of the Dowsett Company, Limited. In 1902, as a side interest, Robert Atkinson and I organized the Hawaiian Dredging Company, Limited, and went into competition for government contracts. In 1904, owing to the serious illness of my father, the management of his railroad and sugar interests was turned over to me. Our relations with the mainland money market necessitated many business trips to San Francisco during the following four or five years. In 1908 I went to Washington, where I secured the contract for the opening of Pearl Harbor. This was completed the first of February of this year. Prior to the dredging of the Pearl Harbor channel, we deepened the harbors of Honolulu and Kahului. Under government contract we are now building an 800-foot dry dock at Pearl Harbor. In 1910 I went to Europe and was married in Florence, Italy. Since 1904 I have held the following positions: treasurer and managing director of the Oahu Railway and Land Company, treasurer of the Hilo Railroad Company, vice-president of the Kauai Railway Company, vice-president of the Olaa Sugar Company, treasurer and manager of the Hawaiian Dredging Company, Limited, treasurer and manager of the B. F. Dillingham Company, Limited, manager of the San Francisco Bridge Company for the territory of Hawaii, president of the McBryde Estate, Limited, vice-president of the California Feed Company, director of the Oahu Sugar Company, Limited, director of the Guardian Trust Company, Limited, vice-president of the Merchants' Association, trustee of Oahu College, treasurer of the library of Hawaii, vice-president of Palama Settlement, chairman of the City Sanitation Committee, president of the University Club, president of the Oahu Country Club, and captain of the Oahu Polo Club. Member: University Club of Honolulu, Harvard Club of Hawaii, Pacific Club of Honolulu, Outrigger Club of Honolulu, Pacific Tennis Club of Honolulu, Oahu Country Club of Honolulu, Oahu Polo Club of Honolulu, San Mateo Polo Club of California, Bohemian Club of California.

JOHN ADAMS DIX

Born	New York, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1880.
Parents	Morgan, Emily Woolsey (Soutter) Dix.
School	Groton School; Cutlers' School, New York, N. Y.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Sophie Witherspoon Townsend, New York, N. Y., Oct. 10, 1910.
Business	Stockbroker.
Address	(home) 119 East 79th St., New York, N. Y. (business) 55 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

Since leaving Harvard I have been engaged in active business in Wall Street. I have been in the offices of J. P. Morgan and Company, A. Iselin and Company, and Hartshorne, Bogert and Battelle, all business houses engaged in banking and brokerage in New York. For a while I made my headquarters with Blake Brothers and Company, doing business on the floor of the stock exchange. On May 1, 1912, I formed a partnership with Henry McC. Bangs. We carry on a general brokerage and investment business. For the first five years after graduation I was a trooper in Squadron A of the New York National Guard; for the first six years I served on the admissions committee of the Harvard Club of New York. For the present my interests, outside of home and business, are confined to the corporation of Trinity Church in this city, of which I am a vestryman, as well as to the New York Institution for the Blind. I am on the board of managers of the latter. Member: Union Club, Riding Club, Chamber of Commerce, Sons of the Revolution, Society of the War of 1812, New York Historical Society.

Arthur Sturgis Dixey

Born	Pau, France, Nov. 21, 1880.
School	Richard Cowell, Ellen Sturgis (Tappan) Dixey.
Parents	Noble's School, Boston; Mochmann's School, Dresden, Germany.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Lawyer.
Died	Seoul, Korea, July 26, 1905.

Arthur Sturgis Dixey, after his graduation in 1902, entered the Harvard Law School, and his summer vacations were mostly passed with his family at Lenox, Mass. He was a fearless rider, and several years before had started the Berkshire Hunt at Lenox. He was a member of First Corp Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteers, and a marksman No. 1. In February, 1905, he was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar as attorney and counsellor-at-law, and in March he accepted the position of private secretary to the Hon. Edwin V. Morgan, United States Minister to Korea. Having lived much in Europe, he spoke French and German equally well, and a journey around the world, made after passing his examinations for Harvard College, developed the interest in the Far East and in diplomacy, which he had had as a boy. Arrived at Seoul, he threw himself, with enthusiasm, into his work, revised the archives of the Legation and made himself most useful to his chief. By his charm of manner, tact and love of sport, he made many friends, both in and outside the diplomatic corps, in the short time he was in Korea, so that when he died of heart failure, after an illness of eight days, the greatest sympathy was shown and sorrow that one so young, so handsome and so promising should be so suddenly cut down. He was given a military funeral; the emperor of Korea sent a representative, and Korean officials of high rank, the diplomatic corps, officers of the Army and Navy, a Roman Catholic and English Protestant Bishop and Roman Catholic Sisters of Mercy were present. Our American Bishop conducted the services and his body, wrapped in an American flag, was borne to his grave on the shoulders of United States marines, who fired volleys over it. Five months later, his body still wrapped in his country's flag and guarded by a United States marine, was sent to San Francisco in a United States man-of-war, and a second burial service was held in the Appleton Chapel of Harvard University on December 29, 1905, when fifty of his classmates followed him, carried by eight of his best friends, up the aisle. His body was then cremated at Mt. Auburn and his ashes were buried in the little hill churchyard at Lenox, Mass., overlooking that lovely valley with his home, Tanglewood, in the distance. He was a member of the Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston, Mass.; Lenox Club, Berkshire Hunt, and Lenox Golf Club of Lenox, Mass.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 3239 South Figueroa St., Los Angeles, Cal. (business) Los Angeles Trust Building, Los Angeles, Cal. (temporary) 933 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C.

In May, 1899, I left college to accept a government appointment, as I had previously passed the civil service examination in Boston. This appointment, however, came as a surprise, for I had expected to complete college work at Harvard. For several years I audited customs accounts in the Treasury Department, auditing those of leading ports like Chicago and at times New York and San Francisco. I resigned to accept a position as auditor for the Phelps-Dodge Company, copper mine and railroad owners, of New York and the southwest; I went to Arizona for the company. While in Washington, D. C., I studied for the years 1899 to 1903 at Columbian (now George Washington) University and Columbian Law School. I passed the bar examination and was admitted to practice in Arizona. I handled private matters, not engaging in active practice there. Later I moved to Los Angeles. For one year I studied law there with a prominent attorney, then passed the bar examination and was admitted to practice before all courts, both state and federal. Since then I have maintained my own office for a greater part of the time. I was president of several corporations and one of the attorneys for a large land company. I also filled the offices of deputy county assessor for Los Angeles County and special assistant to the county auditor and the county tax collector. I have taken an active interest in public affairs, more recently in the municipal campaign in Los Angeles, where I have been speaking nightly for several weeks. For a number of months I shall be in Washington, D. C., on business. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Addresses and political speeches. Member: Harvard Club of Los Angeles, Harvard Club of Washington.

HARRY CHITTENDEN DUDLEY

Born	Guilford, Conn., July 31, 1878.
Parents	James A., Emmeline (Griswold) Dudley.
School	Belmont School, Belmont, Cal.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Mining engineer.
Address	(temporary) 807 Lonsdale Building, Duluth, Minn.
	(business) London and Brazilian Bank, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

After graduation I went to northern Michigan, where I was a mining engineer in the employ of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company at Ishpeming, on the Marquette range. In 1905 I was transferred to the Ashland mine at Ironwood, Mich., on the Gogebic range. In the summer of 1905 I left to become engineer for the Oliver Iron Mining Company in the Canisteo district, Meseba range, Minn. The Oliver Iron Mining Company is the subsidiary company, in the Lake Superior region, of the United States Steel Corporation. In 1906 I became superintendent of the Canisteo mine and later of the Walker mine, both of which I opened up. In the spring of 1908 I became superintendent of the Hill mine, an undeveloped property of the Great Northern Ore Leave, held by the same company at Marble, Minn., where we opened the mine and built the town of the foregoing name, making in 1910 an initial ore shipment of nearly a million tons. In 1906 I became chairman of the local school district. Schools were built in all the towns of the district, including a high school at Coleraine and later one at Marble; graduates from these were admitted to the larger western universities upon certificate. It was a part of the scheme in the development of this region by the Steel Corporation to make living conditions attractive to men with families in the matter of the best schools for their children and pleasant and healthful conditions generally in the new towns. In March, 1911, I left Marble to represent American mining interests in Brazil and South America. Member: American Institute of Mining Engineers, Lake Superior Mining Institute, Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Club of Minnesota.

ALDRICH DURANT

Born	Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 31, 1881.
Parents	William Bullard, Caroline Virginia (Aldrich) Durant.
School	Cambridge Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; S.B., 1903.
Married	Susan Mary Ludlow Gould, New York, N. Y., Apr. 30, 1911.
Business	Engineer and contractor.

Address	(home) 23 Genios St., Havana, Cuba. (business) 1 Enna St., Havana, Cuba. (permanent) 9 Lowell St., Cambridge, Mass.

Although I completed my college course in 1901, I took two additional years in the Scientific School. After leaving in 1903, I worked for three months in Boston, then went to Pittsburgh as an apprentice in the turbine department of the Westinghouse Machine Company, by whom I was sent out to the St. Louis Exposition as night operator of their exhibition steam turbine plant. At the close of the fair I left to go to Lafayette, Ind., where I assisted Professor Goss of Purdue University in making tests and editing a book on the economy of locomotives. For the college year 1905-1906 I came back to Cambridge as assistant in engineering. I then went to New York as foreman and later superintendent on the construction of reinforced concrete buildings for the Turner Construction Company. In January, 1908, I became superintendent for the Raymond Concrete Pile Company of New York. I rebuilt the Atlantic City boardwalk, did harbor improvement work in Baltimore, river bank protection in Missouri, bridge work in Cleveland, and much foundation work in New York and New England. In the fall of 1910 I entered the employ of MacArthur Brothers Company of New York. I am at present in Havana, where I am representing them on harbor improvement work, comprising building docks and dredging and reclaiming land. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Engineering Society of New York, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers, American Club of Havana, Vedado Tennis Club of Havana.

Business	Coal salesman.
Address	(home) 1259 Lakeland Ave., Lakewood, O.
	(business) Care of Zettelmeyer Coal Company, Cleveland, O.

Just before the end of my second year I left Harvard on account of the death of my father. My first job was as fireman in the Mt. Auburn Cemetery power house. The first day I nearly blew up the plant, the next, I let the fires go out. I finally learned to run it, however. Then, at the instance of an old friend of my father, I came to Cleveland as a railroad clerk. At the end of five years I was earning some sixty per month. Since that time, which was coincident with a fairly important date given elsewhere. I have been reasonably successful. I was fortunate in coming in with the new code of salesmanship, whereby goods are no longer sold with a jag or a black cigar, but with a mechanical knowledge of "what it will do."

Business	Lumber dealer.
Address	(home) 150 Park Place, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. (business) Adams Building, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. (permanent) Care of First National Bank, Peru, Ind.

A few days after Commencement my allowance checks automatically stopped. This impressed upon my mind the importance of those other checks classified sometimes as "salary," sometimes as "pay-roll," the distinction apparently depending upon the payee's degree of need of them. At any rate, I promptly went home to the middle west, where I started work in the First National Bank of Peru, Ind. I was general apprentice and particular bête noir to everybody. My connection with the bank, which was obtained by pull, was severed a year or so later by push, whether my own or the directors' it would be indelicate to say. The training of the various positions I had held were at least as valuable to me as to the bank. I next served a few months as temporary manager of a small public service corporation, then went to Menominee, Mich., with the Wolverine Cedar and Lumber Company, then of Menominee, now of Sault Ste. Marie. Almost immediately I ran across Dave Kinney of our class. As he was an enthusiastic and successful member of the United States Forestry Service, he told me many things about conservation and re-forestration. Getting from him the idea that it was possible to cut down trees and still have them left, or something of that sort, which in view of the high prices of standing timber sounded very attractive, I tried to prove my value to the company by passing the information along to the general manager. He urged me to sleep it off, then go up to Camp Four to see why they were not getting more logs there. That was my first lesson in practical lumbering. As I had just been married at this time, I was very ambitious and energetic, expecting to do great things. As evidence, however, that my expectations were not shared by all the rest of the community, I soon heard of my being described by one of the old-time lumbermen as "a young dood who has came up here with a college diplomy and a cigarette case, and thinks he can learn the lumber business." After a few years of acrobatic shifts between the general office, the sales office and the woods, I became vice-president of the company. About three years ago I was made general manager. I have not yet been separated from these positions. I have neither held offices of honor and trust, written anything except occasional contributions to some of the trade papers, nor done anything else clever except to get married. As this last, however, is an appreciation of my wife rather than a lecture to the bachelors of the class, it is probably not in order here. Member: University Club of Chicago, Harvard Club of Michigan.

ALBERT EHRENFRIED

Born	Lewiston, Me., Feb. 9, 1880.

Before graduating I received an offer from the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York to take charge of publicity and newspaper work for the company. This offer I accepted in July, 1903. I stayed with the Mutual Life one year, during which time, in addition to my regular work, I brought out my first book, "Underneath the Bough." In July, 1904, as my health played me a few tricks, I had to take to the woods of Maine, where I grew temporary whiskers, put on fat, acquired an addition to my family, and generally got next to nature. The lamentable lack of pence, whereof all poets prate, began to get in its work on me, forcing me to go in for magazine writing on the cash basis. Pegasus soon got harness-broken, without any undue galls, ringbones, heaves or spavins, and presently began to pull in good shape. My first story was accepted by "Collier's," my second by "McClure's," my third by the "American Magazine," and after that, everything became velvet and life developed into one grand sweet song, to the clicking accompaniment of the typewriter. In 1905 I undertook a little educational uplift work by tackling a job as principal of a country high school. Here I soon discovered that all is not even brass that glitters. After about three months, therefore, I decided to let the community at Bryant's Pond, Me., grovel along again in the good old way, without any more of my all-too-modern ideas. To the best of my knowledge, the school is still successfully grovelling, without me, for which Laus Deo. At about this time I invested heavily in Maine lands, to the extent of one-sixteenth of an acre, on the shores of Lake Christopher. Any good railroad folder will give ample details regarding the magnificent scenery, so I omit these. On this princely estate I built a bungalow, with the accent on the bungle. People are still coming from miles around to see this edifice, much of which I constructed with my own hands. I believe that I have exerted considerable architectural influence in Maine. No end of prospective builders have told me, with tears in their eyes, that after having inspected my bungle-oh, they have had many new ideas concerning what to avoid. Be this as it may, we have lived close to nature ever since, that is, during each summer. Winters we hike to some great city, such as West Philadelphia, Somerville, Mass., Portland, Me., Englewood, N. J., or other vast marts of men and money, thus alternating rustic simplicity with the dizzy, maddening whirl of the Great White Ways. In 1906 I found my natural radicalism, which had been strongly stimulated by Professor Peabody's soothing course, Philosophy 5, leading me into Socialism. In June of that year I went "red" and joined the socialist party. Since that time I have been actively writing, speaking, button-holing, and agitating, day and night, open and closed seasons alike, for this cause. My perennially fascinating dissipation has for years been the waving of the Red Flag. In spite of this, I neither wear whiskers nor consume firebrands for breakfast. I roar as gently as a sucking dove, while discoursing on surplus values, the class struggle and economic determinism. Strange, but true. In 1908 I was candidate for Congress on the Socialist ticket in the Second Maine District; I was defeated by the largest plurality ever given in the state. At present writing, January, 1912, I am Socialist candidate for Governor of Maine on the same ticket. Time will tell results. Confidentially speaking, I intend to fight things out on this line if it takes till the year 2000. But all this lies on the knees of the gods. I trust the gods not to brush my schedule off. In 1909 and again in 1911, I took my little family to Europe, each time for about three months. The list of places visited would read like Baedecker, so I gloss this feature. Let me say, however, that Europe is quite a passable place, and that were it not for the Americans over there, all might be well with it. I see the secretary asks for a list of books, plays and articles which I have written or translated. I balk. Reference to my MSS.—record book shows more than two hundred and fifty published pieces of work, long and short stories, serials, essays, articles on economics, sociology, and so on, in the past eight years. Surely nobody can expect a man to furnish a list like that? Two hundred and fifty, count 'em, two hundred and fifty, as P. T. Barnum would have said. Please let it go at that. This is much more important: Socialism is now within striking distance of complete dominance in America, as well as in Europe. With all the emphasis I am capable of, I advise Omnibus ad Quo Hae Literae Pervenerint (or whatever it is) to study socialism, to think socialism, to talk socialism, to support socialism, and to climb on to the socialist band-wagon while there is still room. Member: Socialist Party of America.

Upon leaving Harvard I spent two years at the Architectural School of Columbia, passing the greater part of the summer vacations in the office of Charles A. Platt, architect. In August, 1904, after a short trip in northern France, I took up my studies in Paris and in January, 1906, was admitted to the section of architecture in the Ecole des Beaux Arts. I completed the prescribed course, taking the diploma in November, 1909. In the course of my stay abroad I made several trips to America and travelled over the greater part of France and Italy. I also made trips to England, Germany, and Austria. Soon after becoming Architecte Diplômé my marriage took place. Following a month's visit to Italy, I then returned to New York. The spring and summer of 1910 I spent in the office of Delano and Aldrich, architects. In October, 1910, I again entered the office of Charles A. Platt, where I am at present. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Engineering Society of New York, Society of Beaux Arts Architects, Societé des Architectes Diplômé par le Gouvernement Français.

Address	(home) 5 Walnut Ave., Stoughton, Mass.

The first three years after graduating were spent with a select bunch from 1902, and a few others, at the Harvard Medical School, from which by some fortuitous circumstances I was graduated in 1905. In July, 1905, I entered the Massachusetts General Hospital as surgical interne. I was obliged by illness, however, to leave the next year. A slow convalescence prevented my return to active practice until the spring of 1907, when I engaged with my father in general practice in Stoughton. I have been here ever since as an old reliable country doc and natural bone setter. The only political position and office of honor that I can remember is that I was unfortunately picked as the scape-goat of the medical gang in this vicinity and placed upon the local Board of Health. The only bright spot upon my otherwise dull and sombre horizon of work and yet more work is the prospect of the glorious celebration that 1902 will have this lovely month of June, 1912. Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, American Medical Society, Aesculapian Club of Boston.

Business	Architect.
Address	(home) Atlanta Athletic Club, East Lake, Ga. (business) 632 Candler Building, Atlanta, Ga. (permanent) Kendall Green, Washington, D. C.

After graduation I took a short vacation, then went to work as a draughtsman in the offices of various Boston architects. I spent about a year each with Peabody and Sterns; Shepley, Rutan and Coolidge; James Purdon, and Guy Lowell. I went to Hartford, Vt., for the winter of 1906. In the spring I decided to try the sunny south for a while. I spent a year in Columbia, S. C., with W. A. Edwards, with whom I moved in 1908 to Atlanta; I am with him there now. Our practice, drawn mainly from South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, is general in its scope, including principally educational institutions, court houses and office buildings, with a few churches and residences. Atlanta is a busy city, building and growing rapidly, yet delightful in its people, its spirit and its climate. Member: Atlanta Athletic Club, Mechanical and Manufacturers' Club, Atlanta Architectural Arts League.

After one year in college, in 1899 I entered the Harvard Medical School, graduating in 1903. I then served as house officer at the Massachusetts General and the Boston Children's Hospitals. In 1905 I came to Rochester, N. Y. Since then I have practiced orthopedic surgery in this city. Member: Genesee Valley Club, Country Club of Rochester, Aesculapian Club of Boston, American Orthopedic Association.

FREDERIC WHITNEY FITTS

Born	Lowell, Mass., Apr. 11, 1872.
Parents	Frank Eugene, Charlotte Isadora (Whitney) Fitts.
School	High School, Somerville, Mass.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1899); S.T.B. (Episcopal Theological School), 1901.
Unmarried
Business	Minister.
Address	40 Linwood St., Roxbury, Mass.

My connection with the class of 1902 came about on account of special courses which I took at Harvard in 1898-1899, while I was a student at the Episcopal Theological School of Cambridge, from which I was graduated in 1901. On June 19, 1901, I was ordained deacon by Bishop Lawrence. I went at once to New York as assistant curate of Calvary Church, at which I was ordained priest on Trinity Sunday, 1902. In June of that year I became associate priest of St. Stephen's Church, Boston, a position which I filled for five years. In October, 1907, I became associate rector of St. John's Church, Roxbury, succeeding to the rectorship on November 1, 1908. Since 1893 I have been a member of the Sunday School Commission and the Board of Education of the diocese of Massachusetts. For the past two years I have been secretary of the Sunday School Union of the diocese. In May, 1912, I was elected a delegate to the Sunday School convention of the New England department.

Unmarried
Business	Traffic agent.
Address	(home) 22 Mt. Pleasant St., Cambridge, Mass.
	(business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

Upon leaving college in January, 1903, I became a cadet in the United States Revenue Cutter Service; I was stationed on the U.S.S. Chase, South Baltimore, Md. After serving a year I became an electrician in the employ of the Western Electric Company, thence going to the Shawinigan Power Company, now controlled by the Montreal Power Company. Here I had formerly worked in 1901 under Mr. Wallace C. Johnson. From 1906 until 1908 I had charge of electric sub-stations for railways. Since 1908, with some intermissions, I have been engaged in freight traffic rate work. I have taken considerable interest in politics both in New York City and Cambridge, Mass.

Charles Shattuck Fletcher

Born	Worcester, Mass., July 21, 1878.
Parents	Charles Andrew, Helen Maria (Shattuck) Fletcher.
School	Classical High School, Worcester, Mass.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1901.)
Unmarried
Died	Saranac Lake, N. Y., Sept. 13, 1903.

Charles Shattuck Fletcher died at Saranac Lake, New York, September 13, 1903. He lived and died a brave and cheerful youth. His great regret was that he could not live to finish his course at Harvard. His intimates of the class remember him as a thoughtful, sensitive kindly friend. Ever ready with help in time of need, generous and considerate, he lived the life he loved. He died as brave men die, with a smile of content. He was a member of the S. A. E. Fraternity.

CHARLES HAROLD FLOYD

Born	Brookline, Mass., Sept. 28, 1878.

Unmarried
Business	Teacher.
Address	(home) 51 Thornton St., Roxbury, Mass. (business) Boylston Hall, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

From 1902-1905 I was a student in the Harvard Graduate School, specializing and assisting in chemistry. After receiving the degree of Ph.D. in 1905, I spent one year as Carnegie research assistant with Professor Richards, investigating the atomic weight of nitrogen. In August, 1906, as John Harvard Fellow, I started for Europe to spend a year in study and travel. The first semester was passed in Leipzig carrying on research in photochemistry with Professor Luther, the second semester in Berlin studying gaseous equilibria with Professors Nernst and Bodenstein. My vacations were spent travelling in England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. Returning to America in September, 1907, I began a two-year appointment as associate in chemistry at Bryn Mawr. Although this proved very pleasant work, when asked to come back to Harvard in 1909 to serve as instructor in chemistry, it did not take me long to accept. In 1910 I was appointed a member of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences and given charge of the admission examinations in chemistry. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Articles for scientific journals. Member: American Chemical Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science.

WALDO EMERSON FORBES

Born	Milton, Mass., Feb. 28, 1879.

Business	Assistant editor.
Address	(home) Hillside St., Milton, Mass.
	(business) 614 Sears Building, Boston, Mass.

In the autumn of 1902, after travelling in the west, I began working in the bookkeeping department of the firm of Stone and Webster. In June, 1903, I left and began helping Mr. Edward W. Emerson in annotating the works of Ralph Waldo Emerson. In the spring of 1904 I became a member of the firm of J. W. Forbes and Company, whose business from then till now has largely been the care of trust property. I spent nearly a year, from the summer of 1905 to that of 1906, in Wyoming, living mostly an out-door life on a ranch. From 1906 to 1907 I taught at Milton Academy. In the autumn of 1908 I worked for a while in the office of the Atlantic Monthly, taking a small financial interest, which I sold previous to February, 1911. From the winter of 1908 until the present I have devoted much time to helping Mr. Emerson in editing for publication the journals of Ralph Waldo Emerson. Member: Milton Club, Boston City Club, Economic Club of Boston, Milton Education Society.

I spent 1903-1904 at the Harvard Law School. From then till March, 1905, I was in the accounting department of Sanderson and Porter, electrical engineers and contractors, New York, N. Y. I then went into the engineering and accounting end of their field office in New Orleans, returning in June, 1905, to the New York office, where I stayed till November, 1905. In November I became paymaster of the McCall's Ferry Power Company; the accounting department being supervised by Sanderson and Porter. I remained there till October, 1906, when the company took over the accounting themselves. I then left Sanderson and Porter. Since December, 1906, I have been working on a problem of railway operation. For the last two years I have been assisting in the endeavor to develop a system to meet conditions, the data for which are being secured by tests carried on under the auspices of a railroad. Member: Harvard Club of New York, University Club of New York, City Club of New York, St. Nicholas Society of New York, St. Andrew's Golf Club of Mount Hope.

Address	532 5th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

On leaving college I entered the engineering department of the New York Telephone Company. In January, 1903, I accepted a position to teach mathematics in the Poughkeepsie High School, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In September, 1903, I began to teach the same subject in the Staten Island Academy in New York; this position I held for three years. In June, 1906, I reentered the employ of the New York Telephone Company, later undertaking similar work with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. When in September, 1910, an opportunity came to enter the high school system of the city of New York, I accepted a position in the Boys' High School, Brooklyn, where I have since taught mathematics.

When I left Cambridge, I invested all my savings in a ticket to the west. New York, however, was as far as my money would carry me. I walked down Fifth Avenue and saw the Flatiron Building half completed. Having had a scientific education, I repaired to the office of the builder, who asked me what I knew of engineering in general and the building business in particular. I told him all that I had learned, namely, that terra cotta is an excellent building material, not only because it can be made in any shape, but also because it can be made in any color. He seemed greatly pleased when I told him this and asked what I had done in athletics. When I told him that I had once been a candidate for the Harvard golf team he was again pleased, as he himself had been a college athlete and had been waiting for eight years to get square for an imagined grievance which he had had since the Michigan-Harvard football game in 1894. He gave me a job and has been getting square ever since. Personally, I think he is overdoing it. Be that as it may, I soon saved enough to go to Chicago, where for a year I taught W. D. Eaton, 1902, how to sail and G. Malcolm McConnell, 1901, how to play golf. Incidentally McConnell and I, with Eaton as coxswain, won the double scull championship, row boat class, of the Great Lakes. This done I returned to New York, for I found that I could not stand the pace set by the young Chicagoans. For seven long weary years I stayed in New York, dividing my time between building magnificent modern structures and trying to beat C. L. Cole, 1901, at tennis. Finally I succeeded at the latter (descriptive circular for four cents in stamps). With half my job finished I found life in New York even worse than in Chicago. I have always longed for life on the farm, although I have not yet discovered how to sustain the former on the latter. Therefore, I compromised, took unto myself a wife, and came to Philadelphia, my birthplace, which I had not seen for thirty years. Here, in peace with my fellowman, I hope to spend what is left of my life, far removed from the outer world, secure in the heart of my family, a disciple of the simple life. Lest it may be thought that I refrain through modesty from mentioning offices of honor or trust which I have held, I will enumerate them: I have held no offices of honor; my only office of trust is that I am sometimes permitted to hold the baby. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Merion Cricket Club of Haverford, Pa.

Since my graduation from the Harvard Law School I have been practicing law in New York. On July 5, 1905, I entered the law office of Marten and Nichols, New York, where I remained until February, 1907. From then until April, 1909, I was in the office of Byrne and Cutcheon. In the following

June I went into partnership with Ralph W. Page, 1903, with whom I was associated till July, 1910. Subsequently I became connected with Spooner and Cotton of New York, a firm of which I became a member in January, 1912. The other members are John C. Spooner, former United States Senator from Wisconsin, Joseph P. Cotton, Jr., 1896, and George Rublee, 1890. Member: Harvard Club of New York.

JOHN HENRY FREESE

Born	Bangor, Me., Mar. 4, 1876.
Parents	Andrew Jackson, Harriet (Langdon) Freese.
School	High School, Bangor, Me.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1902.)
Unmarried
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) Hotel Plaza, New York, N. Y.
	(business) 47 West 34th St., New York, N. Y.
	(permanent) Bangor, Me.

In the fall of 1903 I located in New York where, after holding for about two years a clerkship with the law firm of Rounds, Hatch, Dillingham and Debevoise, I engaged in independent practice. I am now so occupied. I have been upon the editorial staff of the American and English Encyclopaedia of Law and have contributed to the Century Dictionary and Cyclopaedia. (See "Nebula" in the new edition.) I have also written for the newspapers and magazines, especially upon astronomical subjects. I have been assigned many times to fend in the criminal court of New York accused persons having no means to defend themselves. Among other Harvard men, occasionally so assigned, are: H. G. Gray, Joseph H. Choate, Jr., Philip J. McCook, George E. Fleming, R. C. Bolling and Arthur C. Train. As there are many Harvard men in the district attorney's office, they sometimes meet on opposite sides of a case. While in college and law school I was for two years an observer at the Harvard College Observatory, where I made some valuable, original experiments in photographing the spectrum of lightning as described in Harvard College Observatory Circular No. 62. I have contributed to the New York World diagrams and data as to newly discovered comets. I have been identified with the Island League, a coöperative organization, representing many churches which do social work and furnish musical entertainments on Blackwell's Island, New York. I am a member of the advisory board of New York Home for Homeless Boys. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "The Making of the Universe," Century Magazine, December, 1902. Member: Seventh Regiment of the New York National Guard, Harvard Club of New York, American Geographical Society, National Civic Federation, Royal Astronomical Society, American Social Science Association, Citizens' Union, Maine Club of New York.

Address	(home) 23 Dean St., Everett, Mass.
	(business) 165 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

I first went to work for Westinghouse, Church, Kew and Company of New York, by whom I was sent to the shops of the Westinghouse Machine Company, East Pittsburgh, Pa., to learn the details of their steam turbine work. In the fall of 1903, by a reorganization of forces, I was transferred to the Westinghouse Machine Company, where until April, 1906, I remained in the turbine work. I then left to go as one of the operating engineers to the Williamsburg power station of the Transit Development Company, Brooklyn. In November, 1907, I went to Perth Amboy, N. J., as chief engineer of the Perth Amboy plant of the American Smelting and Refining Company, which I left in March, 1909. In October, 1909, I resumed work on steam turbines and condensers with the Westinghouse Machine Company. Member: Association of Harvard Engineers, Harvard Engineering Society of New York.

After graduation I spent nine months in travel with my father, visiting England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Greece and Egypt. On returning in April, 1903, I took a three-dollar position as office boy in the New York selling office of the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, makers of cotton and woolen fabrics. I have been with that company ever since, having passed through a series of office positions until for the past year and a half I have been a drummer ("drummer" is called salesman when one wishes to impress his audience with his importance), travelling in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, Indiana and Iowa. I lived in Brooklyn, N. Y., until after the birth of my boy, when I moved to New Canaan, Conn., from which I commute to New York for business. All members of the class are invited to stop off there when they are passing along the New Haven Railroad or motoring to New York. I shall be glad to welcome them and show them some beautiful country, or put them through an afternoon of golf, tennis, hunting, fishing, coasting, hockey, or any sport, the season permitting, that they might wish. There are also many weeds to dig in the garden. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Country Club of New Canaan, Arkwright Club.

Shortly after graduation I returned to Mobile, after I had made vain attempt, with two other Harvard men, to purchase a one thousand dollar sloop for one hundred and fifty, with the intention of sailing down the coast from Boston to Mobile. As my work at college had not been of a specialized or practical nature, running mainly to astronomy and higher mathematics, I was compelled to accept a position in the first line obtainable, which happened to be accounting; in this I have remained ever since. In 1905, after a long illness in Mobile, I went to Bocas del Toro, in the Republic of Panama, for the Camors McConnell Company of Mobile, a banana company associated with the United Fruit Company. I continued with this until it was sold to the United in June, 1911. The assimilation of the smaller company, however, was unhappily restricted to launches, lighters, cash and other material assets in which I was not included. I accordingly returned to Mobile and indulged in a fishing trip. In September, 1911, I accepted a position in the auditor's office of the Guatemala division of the United. After a pleasant voyage on the Gulf of Mexico I found myself relegated to the attic of a building evidently designed in Boston and not in the tropics and to a salary which suggested a retrogression of six years, as it was the same on which I went to Bocas in 1905.

As Barrios offered only an unspeakable existence, as pro-Germanic influences were strong, and as Dartmouth could make a touchdown whenever she pleased, I resigned, returned to Mobile and then sailed for Bocas on a trip of exploration to determine the value of land "denounced" by myself and a Colombian friend. The trip has lost for me a fair chance for the position of division auditor for the Ceiba division of the United, while the land has proved to be accessible only to Zeppelin airships. All my present energies are directed to shooting at least one specimen of the South American tiger.

Fitzhugh Coyle Goldsborough

Born	Washington, D. C., Oct. 5, 1880.
Parents	Edmund Kennedy, Mary Farr (Coyle) Goldsborough.
School	Emerson Institute, Washington, D. C.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1899.)
Unmarried
Business	Violinist.
Died	New York, N. Y., Jan. 23, 1911.

Fitzhugh Coyle Goldsborough commenced his professional studies as violinist on entering Harvard in 1898, when he was given violin instruction by Felix Winternitz, under the general direction of Franz Kneisel for two years. He then went to Vienna and graduated second in his class at the Conservatory of Music. He studied under such masters as Jakob Grün and Arnold Rosé. At the annual graduating exercises of the Vienna Conservatory, he played the Tschaikovski concerto with orchestral accompaniment. He then entered upon his career as a soloist, his ability as an artist being attested by flattering comments from the great art centres of Europe—Munich, Vienna, Berlin and London. The German critics acclaimed him "a virtuoso of the noblest type, with splendid technique and a large and beautiful tone." While abroad he played for His Royal Highness Archduke Leopold Salvator of Austria at the special request of the Archduke, who had publicly honored the young artist and received him in audience. After his return to America he filled engagements in Washington, D. C., New York, Pittsburgh, Toronto and other cities, including a week at the Jamestown Exposition. On May 24, 1907, he appeared publicly as soloist in conjunction with Col. Roosevelt as speaker. Mr. Goldsborough was one of the teaching staff, in 1908, at the Toronto Conservatory of Music. In 1909 he left Toronto, having accepted the offer of a position as first violinist of the Pittsburgh Orchestra. He wrote books. "Poems and Sonnets," published by David Nutt, London, Eng.; musical compositions, unpublished; "Scène Orientale," "Spanish Dance," "Serenade Humoresque," "Memories." His untimely death in New York, January 23, 1911, cut short a career of great promise.

School	Boston Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; M.D., 1906.
Unmarried
Business	Physician.
Address	78 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

In the autumn of 1902 I entered the Harvard Medical School, where I studied the full term, graduating in June, 1906. From that date until October, 1907, I served as south surgical house officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston. I was then appointed assistant in surgery in the Harvard Medical School, where I taught during the academic year 1907-1908. From June to September, 1908, I served as accident room assistant surgeon at the Massachusetts General Hospital. In September I was appointed assistant in anatomy in the Harvard Medical School; since that time I have continued to teach in the anatomical department. From February to September, 1909, I served as house officer at the Boston Lying-in Hospital. In February, 1910, I was made pathologist and in May, 1911, assistant physician to outpatients at the same institution, positions which I still hold. In July, 1909, I had become editorial assistant on the staff of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, of which in July, 1911, I was chosen assistant editor. In January, 1910, I became assistant surgeon to out-patients at the Children's Hospital, Boston, an office which I am now holding. In the same month I was also appointed fourth assistant surgeon to out-patients with diseases of women, and in January, 1911, third assistant surgeon at the Boston City Hospital. From January, 1910, to January, 1912, I served as visiting physician to St. Monica's Home, Roxbury. The summer of 1910 I spent in travel and medical study in Europe. In October, 1910, I began private practice in Boston, devoting myself particularly to surgery and obstetrics. In the same month I was appointed director of the Harvard Summer School of Medicine. In October, 1911, I was made instructor in anatomy, assistant in gynaecology and Fellow in surgery, in the Harvard Medical School. My professional interest has been chiefly in medical teaching and writing. In addition to my academic appointments, I have held since October, 1908, the position of instructor in anatomy, bacteriology and surgery in the training school for nurses at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Litora Aliena," a book of travel published in 1911 under the pseudonym of Medicus Peregrinus; medical papers on the following topics: "Brain Abscess," "Treatment of Sepsis with Bacterial Vaccines," "Blood Pressure in the Toxemias of Pregnancy," "Hunonbagic Disease of the Newborn," "Cancer of the Scrotum," "Treatment of Sarcoma with Coley Toxins." Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, Massachusetts Medical Benevolent Society, Boston Medical Library Association, Boston Society for Medical Improvement, Suffolk District Medical Society, Boylston Medical Society, Boston Surgical Fortnightly Club, Aesculapian Club of Boston (Secretary, 1909-1910; President, 1910-1911), Papyrus Club.

Business	Coal and grain dealer.
Address	(home) 1737 Noble Ave., Bridgeport, Conn.
	(business) Care of Berkshire Mills, Bridgeport, Conn.

The fall after graduation I coached the football team at Washington and Jefferson College, Washington, Pa. On returning to Boston I secured a position with Rice and Hutchins in their Rockland, Mass., shoe factory, where I remained until I was taken ill in the fall of 1903. During that fall I assisted in coaching the University team in Cambridge. In December, 1903, I returned to Rockland, but in the employ of the Hurley Shoe Company, with whom I remained until January 15, 1908. While there I held factory positions and represented them on the road selling shoes. February, 1908, found me located with my cousin in Bridgeport, Conn., engaged in the coal and grain business, which looks like a permanent occupation. For seven years of the ten I have been out of college I have returned to Cambridge to assist in coaching the University eleven; I have spent anywhere from one week to the entire season in this work. I am a vice-president of the Harvard Club of Connecticut and an officer in the Elks. Member: Seaside Club of Bridgeport, Elks, Harvard Club of Connecticut.

RALPH WELLER GREENLAW

Address	(business) 250 West 54th St., New York, N. Y.

The time since my graduation I have spent on construction work, mostly in the vicinity of New York. I have been one year at Philadelphia with the American Bridge Company, one and a half years on the New York subway, and one year on the New York terminal of the Pennsylvania Railroad. For the last six years I have been with the Board of Water Supply of New York on the Catskill Aqueduct; for one year I was assistant engineer in charge of surveys and preliminary work near Cold Spring, N. Y.; for four years I was engineer in charge of the construction of a three and a half mile section of the aqueduct near Garrison, N. Y.; while for the past year I have been senior assistant to the division engineer in charge of the construction of aqueduct tunnels in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

DONALD GREGG

Born	Hartford, Conn., June 4, 1880.
Parents	James Bartlett, Mary (Needham) Gregg.
School	Cutler Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; M.D., 1907.
Unmarried
Business	Physician.
Address	(home) Army and Navy Club, Manila, P. I. (business) University Hospital, Manila, P. I. (permanent) Care of A. F. Bemis, 40 Old Orchard Road, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

The year after graduation I spent tutoring and teaching physics at Milton Academy. In the fall of 1903 I entered the Harvard Medical School. The four subsequent winters were occupied in studying medicine, while my vacations were devoted to hospital work in Boston and tutoring at various places. After getting my medical degree in June, 1907, I became assistant to Dr. Charles Harrington, late secretary of the Massachusetts State Board of Health. In his laboratory at the Harvard Medical School I conducted several researches on subjects pertaining to hygiene and public health, devoting especial attention to the investigation of "typhoid carriers" in various parts of the state. In this work I stumbled upon one "carrier" of fifty-two years standing, a record case in medical literature. At this time I also conducted an extensive research upon the infant mortality of Boston. A detailed report of this was published in the annual report of the Massachusetts State Board of Health. In the spring of 1908 I became medical house pupil at the Massachusetts General Hospital. The subsequent sixteen months spent as a hospital interne I regard as the most busy, profitable and happy I have yet enjoyed. Graduating from this hospital in August, 1909, I opened an office on Beacon Street, Boston, and resumed work as a special agent for the State Board of Health. Having become especially interested in the subject of typhoid fever, I devoted myself largely to work in this field of research. As "typhoid expert" I had the pleasure of investigating the origins of epidemics of typhoid fever in various parts of Massachusetts. With the opening of the Medical School I was appointed first holder of the "Charles Follen Folsom Fellowship" in preventive medicine. About this time I received an attractive offer to go to the Philippines as instructor of physical diagnosis in the Philippine Medical School and resident physician in the Philippine General Hospital in Manila. My "wanderlust" and western training urged me to shake Beacon Street before I atrophied. After considering the offer a while, I finished my work on typhoid fever, published my report, and turned my face towards the Far East. After the usual interesting and enjoyable journey westward, which included seeing several classmates in Cleveland, Chicago, Seattle, San Francisco, and Honolulu, and an all too brief glimpse of Japan, I reached Manila in February, 1910. The past two years have been spent most profitably and happily in medical work in Manila. Interspersed with the work have come repeated enjoyable trips about the islands with Governor General Forbes and other officials. The delights of Baguio and the southern islands are too many to recount here. I have had many interesting experiences, professional and otherwise, and have been promoted to assistant professor of tropical medicine. My two years, for which I came to Manila, are now over; I have resigned my official position in the government service, and am now serving as visiting physician of the University Hospital in Manila, a private hospital founded by Bishop Brent. I expect shortly to start around the world via China, India, Egypt and Europe. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Medical articles and letters in various medical journals. Member: Boylston Medical Society, Aesculapian Society, Massachusetts Medical Society, Union Boat Club of Boston, Manila Medical Society, Philippine Islands Medical Association, University Club of Manila, Manila Boat Club, Army and Navy Club of Manila, Baguio Country Club.

Business Address	(home) American Embassy, Vienna, Austria. (business) Department of State, Washington, D. C. (permanent) 185 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

After graduation I travelled through Europe and subsequently around the world, visiting the far east, as well as Australia, New Zealand and Tasmania, with shooting trips in the interior of the Malay Peninsula, Kashmir, Baltistan and China. In December, 1903, I returned to Boston, where I took a course in a commercial school. Subsequently I entered a family in Tours, France, to study the French language. I then received an appointment as clerk in the Diplomatic Agency and Consulate-General at Cairo, entering on my duties July 19, 1904. During my stay in Cairo I travelled in Greece, Turkey and Asia Minor. My subsequent appointments have been: Deputy consul-general at Cairo, November 3, 1904; third secretary of the embassy at Mexico City, March 1, 1906; third secretary of the embassy at St. Petersburg, May 7, 1907; second secretary of the embassy at Berlin, June 10, 1908, and first secretary of the embassy at Vienna, January 27, 1911. Business	Teacher.

Address	(home) 175 Halsted St., East Orange, N. J.
	(business) East Orange High School, East Orange, N. J.

Until 1905 I was at East Orange as instructor in Latin and director of athletics. I then became senior instructor in Latin and dropped the athletics. In 1911 the system was reorganized and I was appointed head of the Latin department, which is my present status. During the past four years I have been coaching football with considerable success. During the past three years the local high school team has lost only two games, though playing all the leading New York teams, as well as such outside teams as West Point, Collum Hall and Princeton Prep. I have also gathered in stray shekels singing in one of the choirs. These combined activities have enabled me to scare the wolf far enough from the door to enlarge the firm by taking in a partner. I use the words advisedly, for her friends all assure her that it amounted to that! Although I regret that my occupation prevents me from joining the class at reunion time, I live in hope that things may change.

I spent two years studying law in my father's office. In the fall of 1904 I entered the Harvard Law School, where I spent a portion of the year. In September, 1905, I entered Boston University Law School, studying there for one year. In December, 1906, I was admitted to practice at the New Hampshire Bar. Since then I have lived continuously in Dover, enjoying a fair country law practice. I have not as yet entered politics actively, nor have I held any public or appointive offices. Member: Massachusetts Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion.

Two days after I received my degree at Harvard I was on my way to Marquette, Mich., where I spent the summer as private tutor to two young ladies who were preparing for Smith College. In the fall of that year I went to Minneapolis, Minn., as instructor in Latin and mathematics in the Minneapolis Classical School, a preparatory school for eastern universities; this position I held for one year. On June 1, 1903, I entered the editorial department of Rand, McNally and Company as associate editor of the educational department. The work consisted of reading and preparing for the printer such as the firm decided to publish of the many school book manuscripts submitted for publication, as well as seeing them through from the time they went to the printer till they were printed, bound and ready for the sales department to push on to the reluctant "young American." On June 1, 1904, when my chief resigned, I succeeded to his position in charge of the work; this I held till July, 1905. During the last three months I was with Rand, McNally and Company, I was persuaded against my will, to "take to the road," as a red hot campaign was on in the state of Washington for the adoption of school books for five years. I scoured the highways and byways of Washington with sufficient success to get the "glad hand" when I turned into the office again. Previously, however, I had secured a small interest in the Farm Life Publishing Company of Chicago, publishers of Farm Life, and had arranged to leave Rand, McNally and Company on my return from the west. I was now made secretary and treasurer of the Farm Life Publishing Company, where in July, 1905, I took up my work as editor. Later I also became manager of the office and the subscription department. This work I continued till January, 1907. My trip on the road two years before had given me a bad case of "western fever." In January, 1907, an opportunity came to go to Billings, Mont., to manage the Gazette Printing Company, which published a morning daily, an evening daily, a semi-weekly, and ran the largest job printing shop in that section. We had our own leased wire Associated Press reports and the largest and most influential papers in the eastern half of the state, half of which alone is larger than all New England. The political campaign of 1908 furnished us plenty of excitement and gave me a look at the inside of politics as they are managed. I was a delegate to the Republican state convention of that year. To me politics do not look more attractive from what I have seen of them at close range. In all probability I should have still been in the newspaper business, had not an opportunity come in 1909 to associate myself in the real estate business with experienced and successful people in Washington in developing and subdividing a large tract of irrigated fruit land. I am still in active charge of the development work. My official position is secretary-treasurer of the Columbia Basin Land and Orchard Company of North Yakima, Wash. Member: Harvard Club of Spokane, University Club of North Yakima, Masons.

Leaving college after the mid-year examinations in 1902, I went into business, remaining with one house until September, 1907. I then went to the Harvard Law School, graduating in 1910. From there I entered a law office, where I stayed about a year. Since last spring I have been practicing in an office of my own. Member: Masonic Societies, Harvard Club of Boston.

Edward William Hamill

Born	Belleville, Ill., Dec. 26, 1879.
Parents	James Miller, Agnes Lilian (Pace) Hamill.
School	Belleville High School; Ohio Wesleyan University.

Degrees	A.B., 1902; S.B. (Massachusetts Institute of Technology), 1907.
Unmarried
Business	Teacher.
Died	Los Angeles, Cal., June 30, 1909.

Edward William Hamill prepared for college at the Belleville High School and the preparatory department of Ohio Wesleyan University, where he was graduated in 1901 with the degree of A.B. While at Ohio Wesleyan he was active in Y. M. C. A. work, was treasurer of the athletic association, and editor-in-chief of the "Ohio Wesleyan Transcript"; he won the modern languages prize in German, and was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and also the Phi Delta Theta fraternities. He entered the senior class at Harvard College in 1901 and received the degree of A.B. in 1902. During the year 1902-1903 he returned to Ohio Wesleyan to teach German, and the next year he taught in the German department at Harvard and did post-graduate work. At this time he decided to take up architecture as a profession and in 1904 entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and was graduated with the degree of S. B. in 1907. His interest in educational work was so strong, however, that he decided to return to teaching, and in February, 1908, was appointed a teacher at the Yeatman High School in St. Louis. During this time he wrote articles on educational subjects for "The Christian Advocate" and "The Educational Review," and had also written an article on "Trout Fishing in White River" for Outdoor Life. Poor health compelled him to give up his work in April, 1909. He went to Colorado and later to California, but his condition grew suddenly critical and he died at Los Angeles on June 30. A few days before his death he received notice of his appointment to a position at Ohio Wesleyan which he had much desired. He was thirty years old, had never married, and leaves surviving him his father, mother and one brother.

After leavng Harvard in the spring of 1900 I became associated with my father in the Edwin S. Hartwell Lumber Company, Chicago, Ill. I have since followed the lumber industry. I have been connected with various companies in which my father was interested, on the Pacific coast and in the southeastern states. I am now permanently located in the wholesale lumber business in the east, where I have established the R. K. Hartwell Company, with headquarters in Baltimore, Md.

PAUL STANWOOD HARVEY

Born	Chicago, Ill., Dec. 31, 1878.
Parents	Turlington Walker, Belle Sheridan (Badger) Harvey.
School	Harvard School, Chicago, Ill
Degrees	(c. 1898-1900.)
Married	Adele Lawerence Shreve, Santa Barbara, Cal., Nov. 8, 1910.
Business	Landscape painter.
Address	R. F. D. 1, Santa Barbara, Cal.

In the spring of 1900 I entered the employ of the Acme Gas Company, Chicago, Ill., of which one year later I was elected secretary; in 1903 I was made president. In 1903, after moving its principal office to New York, the company sold its business to the Industrial Gas Company, a corporation of New York, having its offices in the Flatiron Building. I was chosen president of that company and resided in New York in that capacity from 1903 to 1907. In 1907 I resigned and became affiliated with the Chicago office of Lee, Higginson and Company of Boston, New York and Chicago. I remained there from 1907 until the summer of 1910, when I moved my residence from Chicago to Santa Barbara, Cal. Here I opened a studio for landscape painting, for which I was educated before entering college. Member: Chicago Club, Harvard Club of New York, Santa Barbara Country Club.

JOSEPH ALFRED HARWOOD

Born	Littleton, Mass., Oct. 17, 1880.

Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Manufacturer of assembly chairs.
Address	(home) Littleton, Mass.
	(business) 220 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

The fall following graduation I entered the Harvard Law School, though after a few days' attendance I was taken sick. My illness turned out to be a nervous breakdown, which kept me from regular occupation for two or three years. From May, 1903, to November, 1905, I spent the greater part of my time with relatives in Stamford, Conn., where I did more or less tutoring. The rest of the period was spent at my home in Littleton, Mass. In January, 1906, I started in business in Boston under my father, the late Herbert Joseph Harwood '77, a manufacturer of assembly chairs. The desire to teach had possessed me more or less for a number of years, so with that in view I left my father's employ in August, 1909, and entered the Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences. Upon his death in March, 1910, I left the University to take up his business again with my brother, Richard Green Harwood '09, with whom I have continued. I am president of the Littleton Historical Society. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Littleton, Mass.—Births, Marriages and Deaths to 1850" (compilation), 1909. Member: Littleton Historical Society.

Degrees	A.B., 1903.
Married	Catherine Bancroft, Cambridge, Mass., June 7, 1905.
Children	Theodore, 2d, June 9, 1906; Harold, Jan. 19, 1908; Frederick, Jan. 18, 1912.
Business	China manufacturer.
Address	(home) 29 Avenue de Juillet, Limoges, France.
	(business) Limoges, France; or 200 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.

In 1903 I returned home to France, where I engaged in china manufacturing with the firm of Theodore Haviland of Limoges. In May, 1905, I went to America and was married to Catherine Bancroft of Cambridge. We then returned to France to settle permanently in Limoges. I have since taken occasional business trips to America, on the average twice a year, for a few weeks' stay at a time. In 1905 I became a member of the manufacturing firm of Theodore Haviland, France, and in 1909 of the importing firm of Theodore Haviland and Company, 200 Fifth Ave., New York.

George Irving Hayes

Born	Rogazen, Germany, Oct. 7, 1880.
Parents	Henry, Frances (Schott) Hayes.
School	Dorchester High School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Died	Dorchester, Mass., Mar. 9, 1902.

George Irving Hayes was born in Rogazen, Germany, on October 7, 1880, the oldest son of Henry and Frances Hayes. He prepared for college at the new Dorchester High School, from which he graduated with high honors in 1898. He was among the first graduates of that school to enter Harvard, and was active in attracting other students to our college. He entered Harvard with the class of 1902, and although an inconspicuous member, always exhibited an ardent class and college spirit. His circumstances were such that he earned his own way through college, largely by tutoring and clerical work. He specialized in modern languages and chemistry, and in spite of poor health, very impaired eye-sight, and the handicap of outside work, he attained high ranking in his studies. On March 9, 1902, after qualifying for the coveted diploma, he died of heart failure. He was an odd, big-hearted, loving little fellow, and many will recall the thick black hair, the inquisitive eyes peering through the immense spectacles. His greatest delight was in duplicate whist, of which he had made a profound study. In the face of discouragement, he always preserved a "happy-go-lucky" optimism, which endeared him to those who knew him best.

WALTER DUTTON HEAD

Born	Revere, Mass., Sept. 17, 1881.
Parents	Abel, Mary Frances (Hancock) Head.
School	High School, Chelsea, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M. (Columbia), 1912.
Unmarried
Business	Teacher.
Address	(home) 104 Orchard St., West Somerville, Mass.

My first position was at the Volkmann School, Boston, where for two years I taught mainly French and German. Next I taught for a year at St. Mark's School, Southborough, Mass., then changed to Phillips Exeter Academy, where for six years I was in charge of the French work. In the summer of 1907 I studied at the Harvard Summer School and in the summer of 1908 was assistant to the director of the Summer School and president of the Summer School Association. The summers of 1906 and 1909 I spent abroad, chiefly in France and Italy. In 1910-1911 I was president of the New England Modern Language Association and member of the committee on recommended text books of the National Modern Language Association. This year, 1911-1912, as I am on leave of absence from Exeter, I am taking work in education, chiefly on the administrative side, in the Teachers' College of Columbia University. I have greatly enjoyed my work in the various schools for boys where I have taught. Though I recognize the limitations in the matter of salary and also something of the danger of narrowness connected with the profession, I have found that the many pleasant friendships with boys more than make up for these drawbacks. Member: New England Modern Language Association, National Modern Language Association.

Address	(home) 76 North 9th St., Newark, N. J.
	(business) 17 Battery Place, New York, N. Y.

In July, 1902, I entered the employ of the Coe Brass Manufacturing Company, Ansonia, Conn. In the fall of 1903 I reentered Harvard, continuing the study of engineering courses, with special stress upon the study of shipbuilding and marine engineering. On leaving the university in the summer of 1904, I began work for W. and A. Fletcher Company, marine engineers, of Hoboken, N. J. I aided upon the plans of the "Governor Cobb," one of the first turbine steamers built in this country, and later upon the plans of the "Hendric Hudson," a Hudson river boat. There being a dull period in the shipbuilding business, I left it in the fall of 1906 and entered the employ of the Otis Elevator Company of New York. I have been with them continually ever since. Member: Association of Harvard Engineers, Harvard Engineering Society of New York.

In June, 1904, I took my S.T.B. degree at the Harvard Divinity School. Before graduation I was called to the pulpit of the Third Religious Society in Dorchester, Mass., a Unitarian church; I was ordained and installed as minister of this parish in March, 1904. In November, 1906, I was called from there to the pulpit of the Church of the Messiah (Unitarian) of New York, as successor to Dr. Minot J. Savage: I entered upon this new ministry in February, 1907. It is this church which I am now serving. Among the offices which I have held, or am holding, are the following: president of the National Young People's Religious Union (1903-1904); director of the Free Religious Association (1905-1908); president of the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice (1908-1911); vice-president of the Middle States Conference of Unitarian Churches (1908-19—); director of the General Conference of Unitarians (1911-19—); director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (1910-19—); director of the Friendly Aid Settlement (1907-19—); vice-president of the Inter-Collegiate Socialist Society (1912-19—); president of the Liberal Club of New York (1912-19—); trustee of Flower Hospital and Homœopathic Medical College (1910-19—); associate editor of the "Unitarian Advance," associate editor of "Unity." A trip of four months abroad preceded my work in the Architectural School at Columbia University, which lasted from the autumn of 1902 to January, 1904. I next entered the office of McKim, Mead and White, architects. My work with this firm lasted until January, 1906, when I entered the office of John Russel Pope, architect, where I remained until May 1, 1908. During this period I acted in the capacity of both designer and associate. In association with Mr. Pope I designed and built the Women's Union Building at Fall River. On May 1, 1908, I opened an office for the practice of architecture under my name alone. This arrangement continued for three and a half years, during which I built the City Hospital at Danbury, Conn., the Savings Bank of Danbury, the Truesdale Private Hospital and the Quequechan Club of Fall River and other work in and about New York. On January 1, 1912, William N. Taylor '03, and Louis S. Weeks joined me in a partnership under the firm name of Hooper, Weeks and Taylor, architects. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Players of New York.

As I finished my college work in June, 1901, I went in the fall to the Harvard Medical School, where in June, 1905, I got my M.D. degree. I then received an appointment as a surgical house officer in the Massachusetts General Hospital, where I served from July, 1905, to December, 1906. After visiting a few medical centers, I served from February, 1907, to August, 1907, as house officer in the Boston Lying-in Hospital. For the next few months I assisted Dr. Joel Goldthwait of Boston. I worked in the surgical clinics of Boston until February, 1908, when I came to Rochester, N. Y. Here I became associated with Ralph R. Fitch in the practice of orthopedic surgery. In October, 1910, I took a month off, married, and visited Colorado. I am at present on the junior staff of the Rochester General Hospital, as well as orthopedic surgeon to the Rochester Public Health Association. Member: American Medical Association, American Roentgen Ray Society, Monroe County Medical Society, Hospital Medical Society of Rochester, Genesee Valley Club of Rochester.

FRANCIS CARY HOYT

Business Address	Real estate and insurance broker. (home) 86 Prospect St., Stamford, Conn. (business) 231 Atlantic St., Stamford, Conn.

In June, 1902, immediately after Commencement, I went abroad with my mother and sister, travelling for a year and a half through Europe. With no mapped out route, we journeyed wherever our mood led us, lingering at will, frequently in out-of-the-way places. In this manner we witnessed, among other things, a Passion Play at Brixlegg, Austria, remarkably performed, at which there were apparently no other "foreigners" but ourselves and one Englishman. The scenes and experiences of that trip I shall never forget. On returning home I became receiving clerk in the Sackett and Wilhelms Lithographing and Printing Company. It soon, however, became necessary for me to learn the real estate business, in order to enter a company in which our family is interested. After a short apprenticeship in New York I was elected treasurer and general manager of the Greyrock Land Company, a position I still hold. In the meantime I also became treasurer of the B. and H. Motor Car Company, 149 West 49th Street, New York, an office which I retained till its business was sold to the Coöperative Garage Company. I am also interested as an inactive partner in the Mill Remnants Company, 102 Greenwich Street, New York. Aside from these companies, I am a director in the H. L. Moxley Company, real estate, 320 Broadway, and carry on a local real estate and fire insurance business under my own name in Stamford and vicinity; this was established about six years ago. In local public affairs I am interested more actively in commercial progress than in politics, being a member of the committee on manufactures and trades of the Board of Trade in this fast growing, commercially active, and at the same time residentially beautiful city. I have daily cause to congratulate myself on the one great achievement of my life in November, 1909, an achievement which has made my life happy above the usual fortune of men. As worldly success is what people generally look at, I have written principally concerning what little I have achieved. Such a sketch in reality gives next to nothing of life. For more intimate expression personal relations are necessary, relations which I hope will be entered upon or strengthened at the Decennial or at any time when circumstances make it possible for me to meet with any of my classmates. Member: Morris County Golf Club, Harvard Club of New Jersey, Harvard Club of New York, University Club of New York, Stamford Yacht Club, Suburban Club of Stamford.

Although when he said "many lives will be written, and, for the gratification of innocent curiosity ought to be written," Carlyle was not referring to the Harvard classes, he is an excellent authority for a custom, which makes a man of "Decennial Age" feel, at the least, like a United States senator with his "Recollections of Fifty Years." We must bow to fate, however, to the extent of the following brief outline. In the autumn of the same year in which I graduated from college I entered the Harvard Law School, in which, hampered by an operation and by strained eyes, I spent four years before receiving my degree of LL.B. in 1906. During one of the summers of the Law School period, in 1903, I spent eight weeks sightseeing with my family in England, France, Scotland and Wales. A few days after graduating from the Law School I took the bar examination for the Massachusetts Bar, and passed, being sworn in September 21, 1906. On November 26, 1907, I was admitted as a member of the Federal Bar for the district of Massachusetts. Beside the practice of law I have had other interests, among them those connected with the civil service and with charitable work. In the matter of the former I became a member in the latter part of the year 1910, of the council and executive committee of the Massachusetts Civil Service Association. In the matter of charitable work I have recently been elected chairman of the conference of district 15 of the Boston Associated Charities. I have not held or run for any political office, my only connection with politics having been the slight one of "ward-heeling." Member: Bar Association of the City of Boston, Council of the Massachusetts Civil Service Association, Bostonian Society.

Died	Sandy Hill, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1910.

Grenville Howland Ingalsbe, only child of Grenville Mellen Ingalsbe (LL.B. Harvard 1872) and Franc Groesbeck Ingalsbe, was born at Sandy Hill (now Hudson Falls), New York, November 8, 1878. His ancestry was notable. On the paternal side it led to Captain Ebenezer Ingalsbe, one of the minutemen at Lexington, and to early Puritan settlers of New England, Deacon Samuel Chapin, the founder of Springfield, Henry Cook, of Salem (1638), and Thomas Harris, of Ipswich (1636), and through them to long lines of distinguished ancestors in England and on the continent. On the maternal side he was descended from Maurice Wells, a Quaker of the Providence Plantations, and from Jonathan Kingsley and Nathaniel Barnett of English, and Walter Groesbeck of Dutch ancestry, all soldiers of the American Revolution. He prepared for college at the Glens Falls Academy and at Phillips Exeter, where he was of the class of 1899. In the fall of 1898, however, he passed his examinations and entered Harvard in the class of 1902. At that time he had a remarkably well balanced physique. He suffered, however, a severe attack of diphtheria and congestion of the lungs in his sophomore and junior years, and a final breakdown in March of his senior year, from which he never recovered. He graduated with his class, and at once entered his father's office, as a student of law, preparatory to attendance at the Harvard Law School. It soon became apparent that he could not pursue the law as his vocation, and he spent the two ensuing years at Saranac Lake, obtaining however, only temporary relief. He then returned to his parents' home at Sandy Hill, and assumed charge of the large ancestral farm at South Hartford, nine miles distant. He devoted himself to its management with intense enthusiasm, engaging, with signal success, in dairy and tillage husbandry, and the breeding of high grade cattle and swine. Later he acquired a two-thirds interest in a lumber syndicate, operating in Vermont, and a half interest in a flourishing coal business at Sandy Hill. With associates, he engaged in the manufacture of wood pulp and paper at Plattsburgh, and organized and held a third interest in the Adirondack Motor Car Company. Thus, though handicapped by the constant advance of an incurable malady, he led a busy life to the end. His struggle for living was so earnest, his spirit so indomitable, and his will so regnant, that he was confined to the house for only four days before his death on February 26, 1910. He was a member of the Kingsbury Club, the Adirondack Automobile Association, the New York State Historical Association, and the Phillips Exeter Alumni Association. He was vice-president of the Adirondack Motor Car Company, the secretary of the Progressive Pulp and Paper Company, and an active partner in the firms of Nichols and Ingalsbe and the Empire Coal Company. Heredity and training had particularly fitted him to grapple intelligently with the social and civic problems of the present and the future. He was a man of culture and took great interest in public affairs and in world politics. Unostentatious, self-centered and retiring, he was reserved, except to his intimates, but all those who knew him liked him, admired his good sense and marvelled at his wealth of information. Ill health alone prevented him from attaining worthy distinction among the world's workers, in whose ranks he longed for a place.

"Born for success he seemed.
With grace to win, with heart to hold.
All pledged in coming days to forge
Weapons to guard the State."

During my senior year I took the first year's work at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, from which I received an S.T.B. degree in 1904. For a little over two years I was curate in the Church of the Epiphany, New York. In the summer of 1904 I took the course in the New York Summer School of Philanthropy. For a year afterwards I served as secretary of the Cambridge Club of New York, of which I was later president. My next calls were as vicar of Christ Church, Newark, N. J., and as rector of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, Mass. In the fall of 1907 I began my rectorship in St. John's Church, East Boston. Apart from the parochial work I have been interested in local and municipal enterprises and in some educational movements. I served two terms as president of the East Boston Conference of the Associated Charities; was a trustee of "The World in Boston"; and was president of the Boston Latin School Class of 1898. I now hold the following offices: secretary of the Alumni Association of the Cambridge Theological School; vice-president of the Massachusetts Sunday School Association; delegate to the Diocesan Board of Education; vice-president of the East Boston Gymnasium Athletic Association; director of the Boston Federation of Churches; trustee of the Maverick Dispensary; and member of the examining committee of the Boston Public Library.

Address	(home) "The Oaks," Lancaster Ave., Haverford, Pa. (business) Haverford School, Haverford, Pa.

Every summer I have spent in Camp Pasquaney, Bridgewater, N. H., a boys' camp, in which I have acted in the capacity of general manager. It may be of interest to other members of the class to know that Camp Pasquaney originally taught to row Elliott and Roger Cutler of the crew. In the fall of 1902 I entered Milton Academy as a teacher with Donald Gregg, remaining there until 1905. I then taught in Colorado Springs during the ensuing year; at Christmas time I visited the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. The following September I went into business with the firm of Farnsworth, Hoyt and Company of Boston. In the summer I returned to camp work. In the fall of 1907 I received an appointment as teacher in the Haverford School, where I have remained ever since, as head of the history department. In 1909 I joined the Orpheus Club of Philadelphia, an old singing organization. In 1910 I married Eleanor Cary Abercrombie of St. Petersburg, Fla. Member: Orpheus Club of Philadelphia.

WILLIAM DANIELS JAMIESON

Born	Chicago, Ill., June 22, 1878.

I resigned from the Lawrence Scientific School at the end of my third year. I had decided to do so because my father's firm, Jamieson and Company, Chicago, bankers and brokers, failed a few months previous. Although a number of my relatives were anxious for me to finish and get my degree, and offered to help me financially, I preferred to get to work. I accordingly returned to Chicago and through the influence of an uncle obtained a position in a rice mill, the Creole Cereal Company, at Grand Crossing, Chicago, Ill. On account of poor management the concern dissolved. I next went with Dr. Charles B. Gibson, mining engineer and chemist, Chicago, to learn assaying, as I had been offered a position with the Bullion Mining Company at Keystone, S. D. On account of a serious illness and operation I never accepted the position. Afterwards I was a salesman for about a year with the Peabody Coal Company of Chicago. In 1905 I was offered a position with the American Radiator Company by Mr. Charles S. Parker, its treasurer. I became connected with our Chicago branch, but was later transferred to the St. Louis branch. Six years ago I came to our Boston branch. I have been with the American Radiator Company for nearly eight years.

After obtaining the degree of A.B. with my class, I spent the next two years in finishing at the Harvard Law School the course which I had begun in the fall of 1901; I received the degree of LL.B. in June, 1904. In the fall of that year

I took up my residence in New York, where I have since resided and where in the spring of the following year I commenced the general practice of law. I spent four or five months in each of several law offices of well-known lawyers in that city. In January, 1906, I became associated with the legal department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, New York, an association which has continued to the present time. In March, 1904, I was admitted to practice in Massachusetts; in May, 1905, in New York, and in March, 1910, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Economic Club.

In the fall of 1902 I returned to take a make-up examination, which I passed, entitling me to my degree. At the same time I entered the Law School of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., where I remained until April 1, 1905. I left before taking final examinations, in order to accept a position in Boston in the patent department of the United Shoe Machinery Company. I left in June, 1906, and became an associate in the office of Emery and Booth, counsellors-at-law, of Boston, Mass. In March, 1910, I became a member of that firm, the style of which was changed to Emery, Booth, Janney and Varney. We have offices in Boston and New York for the practice of patent, trade mark, unfair competition, copyright, corporation and general business law. Member: Harvard Club of New York.

JOSEPH JENSON

Born	St. Charles, Ida., Dec. 5, 1867.
Parents	Andrew, Hannah Jenson.
School	Brigham Young College, Logan, Utah.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Married	Irena Boyer Mendenhall, Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 23, 1896.
Children	Joseph Richard, Nov. 24, 1897; Robert Elwood, June 6, 1901; Elna Catherine, July 15, 1903; Irena Mae, Oct. 16, 1904.
Business Address	Consulting and construction engineer. (home) Springville, Utah. (temporary business) Marysvale, Utah.

During 1901-1902, my one year in Harvard, I was on leave of absence from the Utah Agricultural College, Logan, Utah. In September, 1902, I returned to resume my former position as head of the School of Engineering and Mechanic Arts. I continued in this capacity until June, 1907, when I resigned to enter the field of practical engineering. In August of the same year I accepted the position of construction engineer for the Utah State Board of Land Commissioners. The immediate work in hand was an irrigation project known as the Hatchtown project, which included a large storage reservoir dam, diversion dam, canal and auxiliaries. Two years later, before the completion of this, the board undertook the construction of another much larger and more important irrigation project, known as the Pinti, for which I was appointed engineer-in-chief. This project, too, includes a large storage reservoir dam and about sixty miles of diversion canal; it is still under way. During the last two years I have also had charge of the state highway construction in two counties. I have been employed in addition as engineer on design, inspection engineer and consulting engineer on numerous private projects, including irrigation, highway, bridge, water and electric power engineering. Member: Commercial Club of Salt Lake City, Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, National Education Association.

My first position was with the Bethlehem Steel Company of South Bethlehem, Pa., whose employ I entered on July 7, 1902. I remained there until October, 1904, when I entered the employ of Westinghouse, Church, Kerr and Company of New York, working in New York and in various parts of the country until October, 1906. At that time I began work for the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York, under whose direction the new Catskill Aqueduct is being constructed. I was assigned to the office of the southern aqueduct department at White Plains, N. Y., where I remained until April, 1909. Upon the opening up of construction work at that time, I was transferred to Section Office 1 of the Croton division; from September, 1910, to the present time I have been in charge of the section. Business	Telephone superintendant.
Address	(home) Nayasset Club, Springfield, Mass.
	(business) 283 Worthington St., Springfield, Mass.

On leaving college in 1900 I went to work for the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. I was clerk in the general manager's office until December, 1901, when, on account of the strain of my college life, I was sent to Bermuda for four months to recuperate. On my return I again entered their service as post hole digger and lineman. In June, 1902, the call of the wild induced me to spend six months in the Maine woods. At the end of this vacation I again became a lineman. I have gradually advanced to inspector, field engineer, and now to my present position as division superintendent of the plant of the Western Division, with headquarters at Springfield, Mass., where I have been since August, 1908. My territory extends from Wellesley to New York, and from Connecticut to Canada. Member: Nayasset Club of Springfield, Country Club of Springfield, Worcester Club of Worcester.

Children	Stillman Francis, 2d, June 3, 1906.
Business	Travel and study.
Died	Camden, Me., May 24, 1911.

Stillman Randolph Kelley at the close of his second year as a member of the class of 1902 was forced, on account of ill-health, to discontinue his work at Harvard College. Enduring manfully the cross laid so heavily upon him he was relieved of his burden on May 24, 1911, leaving a multitude of sorrowing friends and a grief-stricken family. Denied the opportunity of exercising his unusual executive ability and keen judgment in business affairs by engaging in any active concern, his heart trouble and lack of hearing in no way discouraged him from leading a life of unlimited study. His mind was a storehouse of inexhaustible information inclusive and practical. His retentive memory afforded him the enduring resource which extended travel, constant association with good reading and keen observation enabled him to possess. His love of nature and close intimacy with the out-of-doors helped him retain his courage and reflect great sunshine into the lives of others. Always the cheeriest one in any gathering, always the thoughtful one about little courtesies that smooth the path of daily life, kindly in spirit and generous in thought and action, he endeared himself to every soul with whom he came in contact. A life of purity, unselfishness and good cheer in spite of trials has left an enduring influence and example that Time cannot efface, but memory will only perpetuate.

Business	Principal of private school.
Address	(home) Willsboro, N. Y.
	(business) North Stonington, Conn.

As I was considerably older than the average man in my class, and as I was one of the "toilers," I had no opportunity to do post-graduate work at Harvard, nor to take an extended trip abroad. I began work at once. For two years in college I had acted as clerk at the "Cedars," a summer hotel at West Chop, Mass. After graduation I was made business manager of the Tashmoo Club, an organization which owned the "Cedars" and ran a large summer colony. In the fall I was appointed principal of the high school at Vineyard Haven, Mass., a position in which I remained one year. For two years I was principal of the high school at Wareham, Mass., continuing as manager of the club during the summers. From Wareham I went to North Easton, Mass., as principal of the Oliver Ames High School, where I remained three years. I then went to North Stonington, Conn., again acting as principal, but this time of a tiny little private school, one very beautiful and full of possibilities. I have been in my present position four years next September. Each time I changed I did so without "local pressure" and with a generous increase of salary. I have never yet done anything brilliant, unless to become the father of five bouncing babies in ten years may be considered brilliant. I dropped my work at West Chop some four years ago, just as soon as I felt I could afford to. Since then I have done considerable work on the lecture platform. I run three regular lectures, the Awkward Boy, the Gifted Girl, and Parents, Wise and Otherwise. In addition to this I frequently speak before gatherings of various kinds. At present I am working on a series of short stories and a book of poems. Member: Masonic fraternity, Grange.

Business	Merchant.
Address	Babylon, Long Island, N. Y.

I left college in March, 1902. I spent two years in the Indian Territory, where I was assistant secretary in a coal mining industry. Then I went into the real estate business in New York, where I remained for two years. Since then I have lived in Babylon, L. I., devoting myself to the science of raising fancy fowl. I am still trying to find out how to raise them successfully and keep them from passing gently away. My principal hobbies are shooting, golf, and trying to run a motor car without tire trouble. Member: Harvard Club, Babylon Club, Short Beach Club, South Shore Field Club.

Business	Civil engineer.
Address	(home) 129 Richards Place, West Haven, Conn. (business) 106 Office Building, New Haven, Conn.

In June, 1901, I left college to accept a position in municipal engineering. After four years in this work I entered the employ of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, where I was engaged in the investigation of disputed land lines in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. In April, 1910, I accepted the position of assistant engineer in the real estate department, in which I had charge of the field and office force engaged in resurveys. On January 1, 1912, I was appointed engineer of real estate to the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company. Member: Connecticut Society of Civil Engineers.

Business	Cattleman.
Address	(home) Hacienda El Alamo, Sonora, Mex.
	(business) Magdalena, Sonora, Mex.

Early in 1901, a few months after leaving Harvard, I accepted a position as assistant superintendent at the Klondyke camp in the Magdalena district of Sonora, Mex., where I took charge of the cyanide plant, a position I held for two years. After being bady poisoned by zinc and quicksilver fumes, I was advised by my doctors to give up my position and lead an open air life. I therefore contracted with the company to carry the pay roll cash and the bullion between mine and town. When the Klondyke mine shut down, I was transferred to La Brisca as store manager for the Green Gold Company. In 1905 I went to Llanos de Oro as paymaster for the company of that name. After about a year and a half the Llanos de Oro Mining and Milling Company of Albar, Sonora, also shut down and I was made auditor and paymaster of the South Cananea Copper Company, Cananea, Sonora. In 1908 I decided to go into business for myself, so I helped form the Alamo Cattle Company, in which I am president, and own a half interest. Member: Old Pueblo Club of Tucson, Santa Cruz Club of Nogales, Cananea Club of Cananea.

Frank Shapleigh King

Born	Lebanon, Conn., June 4, 1871.
Parents	John Shapleigh, Susan Harriett (Cross) King.
School	State Normal School, Willimantic, Conn.
Degrees	(s. 1898-1900.)
Married	Aurelia May Slater, Tyringham, Mass., June 26, 1895.
Business	Teacher.
Died	Lebanon, Conn., Aug. 7, 1905.

Frank S. King died of typhoid fever August 7, 1905, at the age of thirty-four. After graduating at the Willimantic Normal Training School, Conn., he took a two years' course at Harvard College, specializing in chemistry, geology and physical geography. Then he taught two years at Cochituate and one year at Hyde Park, Mass. He was appointed submaster in the Brimmer School, Boston, November, 1904. Mr. King was a natural teacher, and early decided to make teaching his vocation. He was a man of unusual ability and strength of character. He possessed excellent disciplinary power and was one of the most enthusiastic, progressive and promising of our young teachers. His short term of service at the Brimmer was eminently successful; he readily secured the esteem and confidence of pupils, parents and associate teachers who deeply feel his loss. He possessed a remarkably happy, genial disposition, which secured for him a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

BENJAMIN BLANDY LEE

Born	Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 28, 1877.
Parents	George William, Laura (Blandy) Lee.
School	Central High School, Kansas City, Mo.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1900.)
Unmarried
Business	Real estate dealer.
Address	(home) 4330 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo.
	(business) Finance Building, Kansas City, Mo.

Upon leaving Harvard I became a lumber-shover in the Central Coal and Coke Company's mill at Neame, La. By the end of fourteen months I was one of the superintendent's assistants. During the year which followed I was the company's city salesman in Kansas City. Then, in a twinkling, circumstances arose which made it necessary for me to change my business. I accordingly became what I am now and shall probably always remain, a dealer in Kansas City real estate, buying and selling, platting and improving. For nine years I have been a vestryman in St. Paul's Episcopal Church here; last year I was chairman of the building committee which erected the rectory. From June, 1909, to June, 1911, I was treasurer of the City Club of Kansas Ctiy, an organization which has as its slogan, "Make Kansas City a good place to live in." I am at present a member of this club's executive committee. In 1909 I succeeded in interesting the late Mr. Thomas H. Swope, then Kansas City's most philanthropic citizen, in a plan to establish here a social settlement modelled after Hull House in Chicago. I obtained from him for the purpose fifty thousand dollars. A second fifty thousand dollars was raised by the Settlement's directors in small subscriptions from the people of Kansas City, after which the Thomas H. Swope Settlement was permanently established. In 1910 I was elected vice-president of the Settlement, and in 1911 and 1912 I was elected its president. In 1910 I was appointed by Governor Hadley to represent Missouri at the National and International Prison Congresses, which met in Washington, D. C. In 1911 I was chairman of the settlement and educational movements committee of the First Kansas City Child Welfare Exhibit. The same year I was appointed by Mayor Darius A. Brown to represent Kansas City at the Missouri State Conference of Charities and Corrections. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Thomas H. Swope Settlement Year Book, 1911-1912. Member: University Club of Kansas City, Harvard Club of Kansas City, Commercial Club of Kansas City, Knife-and-Fork Club of Kansas City, City Club of Kansas City, Real Estate Board of Kansas City.

Children	Dorothy, June 18, 1904.
Business	Manufacturer.
Died	Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 16, 1908.

Charles Edward Leighton, in 1904, went to New York City as assistant superintendent of a building in process of construction. Becoming interested in a device that he hit upon for putting a lock without visible bolt or screw on a safe, he withdrew from the building business, got out a patent, "The Leighton Lock Protector," formed a stock company, engaged salesmen, and undertook to put his invention on the market. He eventually got the Navy Department at Washington to adopt it on several of the government safes. Excess of worry and indoor life induced consumption. He left New York for Colorado to regain health. But he succumbed to the affliction in August, 1908. His body was brought back to Boston, and interred in the cemetery at Forest Hills.

Business	Mining engineer.
Address	(home) Milton, Mass.
	(busines) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.

A few months after graduating I went out to Telluride, Colo., where I worked for the Smuggler-Union Mining Company. After working for them for a couple of years and getting more or less mixed up in some strikes, I started in for myself, spending most of my time in the west. In 1906 I was in the Soudan looking at a mine supposed to have been worked by King Solomon. In 1909 I got married and took a trip around the world. In 1910 I formed a partnership with Robert Livermore with an office in Boston. I have spent very little time there, however, as my present work keeps me in Ontario. Member: Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, Harvard Club of New York, Alta Club of Salt Lake City, Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, American Institute of Mining Engineers.

Henry Weidemann Locke

Born	Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 16, 1880.
Parents	Warren Andrew '69, Madeline (Weidemann) Locke.
School	Cambridge English High School.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Electrical engineer.
Died	New York, N. Y., Apr. 7, 1905.

From boyhood up, Henry Weidemann Locke had a most bright, cheerful and lovable disposition. He had a fondness for mechanical studies and after graduating from the English High School in Cambridge, he entered the class of 1902 at Harvard, taking the scientific courses. He distinguished himself in his studies and graduated with a "cum laude." He was president of the Electrical Club during his senior year. In athletics he entered the contests in running, hurdling and football, being a member of the University squad. After graduation he took a position in the office of Stone and Webster, and the next year he was sent by the firm as assistant in their electrical plant at Dallas, Tex. The following year, through the recommendation of the late William H. Baldwin '85, president of the Long Island Railroad, he obtained a position in the office of the Church, Westinghouse Company in New York. He was stricken with scarlet fever and died April 7, 1905, after an illness of a few days. Those who had been associated with him sent their testimony of his devotion and enthusiasm in his work and how he had endeared himself to all who knew him. The following year the annual "Henry Weidemann Locke Scholarship" was established at Harvard in his memory by the Misses Houghton, members of his family.

JOSIAH ORNE LOW

Born	Brooklyn, N. Y., June 14, 1879.
Parents	Chauncey Edward, Mary Thompson (Frothingham) Low.
School	Polytechnic Preparatory School, Brooklyn, N. Y.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Married	Dorothy Lewis, Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 13, 1906.
Children	Dorothy, Apr. 20, 1907; Mary Frothingham, June 12, 1909; Josiah Orne, Jr., May 20, 1912.
Business	Banker.
Address	(home) 42 Remsen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
	(business) 37 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

I have lived in Brooklyn continuously since graduation, spending the summers at Bayshore, L. I., from which I have commuted to New York. Brooklyn Heights, with its informal life and its accessibility to the Wall Street district both by ferry and subway, is an unusually desirable home centre. The Heights Casino, a very modern and particularly well equipped club for lawn tennis and squash, is just around the corner from my home, and is, of course, a great source of pleasure. From the autumn of 1902 I have been working in the financial line in New York. I have been in the employ of Moffat and White, now White, Weld and Company, and of N. W. Harris and Company, now Harris, Forbes and Company. On March 1, 1911, my present New York Stock Exchange firm of Low, Dixon and Company was formed. This firm consists of Howard A. Plummer, Theodore P. Dixon and myself. Both of my partners are Yale men; Dixon is the member of the New York Stock Exchange. Our business is of a strictly investment character, very largely in bonds. My interests outside of my home life and my business have not been very diversified. My recreation in the summer has been to a great extent sailing and sailboat racing on the great South Bay. In the winter I get much regular exercise at squash and tennis. I have been interested in local politics and have tried to do such work in other branches of civic betterment as time has allowed. At present, however, the family and business do not permit of many outside activities. Member: University Club of New York, Harvard Club of New York, Heights Casino of Brooklyn, Hamilton Club of Brooklyn.

BARNARD COFFIN LUCE

Born	Holliston, Mass., Feb. 27, 1879.
Parents	Barnard, Sarah Osborn (Coffin) Luuce.
School	Phillips Academy, Andover.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Stockbroker.
Address	(home) 35 Bowen St., Newton Centre, Mass.
	(business) 82 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

After graduating from Harvard I went to the copper country of Michigan, where I found employment as chemist for the Lake Superior Smelting Company. For the next two years I was located in the town of Dollar Bay, Mich., where I was isolated from all college affairs. Upon returning to Boston in 1905 I was employed by the firm of Paine, Webber and Company, with which I have been connected to the present time. Member: Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club.

Gilbert Haven Luce

Born	Westbrook, Me., Mar. 9, 1879.
Parents	Israel, Alice Elizabeth (Ostrum) Luce.
School	Berwick Academy, South Berwick, Me.
Degrees	(c. 1898-1901.)
Unmarried
Died	South Berwick, Me., Feb. 11, 1902.

Gilbert Haven Luce died after a lingering illness of nearly two years, on February 11, 1902, within a few months from the time he was to have realized the great ambition of his life—a degree of A.B. from Harvard College. His father was Rev. Israel Luce, a Methodist minister of the Maine Conference, at one time Presiding Elder of the Portland District; his mother, who survives her husband, is Alice Elizabeth Luce, now residing at Old Orchard, Me. Gilbert Haven Luce attended the Butler and Portland High Schools in Portland, Me., and fitted for college at Berwick Academy, South Berwick, Me., where he was graduated with the highest honors of his class. The combination of hard study and his efforts to help himself through college left him in too weak a condition successfully to fight off the attack of Bright's disease which seized him in his third year in college. He was obliged to leave in April, 1901. He had intended to enter the Harvard Law School after college graduation, but during his long sickness he felt that if he lived he would enter a theological school and study for the ministry.

Business	Cotton manufacturer.
Address	(home) 138 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; Beaver St., Waltham, Mass.
	(business) 50 State St., Boston, Mass.

After graduating I went to Europe with three classmates for about three months. Returning early in the autumn, I went to work in my father's office; my father was treasurer of a cotton mill and a bleachery. In 1904 I became treasurer of the Waltham Bleachery and Dye Works; in 1905 treasurer of the Boston Manufacturing Company; in 1910 treasurer of the Whittenton Manufacturing Company, and in 1911 treasurer of the Salmon Falls Manufacturing Company. These last three are cotton mills. I am at present treasurer of the four corporations. Member: Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, Exchange Club of Boston, Harvard Club of New York.

Business	Merchant tailor.
Address	(home) 1021 East 46th St., Chicago, Ill. (business) Monroe St. and Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

In 1903 I was with Marshall Field and Company, where I received preliminary instruction in merchandising. In 1904 and 1905 I was going through a schooling in connection with my father's business, that of merchant tailoring. I had originally planned to go into law, but as my father's well-established business was waiting for me, I decided to take hold of what looked like a sure thing, rather than to go into something that was a speculation. From 1905 to 1907 I was under my father personally. At his death in 1908 I was put in charge and have been so up to the present date. In connection with my business I have been active in organization work, notably in the Chicago Association of Commerce and in the local and national associations of merchant tailors. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Articles in trade magazines, American Gentleman, Croonborg Sartorial Art Journal and Mitchell's Sartorial Art Journal. Member: Association of Commerce of Chicago, Chicago Athletic Association, University Club of Chicago, South Shore Country Club of Chicago, Harvard Club of Chicago, Art Institute of Chicago, National Association of Merchant Tailors of America.

In June, 1902, I began work as travelling salesman for McClure, Phillips and Company, book publishers. I left them late in the fall of 1902 to go with William Filene's Sons Company of Boston as assistant to the merchandise manager. In the spring of 1904 I resigned to take charge of the eastern newsstand circulation of the American Magazine, Good Housekeeping and Success. On January 1, 1905, I left these publishers to accept a position as manager of circulation for Everybody's Magazine. In September, 1907, I took charge of the newsstand circulation of Hampton's Magazine and the Woman's Home Companion. In July, 1908, I took a three months' rest. In October, 1908, I assumed the management of the circulation of the Pictorial Review, with which I am still connected. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Delta Upsilon Club of New York, Port Washington Yacht Club, Manhasset Bay Yacht Club, Periodical Publishers' Association of America.

In September, 1902, I organized the Marsh Publishing Company and began the publication of a monthly magazine called "The Suburban"; the title was later changed to "Suburban Life." I was editor and publisher of this publication until 1905, when I sold my interest and organized the Marsh Press, Incorporated, which took over an old established Boston printing and publishing plant. In 1907 I organized the Publishers' Press, Incorporated, a company formed to do general book manufacturing, specializing in the printing of school and college text books. Of this company, which absorbed the Marsh Press, I acted as treasurer and general manager. I was also occupied as the editor of Marsh's Magazine, a publication which I started in 1908. In 1910 I closed out all my printing and publishing interests. I have since devoted all my time to real estate and land development in greater Boston. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Magazine articles and editorial work. Member: St. John's Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Boston.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 747 Broadway, South Boston, Mass. (business) 10 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

As I had completed my course in the middle of my senior year, I obtained a leave of absence from February to June, 1902, when I received my degree with the class. From March till October, 1902, I was employed as an assistant buyer at William Filene's Sons Company, Boston, Mass. In October, 1902, I was appointed through the Civil Service lists a clerk in the office of the counsel to the Board of Police of Boston. I continued in various clerical capacities with the Board of Police, my duties including gathering records of criminals at the various penal institutions, working on the Bertillon system of identification and devising and carrying on methods for the recovery of stolen property. This, together with some work in connection with the granting of liquor licenses by the Board of Police, engaged my time until February, 1906. During the period above mentioned I had studied law in evening school and with tutors. In December, 1905, I took the examinations for admission to the practice of law in Massachusetts. Upon notification in February, 1906, of my having successfully passed, I was immediately appointed by the Board of Police as its counsel, in place of John Forbes Perkins, '99, who just resigned. I remained counsel to the Board of Police from February, 1906, to August, 1906, when I entered private practice, as the Legislature had replaced the Board of Police by a single Police Commissioner and by a Licensing Board to have control of the liquor license question. Since August, 1906, I have been engaged in the general practice of law. Member: Catholic Union of Boston, Catholic Alumni Sodality of Boston, Charitable Irish Society of Boston, Knights of Columbus.

Gilbert Simrall Meem

Born	Mount Jackson, Va., Mar. 26, 1880.
Parents	Gilbert Simrall, Nannie Rose (Garland) Meem.
School	Shattuck School, Fairbault, Minn.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Electrical engineer.
Died	Seattle, Wash., Jan. 25, 1904.

Gilbert Meem was born in Virginia of Virginia ancestry on both sides—four uncles having lost their lives in the Confederacy. At the age of eleven he came to Seattle with his parents. His preparation for college is given in the above form. After graduation in 1902 he entered the Lawrence Scientific School and took an active part in that department, was president of the Engineering Society and editor-in-chief of the Engineering Magazine. He returned to Seattle in 1905 and entered the employ of Stone and Webster so as to get practical experience in electricity, expecting to return to college in a year to get a second degree. In January, 1904, he died under an operation for appendicitis at the home of his parents, whose only son he was. Owing to his enthusiastic and energetic temperament and exceptionable advantages in the way of broadening experience and education, he seemed one of the men for whom a successful, happy and useful life might have been safely predicted.

This story emphasizes the fact that a medical aspirant sometimes has a long row to hoe. I started mine twelve years ago with such venerable stand-bys as Zoölogy 1 and Hygiene 1; I have been in active practice for only a few months. From 1902 to 1906, while still living in Cambridge, I attended the Harvard Medical School. Our class was the last to graduate from the old medical buildings on Boylston Street. A month after graduation I became surgical house officer at the Massachusetts General Hospital, with Green, Richardson, Chapin and one or two other stalwarts of 1902. This appointment lasted until December, 1907. Shortly thereafter I was made assistant resident physician at the State Hospital at Tewksbury, Mass. This position I resigned in May, 1909, to return to the Massachusetts General as assistant resident physician. I have been somewhat of a backslider, however, for since February 1, 1912, I have been an ordinary country "doc" at Concord, N. H. My practice is general at present, but I hope later to do surgery, especially orthopedic surgery. I have formed a partnership with Robert J. Graves, '00. I doubt if there can be a repetition of the familiar chestnut of 1902 putting it all over 1900. We hope rather to pull evenly and eliminate so much disease that Concord will yet become famous. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Papers on sundry medical subjects in medical periodicals. Member: Wonolancet Club of Concord, N. H.

Business	Teacher.
Address	(home) 29 Berwick St., Orange, N. J.
	(business) 155 West 65th St., New York, N. Y.

For the first three years after leaving Harvard I served time in several small private schools. I taught English Latin, French, German, algebra, spelling, reading, arithmetic, geography and perhaps a few more subjects; woke up boys at seven A. M.; served the hash; put boys to bed at ten P. M.; policed the dormitory halls until 11 P. M.; read 3,456½ books on "the child," "theory of interest, or let the teacher do the work," the "serious" system and "group-doops," and corrected for amusement twenty-three thousand and twenty-three exercises and test papers. I strove to make my mark, yet became one myself. I graduated from "Jale" (pun!) in the fall of 1905, when I was appointed instructor of German in the Paterson High School, Paterson, N. J.; I held this position until May 8, 1911. A year's leave of absence I spent abroad as teacher of conversational English in German secondary schools, upon the appointment of the Prussian Minister of Public Instruction. For the winter semester (1909-1910) I was assigned to Oberrealschule der Franckéschen Stiftungen at Halle an-der-Saale and for the summer semester to Realgymnasium at Potsdam. I was a student at the University of Halle, my subjects being German, history and middle high German. I had a most delightful, profitable and honorable experience abroad and made many good friends. In May, 1911, I was appointed assistant teacher of German in the High School of Commerce, New York, where I am still. I expect to remain in the profession of teaching, unless discharged for lack of serious-mindedness. Member: Harvard Club of New Jersey, Free and Accepted Masons.

LANDON CLARENCE MOORE

Born	Cincinnati, O., Mar. 10, 1875.

Business	Analytical and consulting chemist.
Address	(home) 1820 Lear St., Dallas, Tex.
	(business) 209 1-2 Lane St., Dallas, Tex.

Immediately after graduating I entered the employ of the Proctor and Gamble Company, Ivorydale, O., as assistant chemist. Soon after I was promoted to research chemist and assistant superintendent of their cotton oil refinery. In July, 1903, I went to Greenville, Tex., as chief chemist of the Texas Refining Company. I remained in Greenville until the summer of 1907, when I moved to Dallas, Tex. At the latter town I opened a small commercial chemical laboratory, which has grown each year until now it is the largest and best equipped commercial laboratory in the south. For three and a half years of this time I was also city chemist of Dallas, spending most of my time in prosecuting violators of the Pure Food and Drug Act; I obtained one hundred and thirty-one convictions out of a total of one hundred and forty-one cases tried. I am chairman of the boys' work committee of the Men and Religion Forward Movement of Dallas; president of the National Newsboys' Association of Dallas; elder and superintendent of the Sunday School of the Central Christian Church, one of the largest in the city; and member of the executive committee of the Texas State Sunday School Association. Member: Chemists' Club of New York, American Chemical Society, English Chemical Society, Society of Chemical Industry, Society of Cotton Products Analysts, Association of Harvard Chemists.

After graduation I spent three months travelling abroad with my good friend and classmate, Charlie Platt. On my return, as I decided to take up landscape architecture as a profession, I entered the office of S. Burnett, New York, for a year. I then determined to enlarge my education along those lines. I accordingly took the winter course at the Cornell Agricultural College, returned to Cambridge and entered the Graduate School in the department of landscape architecture, where I studied for three years, with summer work on leaving Cambridge. For a few months I was in the office of Arthur Shurtleff, L.A., then took office room with Parker, Thomas and Rich, architects, at 110 State Street, Boston. In the fall of 1910 I moved into larger quarters at 89 State Street, where I am still practicing. I was married in the fall of 1906, and have three fine children, two boys and one girl. We live on a beautifully situated farm at Millis, Mass., where we deal in milk and apples as farm products for market. Business	Teacher.

Address	(home) 15 Whitby Terrace, Dorchester, Mass.
	(business) Frothingham School, Charlestown, Mass.

On the completion of eighteen courses in 1901, I secured a leave of absence for my senior year and at once entered the teaching profession as a substitute in the Boston schools, day and evening. In June, 1902, after receiving my degree, I was elected to the principalship of the first Charlestown Vacation School, where I introduced athletics as a branch of the curriculum; this position I held for four seasons. In January, 1904, the School Committee appointed me sub-master in the Dudley District, Roxbury. In April, 1912, I received an appointment as master of the Frothingham District, Charlestown. In October, 1905, I was elected principal of the Hancock Evening School. In 1904 I organized and began to drill the Dudley School Cadets. This organization of one hundred boys still holds the honor of being the only elementary school military body in Boston organized and instructed according to United States Army regulations. In the spring of 1904 I organized and managed the Boston Grammar School Baseball League. This unofficial position I held until 1907. In that year the department of School Hygiene and Athletics was created and I was then appointed play teacher and Roxbury representative on the permanent committee on athletic sports. The duties incumbent upon me as day school sub-master, evening school principal, military instructor, and play teacher have been keeping me fairly busy for ten-twelfths of the last eight years; during the remaining two-twelfths, I have been endeavoring to get in condition for the Decennial, and to see how many friends the little orange and black hat band could find for me in foreign ports. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Articles on "Grammar School Athletics," "Military Drill in Elementary Schools," "The Evening Elementary School of a Great City."

For the first two years after graduating I was a master at Groton School, Groton, Mass. Then in the fall of 1904 I entered the General Theological Seminary at New York, where I spent two academic years. I did not complete the course there, but in 1906 entered the senior class at the Episcopal Theological School, graduating in 1907. The same year I completed at the University the work for my Master's degree, which I had begun my senior year. In June, 1907, I was made a deacon by Bishop Lawrence, after which I began work at once as assistant minister at St. Stephen's Church in the South End, Boston. There I spent two years, being ordained priest in May, 1908. In the summer of 1909 I came out to the Philippines to start a boys' boarding school established by Bishop Brent for the sons of Americans in the far east. This school, Baguio School, is at Baguio, in the mountains of Benguet, Luzon. I have been headmaster for the past three years, spending one of the summer vacations doing missionary work at Iloilo, Panay, and the other as acting dean of the American Cathedral, Manila. In the fall of 1902 I entered the Harvard Medical School, where I devoted the next four years to the study of medicine. After my marriage in 1906 we spent the summer motoring through England, Ireland and the continent. In the fall I entered the Carney Hospital as house officer. On November 1, 1907, I went back to St. Louis, where I opened an office and began the practice of medicine. At this time I was made instructor in orthopedic surgery at the St. Louis University Medical School. Since returning to St. Louis life has gone along quietly without any remarkable occurrences, except the birth on Christmas day, 1909, of our second son, Noël. In the fall of 1910 I was made lecturer in orthopedic surgery at the medical department of Washington University. At the same time I was made associate surgeon of orthopedic surgery at the St. Louis Children's Hospital. Parts of my summers have been spent at Kingston, Mass. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Papers on medical subjects. Member: Massachusetts Medical Society, Missouri Medical Society, American Medical Association, Harvard Club of St. Louis, Harvard Club of New York, City Club of St. Louis, Boston Athletic Association, University Club of St. Louis, Belle River Country Club.

In October, 1902, I came to New York. As I had met Mr. Julius Fleischmann sometime before, it occurred to me that he might be in need of some one to run his business for him, so I applied for the position. He didn't need such a person at the time, but as he could use a young man who would paint barrels in a warehouse cellar, I took the job. It was pretty tough work and I guess I wasn't much of a painter, for they soon sent me on the road to sell vinegar. I cannot say whether I was a success here or not. I sold a lot of goods, some of which came back. Though I have never seen the figures, I feel sure there was a balance in my favor. I am still with the Fleischmann Company. The worthy subject of this little essay has been pursuing but one object since he was excluded from his Happy Hunting Ground ten years ago. This object is success in the practice of his profession, landscape architecture. Ten years ago it seemed accompanied by a splendid fortune. On nearer approach it grows to resemble a mere living. The pursuit, however, has been very pleasant. That you may judge of the result for the first ten years, you are referred to various spots of enchantment, beauty and public usefulness from Colorado to Maine. It is a most regrettable fact that the pursuit is most furious about Commencement time each year, as it prevents my joining in the gay and festive gatherings of 1902. The genial presence around the corner of Charlie Platt is, however, a constant reminder of membership in that joyful organization. High lights are occasionally added by visits of Rem. Ogilby. Once, too, E. E. Smith came to Philadelphia, and showed us some real speed on the Schuylkill.

CHARLES SAMUEL PEABODY

As I had completed at mid-years the requisite work for my A.B. degree, I spent the remainder of 1902 in travel, returning to Harvard for Class Day and Commencement. The next two academic years I was enrolled as a graduate student in the architecture course at Columbia University. The summer of 1904 saw me in Europe to pursue further the studies of architecture. I was admitted to the Ecole de Beaux Arts in Paris, where I alternated study and occasional visits home. In the summer of 1908 the Diplômé d'Architecture par la Gouvernement Française was conferred upon me. During the summer of 1908, after some travel through countries architecturally rich, I returned to America, where I began the practice of architecture under the firm name of Ludlow and Peabody. Mr. W. O. Ludlow, formerly of Ludlow and Valentine, and a graduate engineer of Stevens Institute, is the other member of the firm. Since its inception we have obtained some little success in the design and execution of work largely connected with educational institutions. I and my partner hold official appointments as architects for the Stevens Institute, the Hampton Institute, the University of Georgia, and the George Peabody College for Teachers. Member: Society of Beaux Arts Architects, Georgia Society of New York, Hamilton Club of Brooklyn, City Club of New York, Harvard Club of New York, Crescent Athletic Club.

EDMUND LESTER PEARSON

Born	Newburyport, Mass., Feb. 11, 1880.
Parents	Edmund Carlton, Tamzen Maria (Richardson) Pearson.
School	Newburyport High School; Hopkinson's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; B.L.S. (New York University), 1904.
Married	Mary Sellers, Washington, D. C., Oct. 15, 1908.
Business	Writer.
Address	58 High St., Newburyport, Mass.

In September, 1902, I went to study at the New York State Library School in Albany. In 1904 I was graduated with the degree of B.L.S.—a prize is offered to any one who knows what that means. I then got a position in the Public Library, Washington, D. C., where I was assistant librarian during 1905. Finally my boss and I differed over some fine points of library technique, a difference which came near being settled by jiu-jitsu. I accordingly became a clerk in the Copyright Office of the Congressional Library. This was an important and responsible post, as I had sole charge, except for four or five other men who were my superiors, of all the circus posters deposited for copyright. Such artistic skill did I display and such nice literary judgment did I exercise in the arrangement of these posters, that I was promoted, in January, 1907, to a position in the Military Information Division of the War Department; here I catalogued books and acted as librarian. I resigned this position in October, 1908, and having married, went to live in Asheville, N. C., in order to do some work in a private library and engage in what is courteously termed "literary work." My employer stood me for a year, then departed for Europe. In December, 1909, I returned to Newburyport to devote myself, as the local newspaper said, "exclusively to literature." No one had given Literature any warning, and she was too late to get out an injunction. Since then I have dealt her several rather serious body blows. Since March, 1906, I have written a weekly department in the Wednesday edition of the Boston Transcript, called "The Librarian." A good many people read it, for it is on the other side of the page from the genealogical department, and after they have got through that, they can bear almost anything. I have also done other newspaper and magazine work, particularly for the Transcript's literary department, and some fiction, a series of kid stories, for "The Outlook." The latter have been made into a book called "The Believing Years." Some of the Transcript articles were published last year by Small, Maynard and Company, of which Ralph Hale of our class is president. It was kind of mean to saw these off on a classmate, but Hale and I had been at a dinner of the Newburyport Harvard Club. Newburyport is a dry town, and we had become maddened with sarsaparilla and ready to do anything. The book was the result. As it turns out, Hale is said to have made a lot of money on it, though I haven't seen any of it, so he will have plenty to lend decennial week. The only office of honor or trust I hold or have held is that of a director of the Newburyport Public Library. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "The Old Librarian's Almanac," Elm Tree Press, 1909; "The Library and the Librarian," Elm Tree Press, 1910; "The Believing Years," Macmillan and Company, 1911; "The Librarian at Play," Small, Maynard and Company, 1911. Member: Oldtown Country Club, Newburyport Harvard Club.

ARTHUR STANLEY PEASE

Born	Somers, Conn., Sept. 22, 1881.
Parents	Theodore Claudius, Abby Frances (Cutter) Pease.
School	Phillips Academy, Andover.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1903; Ph.D., 1905.

Business	Teacher.
Address	(home) 1014 West Oregon St., Urbana, Ill.
	(business) University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

During the years 1902-1905 I studied in the Harvard Graduate School, chiefly in the classical department. The summer of 1904 was spent in company with Professors Fernald of Harvard and Collins of Brown on a botanical expedition to the Gaspé Peninsula, Quebec. After receiving my doctor's degree in classical philology I spent a year in travel and study in Europe, visiting several countries, especially Italy and Greece, and being for a time a student in the American School of Classical Studies in Rome. On my return in 1906 I was instructor in Latin at Harvard and in Latin and Greek at Radcliffe until February, 1909, when I was appointed assistant professor of classics in the University of Illinois; in 1911 I was also made curator of the Classical Museum there. The summer of 1911 my wife and I spent in Europe. My time during the academic year has been very fully occupied with university work and private study, and my summers with study, travel and botanizing, especially in the White Mountains. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Notes on Some Uses of Bells Among the Greeks and Romans," Harvard Studies in Classical Philology, 1903; "Notes on St. Jerome's Tractates on the Psalms," Journal of Biblical Literature, 1907; "Notes on Stoning Among the Greeks and Romans," Transactions of the American Philological Association, 1908; "Iberum Hieronymiana," Revue Bénédictine (Belgium), 1909; "Agropyron Caninum and its North American Allies (with A. H. Moore), Rhodora, 1910; "A Harvard Manuscript of St. Augustine," Harvard Studies in Classical Philology, 1910; "Review of Preble and Jackson's Source of Jerusalem the Golden," Classical Philologist, 1910; "Review of Burnham's Commentaire anonyme sur Prudence," Classical Philologist, 1911; "Review of Moore's Histories of Tacitus'," Classical Journal, 1911; "Review of Riess' 'Cicero's Letters'," Classical Journal, 1911; "The Omen of Sneezing," Classical Philologist, 1911; "List of Plants on Three Mile Island," Appalachia, 1911; eleven short articles in Rhodora, etc. Member: American Philological Association, Archaeological Institute of America, Classical Association of the Middle West and South, American Folk-Lore Society, Dante Society, New England Botanical Club, Appalachian Mountain Club, University Club.

	(business) 7 Willow St., Lynn, Mass.

Class Day and Commencement over, I spent two months in the Maine woods to recuperate, after which I began a two years' apprenticeship with Whitney, Wabel and Company, shoe wholesalers, at Cleveland, O. In 1904 I returned to Boston and entered the family shoe factory, William Porter and Son, Lynn, Mass., where I have remained to date. Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Harvard Club of Lynn.

Irwin La Verne Powers

Born	Hamilton, N. Y., Jan. 4, 1879.
Parents	Charles Ransom, Ruth (Dewey) Powers.
School	Boston Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Lavinia E. Stewart, Boston, Mass., July 25, 1905.
Children	Dorothy, Jan. 31, 1908; La Verne Stewart, Apr. 9, 1910.
Business	Chemist.
Died	Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 28, 1909.

Irwin La Verne Powers died August 28, 1909, after an illness of three and one-half weeks. While at Harvard he specialized in chemistry. After leaving college he taught at Pomona College in California, and was afterwards employed as chemist in the Silver Spring Bleach and Dye Works of Providence, R. I., and by the General Electric Company of Lynn, Mass. It was while with the latter firm that he married Lavinia E. Stewart of Boston, on July 25, 1905. In October, 1905, he went to Niagara Falls, where he was associated for a time with the Acker Process Company. During the following two years he was experimental chemist with the National Electrolytic Chemical Manufacturing Company. He was taken ill with an acute attack of appendicitis; a successful operation followed, but ensuing complications rendered his recovery impossible. Verne was an exceptional character. He lived a quiet Christian life, active in church work and at the same time loved and respected by all his business associates from manager to the humblest workman. All who knew him knew his enthusiastic work in the factory and his untiring devotion to his experiments. He was a model son, a model husband and a model father, a gentleman of the highest sense of the word. He was a successful man in his profession. His loss is deeply mourned by all of his friends.

Unmarried
Business	Mining engineer.
Address	(home) University Club, New York, N. Y.
	(business) Jackson, Cal.

Following a complete mining course, which I counted for two academic degrees, I went to Colorado to obtain practical experience in mines. I worked first as common miner, millman, etc., in various camps, several times being raised to shift boss, but constantly moving from place to place to gain new experience. After a year and a half I became sampling engineer at Silver Lake Mines, Silverton, Colo. Six months later I was made assistant engineer of the examination staff of the Guggenheim Exploration Company, with headquarters at Denver. Two years later the staff disbanded, and I worked as assistant to various engineers. In February, 1906, I accepted a position as mining engineer for the Utah department of the American Smelting and Refining Company, for whom I examined property principally in Utah, Nevada and Idaho. I resigned in February, 1908, and in April of that year became general manager for the Argonaut Mining Company, which owned a gold mine in Amador County, Cal.; later I became a director also. In March, 1911, I also took over the management of the Jumper mine, Tuolumne County, Cal., another gold mine owned by a French syndicate. Besides these offices I have a general consulting practice also. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Sinking and Driving at the Argonaut Mine," Engineering and Mining Journal, March 11, 1911. Member: University Club of New York, University Club of Salt Lake City, University Club of San Francisco, Harvard Club of New York, Alta Club of Salt Lake City, Mining and Metallurgical Society of America, American Institute of Mining Engineers.

Address	155 Massachusetts Ave., Boston, Mass.

During the summer of 1902 I was an interne at the Burrage Hospital. In March, 1903, I was appointed night clerk of the Boston Board of Health, a position which I still hold. In 1905 I was graduated from the Harvard Medical School. During 1905-1906 I was employed by both the Boston Board of Health and the Massachusetts State Board of Health. For the latter I investigated the sanitary conditions in factories, going through the whole eastern part of Massachusetts. This work was preliminary to the present order of health districts now controlled by the State Board of Health. I also investigated several minor epidemics of typhoid fever. In the fall of 1906 I opened my own office for the general practice of medicine. In 1907 I investigated a large epidemic of scarlet fever for the Boston Board of Health. In 1908 I assisted in the investigation of an outbreak of typhoid fever in Jamaica Plain. Since 1909 I have been assistant physician to the department of nervous diseases of the Boston Dispensary. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: "Report on the Outbreak of Scarlet Fever in Boston," Boston Board of Health Annual Report, 1906.

Arthur Lawrence Robson's health failed just before mid-year's of 1899, compelling him to leave college. After a long illness he died at his home in Salem, November 10, 1900.

CLIFFORD REYNOLDS ROGERS

Born	Springfield, Mass., June 18, 1880.
Parents	Edward Covell, Eliza Bliss (Reynolds) Rogers.
School	High School, Springfield, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Anna Rea Shinn, Ashland, O., June 7, 1911.
Business	Paper manufacturing.
Address	(home) 254 Pearl St., Springfield, Mass.
	(business) American Writing Paper Company, Chester Paper Company Division, Huntington, Mass.
	(permanent) 38 School St., Springfield, Mass.

After leaving college I started to learn the leather business from the bottom up. After spending several years at the bottom, I decided it was too hard climbing up through a tannery, so looked about for something nearer the top; as yet nothing has appeared. In the meantime I am giving my services at a purely nominal figure to one of the country's infant industries, paper manufacture. In the summer of 1910, while I was in Ohio, I attended the meeting of the Associated Harvard Clubs held at Cleveland. President Lowell, Gov. Willson of Kentucky, Mr. Inglis and "the boys" transacted a lot of important Harvard business, and we all had a perfect time. Member: Winthrop Club of Springfield, Country Club of Springfield, Connecticut Valley Harvard Club, Associated Harvard Clubs, Economic Club of Springfield, Board of Trade of Springfield, National Geographic Society of Washington.

LEO ABRAHAM ROGERS

Born	Boston, Mass., May 5, 1879.
Parents	Abraham Theobald, Mary (Plummer) Rogers.
School	West Roxbury High School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; LL.B., 1904.
Married	Ida Mary Lynam, Somerville, Mass., Oct. 4, 1911.
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 96 Linden St., Allston, Mass.
	(business) 29 Pemberton Square, Boston, Mass.

Upon graduation from the Harvard Law School I entered the law office of Sughrue and Chase, Boston, Mass. I remained there until July, 1906, at which time I was appointed secretary to the Police Commissioner for the city of Boston and attorney for the Boston Police Department. This office I hold at the present time, having been reappointed for five years in June, 1911. Member: Boston City Club.

FRANK HEATH ROSSITER

Born	New York, N. Y., Jan. 21, 1879.
Parents	Ehrick Kensett, Mary (Heath) Rossiter.
School	Ridge School, Washington, Conn.
Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Fruit grower.
Address	Washington, Conn.

In the fall of 1902 I took a position in New York with an investment house, where I remained until July, 1908. The summer of 1908 was spent in visiting various cities on the Pacific coast. I finally settled in Vancouver, B. C., where during the last three years I have been operating a logging camp. In the fall of 1911, however, I sold my timber interests. I am now located at Washington, Conn., where I am about to start a fruit farm. Member: Harvard Club of New York.

CLARENCE GEORGE ROTHSCHILD

Born	New York, N. Y., July 29, 1880.
Parents	Victor Henry, Josephine (Wolf) Rothschild.

Unmarried
Business	Mining engineer.
Address	(home) 4 East 67th St., New York, N. Y.
	(business) 165 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

I have put in some hard years in the Nevada desert, where I have found much more alkali dust than gold dust. I was progressing finely, however, when I impaired my health. As a result I have spent this last year in Europe recuperating. I expect soon to be "on the job" again in "little old New York". As the years progress I am growing younger and more sanguine of success. Member: Engineers' Club of New York, Geographical Society of New York, Harvard Club of New York, City Athletic Club of New York.

Business	Department manager.
Address	(home) 4349 Maryland Ave., St. Louis, Mo.
	(business) 3600 North Second St., St. Louis, Mo.

After receiving my degree I remained at Harvard three years to do graduate work in chemistry, finally taking my Ph.D. degree in 1905. The only things of interest during that time were finishing the lectures in Chemistry 5, following Professor Hill's sudden death in the early part of 1904 and going to Germany that summer to study chemistry. As I found my German not easily understood over there, I returned after three months of loafing. I was the first recipient at Harvard of the Mallinckrodt Scholarship, which carries the condition that the student must work the next following year at the Mallinckrodt works. I accordingly came to St. Louis in July, 1905, and worked in the analytical and research laboratory for about eight months. I was then transferred to the office of the buying department. After two years of learning business principles, I was placed at the head of the department, my present position. About the same time I married. I now have one son, who of course breaks all records for size, intelligence, good looks and ability, at the age of eighteen months, to give the Harvard cheer.

Business	Assistant treasurer, Boston Wharf Company.
Address	(home) 182 Marlboro St., Boston, Mass.
	(business) 259 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

For some time I travelled in the east. Upon my return I went into the Boston Wharf Company, where I became a director in 1904. In 1906 I was made assistant treasurer of the company, a position which I still hold. I have served as director of the Real Estate Exchange and the Fitchburg Railroad Company and as vice-president of the Massachusetts Gas Company. I have also been on various committees of the Chamber of Commerce. I live in Boston in the winter and spend the summer at Marblehead. Member: Union Club, Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston Athletic Association, Brookline Country Club, Oakley Country Club, Exchange Club.

GEORGE CLARE ST. JOHN

Born	Simsbury, Conn., Sept. 29, 1877.
Parents	Edward Francis, Charlotte Elizabeth (Cushman) St. John.
School	High School, Hartford, Conn.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Clara Hitchcock Seymour, New Haven, Conn., June 23, 1906.
Children	Elizabeth Seymour, Aug. 3, 1908; George Clare, Jr., Dec. 4, 1910.
Business	Teacher.
Address	Choate School, Wallingford, Conn.

I have been master of English at the Hill School, Pottstown, Pa., 1902-1903; at the Adirondack-Florida School, 1903-1907; and at the Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y., 1907-1908. Since 1908 I have been headmaster of the Choate School, Wallingford, Conn. In 1909 and 1910 I served on the committee for the selection of Rhodes Scholars. My work during the past four years has been building up in scholarship and equipment the Choate School. The school has been incorporated; splendid new buildings have been erected, and, by far more important, the scholarship and esprit-de-corps, through the masters and upper forms together, have been brought up to a standard which, we have faith, will contribute in some small measure at least to higher standards among undergraduates in the colleges to which the graduates of the school will go. The school is made up of a hundred chosen boys of the best type, from twenty different states of the Union, and eleven masters. Last year fifteen boys from the sixth form went to Yale, Harvard, Williams, Amherst, Cornell and Boston Technology. This year the same number will go to college, three of these to Harvard. All Harvard 1902 men are most cordially invited to visit us and so turn a larger proportion of our classes toward Cambridge.

FRANK MELVIN SAWTELL

Born	Everett, Mass., Oct. 8, 1878.
Parents	Thomas Albert, Emily (Melvin) Sawtell.
School	Hopkinson's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; LL.B., 1905 (1906).
Unmarried
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 169 Summer St., Malden, Mass. (business) 84 State St., Boston, Mass.

After three years at the Harvard Law School I was admitted to the Suffolk bar. Since then I have been engaged in the general practice of law at 84 State Street, Boston, where I am associated with Joseph W. Lund, secretary of the class of '90, Atherton N. Hunt '87 and R. Jackson Cram '02. My outside interests have been chiefly connected with the municipal affairs of Malden, a suburb of 45,000 population. A budding interest in local politics resulted in my election to the Common Council of Malden from Ward 3. During two terms in the Council I served upon various committees and had the honor of dedicating Bell Rock Park as a member of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument Commission. Outside of that the monument is a success. For a number of years I have been chairman of the Republican Committee of Ward 3, assisting in the movement to abolish party distinctions in local elections. I have also served in various citizen organizations having as their object better local condition, including city charter revision. I am a member of various local institutions. In 1909 and 1910 I was president of the Kernwood Club. In the autumn of 1911 I became the candidate of a committee of one hundred citizens for the office of Mayor; in a four-cornered fight I was defeated by 197 votes. I am a director of the Charlestown Gas and Electric Company. As a measure of precaution against a waste of executive genius I am running a small lumber and wood turning business in Melvin Mills, N. H., from which I can furnish the members of the class backs, legs and flower sticks at low rates. Member: Kernwood Club of Malden, Malden Club, Masonic bodies of Malden, Young Men's Christian Association of Malden, University Club of Malden, Tedesco Country Club of Swampscott, Bellevue Golf Club of Melrose, University Club of Boston, Puritan Club of Boston, Harvard Club of Boston.

Address	(home) 75 Sigourney St., Hartford, Conn.
	(business) 800 Main St., Hartford, Conn.
	(permanent) 84 Sheridan St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

During the year following graduation I took several courses in mining and metallurgy in the Lawrence Scientific School, while holding a position as assistant instructor in a course in metallurgical chemistry. I did not, however, attempt to obtain an additional degree. The following June I left for the west. After about four years' experience in the mining districts of Utah, Colorado, California and Nevada I returned to Boston in the autumn of 1907 to enter the employ of the Boston Transit Commission as assistant cement tester and chemist. In the spring I went to Hartford, Conn., to equip and take charge of a testing laboratory for the department of engineering of the city of Hartford; I have remained in this position. Member: Harvard Club of Connecticut.

Unmarried
Business	Bondman.
Address	(home) 153 East Erie St., Chicago, Ill. (business) 207 South La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

Upon leaving Cambridge I took up work with Lee, Higginson and Company in Boston, where I remained until October, 1905, when I moved to the Chicago office of the firm. It has been my pleasure since living in Chicago to see a great many of our classmates, for Chicago is a place where a great many people come on business; I now feel a full-bred Chicagoan. I have been interested here in the Harvard Club, the Association of Commerce, politics to some extent, and good government, through the City Club, where I have been an officer. For two years I was secretary and treasurer of the Harvard Club and for one year one of the numerous vice-presidents. Just after leaving college I was appointed chairman of the regatta committee of the Yale-Harvard Boat Races, serving for five years. I am a director in the Iroquois Iron Company of Chicago. My vacations are usually taken in walking or riding trips, which are my principal forms of amusement. Member: Chicago Club, University Club, Midday Club, Onwentsia Saddle and Cycle Club, City Club, Caxton Club, Harvard Club of Chicago, Harvard Club of New York, Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, Appalachian Club, Swiss Alpine Club.

ANDREW EDWARD SCOTT

Born	Halifax, N. S., Nov. 21, 1875.
Parents	John Perley, Mary (Jeans) Scott.
School	Latin School, Somerville, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; S.T.B. (General Theological Seminary), 1906; A.M. (Columbia), 1907.
Unmarried
Business	Minister.
Address	Brownville Junction, Me.

I took a three years' course at the General Theological Seminary, New York, graduating in 1905. In 1905-1906 I held the Talman Fellowship at the Seminary. I was ordained by Bishop Lawrence deacon in 1905 and priest in 1906. During 1905-1906 I was curate at the Church of the Beloved Disciple in New York. In June, 1906, I became missionary in the diocese of Maine, with headquarters at Brownville Junction, where I have been since that time. I have three mission stations with church buildings and six other outlying stations without churches.

RICHARD GORDON SCOTT

Born	Burlington, Ia., July 25, 1880.
Parents	Henry Bruce, Leonora (Cranch) Scott.
School	High School, Framingham, Mass.

Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Grace Cranch Eliot, Portland, Ore., Feb. 28, 1908.
Children	Henry Eliot, Feb. 26, 1909; Richard Cranch, June 1, 1910; Abigail Adams, Feb. 9, 1912.
Business	Farmer.
Address	Sherwood, Ore.

In the fall of 1902 I entered the employ of the Western Wheeled Scraper Company of Aurora, Ill., where I remained, doing clerical work, till February, 1904. I then went up to Alberta, Can., where after six months' knocking around, I took up a homestead at Mannville. There I became interested in the real estate business, but as I was convinced of the better opportunities on the coast, I went to Vancouver, B. C., to enter the employ of C. D. Rand, a real estate agent. A long siege of pneumonia made it advisable to visit relatives in Portland, Ore., where I decided to remain, operating independently in real estate. Going into fruit raising and getting married were my next steps. Two years at Grant's Pass, Ore., were years of experiment and largely of failure. Since I moved to a larger place at Sherwood, Ore., the country life has proved fairly profitable financially and distinctly so in the matter of health and general happiness. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Articles in the Market Growers' Journal.

CLIFFORD SEAVER

Born	Boston, Mass., Sept. 17, 1879.
Parents	Francis Eliot, Caroline Fuller (Whitney) Seaver.
School	Cambridge Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; S.B., 1903.
Unmarried
Business	Civil engineer.
Address	(home) 262 Franklin St., Cambridge, Mass. (business) Board of Water Supply, 165 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

I spent 1902-1903 in obtaining an S.B. degree in civil engineering. In June, 1903, I joined the maintenance of way department of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Philadelphia. For the next two years I was engaged in general engineering work in connection with the West Philadelphia yards, then building. In 1905 I accepted an offer to join the engineering force of the Pennsylvania tunnel extension into New York. The work here was more difficult and more dangerous, but the project, which included tunnels under the North and East Rivers and an underground terminal in New York, offered such opportunity for advancement and proved so extremely interesting, that I remained here until 1910, when the engineering work was completed. In 1910, after a short rest, I accepted a position as assistant engineer with the Board of Water Supply of New York. For the past two years I have been engaged in designing work in connection with New York's new water supply, now more than half completed. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Harvard Engineering Society of New York, Association of Harvard Engineers, American Society of Civil Engineers.

Schuyler Bussing Serviss

Born	Amsterdam, N. Y., Feb. 28, 1880.
Parents	John G., Charlotte Schuyler (Bussing) Serviss.
School	Phillips Academy, Andover.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; A.M., 1903; S.M., 1909.
Unmarried
Business	Teacher.
Died	Amsterdam, N. Y., June 18, 1909.

Schuyler Bussing Serviss enjoyed his teaching at the University. He had a strong interest in teaching. But he had even a stronger interest in the research on which he was engaged at the Jefferson Physical Laboratory. The apparatus which he had planned and built with such care will still be used for his research, as he would have wished, and so, though no longer here, he will still share in contributing to the permanent advance of science. While at Harvard, Serviss received the following appointments: November 10, 1902, Assistant in Physics, 1902-1903; March 30, 1903, Assistant in Physics, 1903-1904; October 10, 1904, Austin Teaching Fellow in Physics for one year from September 1, 1904; March 13, 1905, Austin Teaching Fellow in Physics, 1905-1906; June 26, 1905, title changed to Assistant in Physics; April 30, 1906, Assistant in Physics, 1906-1907; December 9, 1907, Assistant in Astronomy from December 1, 1907, for remainder current academic year; June 15, 1908, Assistant in Astronomy for one year from September 1, 1908; January 25, 1909, Instructor Elementary Mechanics for second half of academic year, 1908-1909; April 12, 1909, Instructor in Elementary Mechanics for one year from September 1, 1909. GEORGE MAURICE SHEAHAN

Born	Quincy, Mass., Dec. 2, 1882.
Parents	Joseph Maurice, Marie-Louise (Maurice) Sheahan.
School	Adams Academy, Quincy, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; M.D., 1907.
Unmarried
Business	Physician.
Address	12 School St., Quincy, Mass.

Upon graduating from the Harvard Medical School I was appointed surgical interne of the Massachusetts General Hospital, entering in August and graduating a year from the following December. I then began the general practice of medicine in Quincy, where I have been located ever since, walking, riding, running and sliding up and down the granite hills of my native city at all hours of the day and night. In February, 1909, I was appointed pathologist and bacteriologist to the Quincy City Hospital, and later in the year visiting physician to the same institution. Since 1910 I have been medical inspector of the Quincy schools and visiting physician to Camp Mt. Pleasant, the local tuberculosis hospital. For two years I have also been resident member of the surgical staff of the Harvard Aero Field, where my activities were chiefly confined to prescribing liniments for the afflicted necks of enthusiastic spectators. At present my practice is increasing at such a rate that I can afford to have the old white mare shod twice a month, whether she needs it or not; possibly in a year or two I may be able to purchase a new buggy. Member: Boylston Medical Society, Massachusetts Medical Society, Massachusetts Medical Benevolent Society, Aesculapian Club.

WALTER RICHARDSON SPOFFORD

Born	Hudson, Mass., Feb. 28, 1881.
Parents	Herbert Edmund, Annie Mable (Rawson) Spofford.
School	High School, Hudson, Mass.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Assistant, Harvard College Library.
Address	(home) 11 Cherry St., Hudson, Mass.
	(business) Harvard College Library, Cambridge, Mass.

In the December following graduation I got a position with Houghton, Mifflin Company, publishers, where I remained until the spring of 1906. Then I left to take with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company a position which seemed better, but which proved only a cul-de-sac. My attention was now drawn to library work, and I decided that a learned profession or its equivalent was more to my taste. In September, 1907, I accordingly joined the staff of the Harvard College Library, where I have remained ever since. I have often regretted that I did not take up library work sooner, for I have found it congenial and interesting. It is understood, of course, that librarians never suffer the disgrace of dying rich! Member: Cambridge Skating Club.

PERCY THEODORE SPRAGUE

Born	Great Bend, Kan., May 16, 1879.
Parents	Theodore Gibson Sprague (1st) Sprague.
School	Belmont Academy, Belmont, Mass.

Unmarried
Business	Lumber dealer and real estate developer.
Address	(home) 195 Mount Auburn St., Watertown, Mass.
	(business) Irving and Arsenal Sts., Watertown, Mass.

In view of the fact that I left college after my second year, I do not feel myself a full-fledged Harvard man. I have accordingly hesitated to send in this statement, until a final appeal convinced me that I should contribute my small share to make the report as complete as possible. On what would otherwise have been the opening day of my third year in college I was running an air compressor in a copper mine in southern Nevada. In the two years that followed my experiences in the western states were many and varied. In 1902 I returned east and entered the lumber business as a pastime. I also ventured into real estate development. Now and then my lumber interests allow me to spend a few months at our logging camp, the rough life of which has always appealed to me. The remainder of the time is divided between real estate development and the retail division of the Watertown Lumber Company, of which I am treasurer. Since the death of my father in 1910 my duties have increased to include the management of the business of Chester Sprague and Company, an organization which has built over one thousand houses in Watertown. Lately I have become interested in the coöperative branch system of saving. I am vice-president and director of the Brighton Coöperative Bank. Member: Masons.

Address	866 Beacon St., Newton, Mass.

In the fall of 1902 I entered the Harvard Medical School, graduating in 1906. On January 1, 1907, I was appointed house officer at the Children's Hospital, where I served six months without any extraordinary incidents or evidence of unusual qualities. In October, 1907, I was appointed visiting physician to the Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital, and shortly after junior assistant visiting physician to the Children's and Infants' Hospital, as well as assistant in pediatrics in the Medical School. I have not yet succeeded in making the world blaze, although at times I swear I can almost smell smoke. In my leisure hours I practice upon misguided persons who are willing to pay real money for being experimented upon; from such munificent remuneration I have succeeded in paying for office rent, cigarettes and an occasional cocktail, although I have not yet obtained a degree of financial security consistent with paying up my pledge to the class fund. On the whole I have led a rather peaceful, selfish, ordinary life, except on occasions when it has seemed necessary to get together with some of the 1902 men. Member:

University Club, Massachusetts Medical Association, American Medical Association, New England Pediatrics Society, Newton Medical Club, Newton Center Squash Club.

School	Cutler's School, New York, N. Y.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Died	Prescott, Ariz., Jan. 10, 1910.

Arthur White Talmadge was attacked by tuberculosis in June, 1902, just before he took his degree. He died January 10, 1910, at Prescott, Ariz., where he had just completed building himself a residence. He spent the years from 1902 to 1910 in Arizona, Colorado, California and the Adirondacks and Netherwood, returning to Arizona in 1909 and expecting to live there. He was never well enough to go into any regular business. He compiled and published a genealogy of the Talmadge family and in addition to his college societies was a member of the Harvard Club and the University Club of New York.

Much to the surprise of myself, my friends, and the Dean, I passed the number of courses requisite for my degree at the mid-year examination of my senior year. As I was inoculated with the virus of ambition, I decided to spend in work the period between February and Commencement; with that intention I went back to St. Louis. Unfortunately I was able to get a job as "assistant car conductor" with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, after which for three months of rain, snow and every other conceivable kind of bad weather I worked in the yards checking cars. By the first of June the virus was entirely dissipated and I went back to Cambridge to spend the time until Commencement in other forms of dissipation. Immediately after graduation I went abroad, where I spent about four months. Upon my return to St. Louis I again entered the Burlington's employ; while there I was in every department of the local office. At one time, when we had a strike of the freight handlers, I volunteered to act as strike breaker. The strikers were not particularly dangerous, but the freight was. Boxes had a way of falling on one's foot, and upon one occasion a crated buggy tumbled off a truck, knocking me off a platform, with the result that my head came in contact with a car coupler; fortunately I didn't hurt the coupler very much. After many vicissitudes I became chief clerk to the superintendent of terminals. This meant working all the time every day and most of the night. As I did not enjoy this at that time, I resigned my position, very much to my regret ever since. I then went with the New York Stock Exchange house of Simon, Brookmire and Clifford, with which I have been connected ever since. Here again I went through the various departments. As I soon found out, however, that I could make up a statistical report a good deal better than I could persuade a man to buy stock, I have devoted my time to that branch of the business. Comparatively recently we started a bond department of which I am at present in charge. Member: University Club, Harvard Club of St. Louis, St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association.

Frederick Maximilian Tenney

Born	Boston, Mass., Feb. 7, 1877.

Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) Central and Union Sts., East Brigdewater, Mass.
	(business) 172 Main St., Brockton, Mass.

In August, 1904, I began practice of law at East Bridgewater, a town of slightly over 3000. Shortly afterwards I was elected a member of the school board, an office to which I have been reelected. In 1908 I was elected town clerk, a position I still hold; I was also made town counsel. In 1905-1906 I was associated in practice with District Attorney Barker of the southeastern district. In 1907 I opened an office of my own at Brockton. I have always taken an interest in local affairs. As president of the East Bridgewater High School Alumni Association, I was instrumental in reviving the reunions formerly held, in developing a school spirit and in inducing the town to make more liberal appropriations and furnish better equipment. I have dabbled somewhat in politics. Though I am a democrat I have been elected to local offices by Republican friends, in spite of my politics. I have been tolerably successful in the practice of law. I like the country and my country clients, who are just beginning to call me "squire." Member: Commercial Club of Brockton, East Bridgewater Board of Trade, Town Clerks' Association of Plymouth and Barnstable Counties, Sameket Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of East Bridgewater.

School	Phillips Academy, Andover.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Chemist.
Died	Washington, D. C., Apr. 19, 1909.

Harold Rollins Wade entered the Lawrence High School at an early age, but before his course was half through, four years of sickness intervened, so that it was in 1896 that he graduated from Phillips Andover. After resting two years he went to Harvard and graduated in 1902. Intending to take a post-graduate course, he went back, but on being offered the position of assistant instructor of Chemistry at Cornell, he took it for a year. From there he went for a short time to the Agricultural College at Storrs, Conn. Then he became teacher of Chemistry in the Lowell High School. In 1906 he entered the Bureau of Soils in Washington, D. C., but was soon transferred to the Bureau of Chemistry, where he remained. He was the author of several articles, read before and published by the Chemical Society. He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Geographical Society and others. He died in Washington, D. C., April 19, 1909.

HARIDAN LORD WELLS

(formerly Harry Lord Wells)

Born	Janesville, Wis., Apr. 14, 1880.
Parents	Addison Eldred, Mary Alice (Conant) Wells.
School	Lewis Institute, Chicago, Ill.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; LL.B., 1905.

Married	Helen Fay Kohlsaat, Chicago, Ill., Mar. 2, 1908.
Children	Haridan Lord, Jr., Feb. 28, 1911.
Business	General contractor and builder.
Address	(home) 324 Ashland Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.
	(business) 1218 Monadnock Building, Chicago, Ill.

I spent three years at the Harvard Law School, graduating in 1905. After a vacation at Lake Geneva, Wis., I entered the building business with Wells Brothers Company, of which I became secretary in February, 1906. Meantime I became a member of the Illinois Bar in October, 1905. In 1906 I became engaged to Miss Kohlsaat, daughter of Judge Kohlsaat of the United States Circuit Court, and a graduate of Vassar College, class of 1904. We were married with the friendly assistance of Frank Sawtell and Joe Shirk as ushers. I had about eight good-looking bachelors to assist, with Frank as best man; he is the only one left unmarried, yet not one of the men picked out a girl from among the Vassar bridesmaids. They did their duty nobly except in this one particular. Frank and Joe even accompanied us on the train as far as Atlanta, Ga., from which we continued on to Nassau, in the Bahama Islands. In 1910 we took a delightful trip to Europe. Our little son already shows promise of being a baseball player. I am looking forward with great enthusiasm to the Decennial which I shall attend if in the realms of possibility. Member: University Club of Chicago, Chicago Athletic Association, Harvard Club of Chicago, Legal Club of Chicago, Wisconsin Society of Chicago.

BARRETT WENDELL, JR.

Born	Boston, Mass., Apr. 19, 1881.

Children	Barbara, Apr. 13, 1911.
Business	Bond salesman.
Address	(home) 358 Marlborough St. Boston, Mass.
	(business) 44 State St., Boston, Mass.

I spent two years and a half in the Harvard Law School. In February of my third year, after taking my examinations for the Suffolk Bar, I left to take the position of secretary to Hon. Edwin V. Morgan, who had been appointed consul at Dalny. We were unable to reach Dalny, however, owing to the Russian-Japanese War. After six months in the Far East I accordingly returned to Boston to work for the law firm of Hill, Bangs, Barlow and Homans. On February 1, 1905, I secured a position as a bond salesman with Lee, Higginson and Company, of Boston, for whom I am now manager of the Boston office sales department. Outside of my business my most active interest has been in the baseball teams at Harvard; I am now one of the graduate committee in charge of that sport. I have also spent a good deal of time in connection with class matters. Member: Somerset Club of Boston, Tennis and Racquet Club of Boston, City Club, Harvard Club of New York.

Address	(home) 105 Chestnut St., Cambridge, Mass. (business) 15 Court Square, Boston, Mass.

Since leaving college I have been engaged in the profession of civil and surveying engineer. In 1902 I entered the office of my father, William H. Whitney, civil engineer and surveyor, forming with him and others the Fuller Whitney Surveys Corporation, in which I held positions of clerk, director and assistant engineer. I became managing engineer in 1904, chief engineer and treasurer in 1905 and president and treasurer in 1906. For the last five years I have been an expert in city surveys and real estate development, appearing before the courts and at private hearings on questions of disputed or ambiguous boundaries. From 1902 to 1911 I served as clerk of the Baptist Church in Brookline; since January, 1912, I have been its treasurer. I am at present engaged with another in a detailed study of Baptist conditions in and about Boston, for the purpose of presenting such statistics as we may gather, in the form of maps, plans, charts, tables, etc., before a special committee of that denomination. This report will show the present condition of our separate church interests in relation to neighboring churches of other denominations; will point out the trend of civic changes or improvements and the development of new centres of religious, business or amusement activities; and will indicate the influence these facts should have on Baptist policies for the future. Member: Boston Baptist Social Union, Massachusetts Commandery, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States.

Business	Telephone engineer.
Address	(home) 17 Cross St., West Newton, Mass.
	(business) 50 Oliver St., Boston, Mass.

After a good summer's rest to recover from my strenuous four years in college, I resumed studying by starting in the so-called "student course" conducted by the traffic department of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company. Our friend "Bill" Nye and I were the first members of the course; we can assure you it was no "cinch," although it was more remunerative financially than the courses we had been through during the previous four years. In about a year and a half we were "graduated," after which I started in at the bottom. With my foot once on the ladder I have stuck to it ever since, although it has been a long steady pull. After my marriage I settled down to housekeeping in West Newton, where I have since resided. My particular line of work in the telephone field is that of assistant traffic engineer in charge of switchboard equipment. Member: Harvard Club of Boston, Telephone and Telegraph Society of New England.

DELANO WIGHT

Born	Boston, Mass., May 10, 1882.

I then went to Hanson and Parker, Limited, Boston, coal dealers, leaving them in turn to work with the Staples Coal Company of Boston. Member: Somerset Club of Boston, Milton Club.

HOLDEN PIERCE WILLIAMS

Born	Boston, Mass., April 2, 1879.
Parents	Robert Breck, Mary Ellen (Pierce) Williams.
School	Roxbury Latin School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Insurance broker.
Address	(home) 37 Perrin St., Roxbury, Mass.
	(business) 70 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.

I spent the summer of 1902 travelling in Europe with my father. In the autumn I obtained a position with Mr. G. W. Cram, University 4, Cambridge, where the President and Fellows appointed me an assistant in the college office. In March, 1904, I resigned to go into the banking business, in which for a number of years I was connected with Kidder, Peabody and Company, the Old Colony Trust Company and the Merchants' National Bank. While thus employed I became seriously ill with typhoid fever and found that this occupation was too confining. Since October, 1908, I have been engaged on my own account in insurance of all kinds; my office is with Rothery, Emery and Perkins at 70 Kilby Street, Boston. I find this work very congenial; there is a great deal of satisfaction in having my own business. Member: Oakley Country Club, Brae-Burn Country Club, Boston City Club, Bostonian Society, American Society, Harvard Club of Boston, Bunker Hill Monument Association.

JOHN HENRY GARDNER WILLIAMS

Born	Hartford, Conn., Oct. 31, 1878.

Degrees	S.B., 1902.
Unmarried
Business	Fire insurance adjuster.
Address	(home) 25 Amherst St., Springfield, Mass.
	(business) 18 Central St., Boston, Mass.

Immediately after graduation I went to work in the sales department of the Bethlehem Steel Company. After about eighteen months' experience I went into engineering work in the employ successively of the International Steam Pump Company, the Electric Vehicle Company and the Knox Automobile Company. When the last failed, I secured for a bureau of fire insurance companies engineering work, which has developed into my present business.

JOSEPH GRINNELL WILLIS

Born	Germantown, Pa., July 24, 1879.
Parents	Grinnell, Mary Baker (Haydock) Willis.
School	Hopkinson's School, Boston.
Degrees	A.B., 1902.
Married	Emelie Mayer, Morristown, N. J., June 30, 1906.

Business	Stockbroker.
Address	(home) 9 Farragut Place, Morristown, N. J.
	(business) 38 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

Until January, 1906, I worked with my father's firm, Grinnell, Willis and Company, dry goods commission merchants. I then went into the stock brokerage business in association with Messrs. Post and Flagg. In June, 1910, when I had acquired a thorough knowledge of the business, I bought a seat on the New York exchange to become a "two-dollar" broker, with headquarters at Messrs. Post and Flagg; here I may still be found. In the autumn of 1911 I was elected a member of the House of Assembly of the State of New Jersey, where I served as chairman of the committee on highways, and member of the committees on banks and insurance, and on towns and townships. I have also been appointed to serve on a commission to investigate the working of the Civil Service in the state of New Jersey. Member: Harvard Club of New York, Racquet and Tennis Club of New York, Stock Exchange Luncheon Club, Morris County Golf Club, Morristown Club, Essex Hounds, Pickering Hunt Club of Phoenixville.

CHARLES HAROLD WILSON

Born	Davenport, Ia., Aug. 17, 1880.
Parents	William Hamilton, Abbie (Oliver) Wilson.
School	Phillips Exeter Academy.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; LL.B., 1905.
Married	Edith Helen Wyman, Davenport, Ia., Sept. 28, 1910.
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 414 Kirkwood Boulevard, Davenport, Ia. (business) 4 Lane Building, Davenport, Ia.

Upon graduation from the Law School in 1905, I began the practice of law as junior member of the firm of Wilson, Grilk and Wilson; the other two members were William H. Wilson, my father, and Charles Grilk '98. Although we have a general practice we engage chiefly in probate, loaning and real estate work. I have been away from home only twice during the past seven years: to Boston and Cambridge in 1909 and to Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, in 1910.

HENRY JOSHUA WINSLOW

Born	Cambridge, Mass., June 27, 1880.
Parents	Henry Hedden, Margaret Ella (Givens) Winslow.
School	Cambridge Latin School.
Degrees	A.B., 1902; LL.B., 1904.
Married	Grace Coolidge Davenport, Watertown, Mass., June 27, 1906.
Children	Henry Davenport, Sept. 24, 1910.
Business	Lawyer.
Address	(home) 152 Magazine St., Cambridge, Mass. (business) 70 State St., Boston, Mass.

I spent my fourth college year in the Law School, from which I was graduated in 1904. On June 20 I entered the law office of Warren and Garfield, with whom I stayed until June, 1906. I then went into practice for myself at 60 State Street, with Ralph W. Robbins '02, Henry C. Shaw '01 and Jesse W. Morton '03. As Mr. Robbins left shortly afterwards to practice law in Leominster and Fitchburg, C. Augustus Norwood '02 associated himself with us. A couple of years later Mr. Morton left to go into practice with an older lawyer. In May, 1910, we moved our offices to 70 State Street. We are not a partnership. On January 17, 1902, I joined the First Corps Cadets, M.V.M., where I went through the grades of corporal, sergeant and first sergeant. On May 10, 1910, I was elected second lieutenant, an office which I still hold. On April 9, 1912, I was commissioned major and judge advocate in the Judge Advocate General's department. In 1902 I joined the Non-Partisan Municipal party in Cambridge. I have since been on the ward and city committees of both that and the Republican parties. I was a member of the Common Council, 1906, 1907, 1908-1909; in 1908-1909 I was president of the Council. I was elected Representative from Cambridge to the General Court for 1912 and appointed to the committee on street railways. I am a member of the Cambridge Board of Trade and the Cambridge Economy Club.

Children	Thomas Dobbin, June 13, 1903; John Shearer, Jr., May 20, 1908.
Address	120 York Ave., Towanda, Pa.

As this is not a chronological narrative, I mention first the most important thing, namely, my marriage to Miss Erma Dobbin in December, 1901. After leaving Harvard at Christmas, 1900, I organized Rockview Academy at Shirleysburg, Pa. I was principal of this until the fall of 1904, when I entered Auburn Theological Seminary, graduating in the class of 1907. On June 1 of the same year I became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Ellicottville, N. Y. I was in Ellicottville until February 1, 1911, when I accepted a call as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Towanda, Pa., where I am now located. While in Shirleysburg, Pa., as principal of Rockview Academy, I was elected burgess of that town. Though this of itself is of little importance, it was my privilege to start and bring to consummation a movement to celebrate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Fort Shirley. This fort was completed by Washington in 1754 upon his return under Braddock from western Pennsylvania. Member: Muskoka Rod and Gun Club of Canada, Union Lodge No. 108, F. A. M.

I left Harvard in June, 1902. The following fall I entered the medical department of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., graduating in 1906. I was then appointed junior assistant physician at the St. Louis Female Hospital; the following year I became senior assistant physician. In June, 1908, I left the hospital to enter private practice. In 1909 I was appointed to the medical staff of Washington University. Books, articles or plays which I have written or translated: Article on "Syphilis of the Lungs," 1907. Member: Harvard Club of St. Louis, St. Louis Medical Society, Odd Fellows, Faculty Club of Washington University.
